

Waynesboro' Village Record.

Thursday, December 10, '74.

Eleven persons were buried in the snow last week in ascending the Great St. Bernard, on the Alps mountain, and it is supposed all have perished.

Mr. Clark, of St. Peter, Minn., upon breaking an egg found therein a serpent five inches long. The hen that laid that egg must have had the delirium tremens.

T. T. Brooks, the defaulting President of the Merchants' National Bank of Petersburg, Va., has been sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Albany Penitentiary.

Wesley Underwood, who was to have been hanged at Palmyra, Missouri, on Friday last, for the murder of Richard Menifee, in 1871, hanged himself in jail on Thursday night previous.

Twelve States have adopted the principle of compulsory education, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Rhode Island, New York, (to go into operation Jan. 1, 1875), New Jersey, Michigan, Kansas, Texas, Nevada, and California.

Mr. Geo. W. Steinmetz, of Clay Township, Lancaster county, has a well which has no bottom. The pump is suspended by chains, and it is said a stream of water flows underneath which is inexhaustible.

At a public sale recently held in Napier township, Bedford county, horse-flesh was at a fearful discount if we are to judge from the following prices at which that "noble animal" was knocked down: one brown horse, 10 cents; one bay horse, 15 cents; one brown horse, $2.25; one dapple grey, $7.50; one black horse, $12.25; total for five horses, $22.25.

The case of the Rev. John S. Glendening, of Jersey City, who was accused of the seduction of Miss Pomeroy, has been on trial before the Jersey City Vestry for two months past, and a vast amount of conflicting evidence offered. The trial was concluded on Thursday by a verdict of acquittal.

A New York correspondent declares that the reported delays in the trial of the Tilton-Beecher damage case, are caused by the effort of Beecher's counsel to have Moulton tried first, and if possible convicted, thus putting out of the way the principal witness against their client. The delays, whether caused for this reason or not, have certainly had a damaging effect on Mr. Beecher's case, as viewed by the people of the country.

The most serious labor strike of the year is that of the men in the iron mills at Pittsburg which was to have taken place on Monday last. Forty thousand will stop work, nearly all the mills will be compelled to suspend operations, and the blow will disastrously affect the mining interests. The cause of the trouble is the same old thing—the millowners think they are compelled to reduce wages and the workmen refuse to take the lessened pay.

William F. Havemeyer, Mayor of New York city, died suddenly in his office in that city, on Monday a week, about noon. He had been to visit a sick friend on Long Island, and upon his return, the engine having broken down, he walked several miles briskly against a strong wind. Arriving at the City Hall at 11:40 A. M., he proceeded at once to business, but soon complained of difficulty of breathing. He walked the floor, slapping his breast, for a short time. Then, seating himself, he again began his work. After writing a letter, he arose again and paced the floor. Toting, he fell to the floor, and in a few moments was dead. Thirty-five minutes had elapsed since he entered the City Hall. An inquest rendered a verdict that he died from disease of the heart. Flags were displayed at half mast on all the public buildings, and unusual sorrow reigned.

The late election in Louisiana reveals the sad fact that more than three-fourths of the voters cannot write their names. While a greater part of this illiteracy belongs to the negroes, in some sections the whites make a bad show. In St. Landry it is discovered that 1,715 white voters, or one-half of the white voters, of the parish, were unable to sign their names; and that 1,406, or five-sixths of the negroes, were unable to write. The total amounts to three-fifths of the voting population of the parish. The N. O. Picayune says at a timely moment: "If our prosperity is to be lasting, it will not do to hide any of these troubles. There will have to be some determined action on many questions, and on this question in particular."

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The Semi-Annual Report furnishes the following facts and figures: After paying all expenses for the past six months, there is a balance left amounting to $5,141,856. Of this amount is held for contingent expenses $876,333, and $4,255,523 as available for dividends on the capital stock of $64,448,300.

Persons who have become thoroughly chilled from any cause, may have their circulation at once restored by taking into the stomach a teaspoonful of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment mixed in a little cold water, well sweetened.

The oldest man in North America, George Le Barre, of Middle Smithfield, near Stroudsburg, Monroe county, Pa., died at his residence last Saturday night, at the extreme age of 112 years. He was born in Pennsylvania under colonial rule, had shaken hands with General Washington, seen the gallant Lafayette and the patriotic General Sullivan, and was deemed a tory in revolutionary days. He was too old for service in 1812 but he was still a hale old man till within the last two weeks. He had never been sick but three times in his life—once with yellow fever, once with camp fever and once with typhoid fever. He used tobacco very freely all his life, both smoking and chewing, but was very moderate in his use of liquor of all kinds. He took daily exercise in the woods, among which he had grown up, felling trees and chopping railroad ties, up to within the last two or three years. It is recorded of him that 1869 when one hundred and seven years old, he felled trees and peeled three wagon loads of bark, which one of his young sons, a young chap of sixty hauled to market for him.

A FAMILY POISONED.—A whole family were found poisoned in bed in Carbonale, at noon on Friday. The victims are a family named Ludwig, his wife and a beautiful child about a year old. Some of the neighbors shortly before noon, seeing that none of the family were stirring, forced open the door, and on going up stairs beheld a horrible spectacle. The features of a man and wife were distorted by the throes of death, while the infant was at its mother's breast unconscious of the awful fate of its parents. Medical aid was promptly called, and after the application of restoratives husband and wife rallied a little, but the latter died within an hour. The husband, being of a powerful constitution, struggled on until the evening, when he also died. When the husband was partially restored to consciousness he said that somebody gave himself and wife a draught from a bottle. "We both drank it," he added, but he could not be induced to say any more. Up to a late hour that evening no clue to the mystery could be obtained.

A letter of Gov. Dix to Mayor Havemeyer, written last week, in relation to William M. Tweed, is made public. The Governor alludes to the information which has come to him of Tweed's privileges, such as the use of a room furnished with all the conveniences and comforts of life, his wearing of ordinary dress, liberty of the penitentiary grounds, and his exemption from restraints of prison discipline. This, the Governor declares, is disgraceful to the State, a criminal violation of duty, in utter contempt of the law, and cannot fail to bring lasting discredit on all by whose official interposition the abuse may be corrected, and he deems it his duty to call the mayor's attention to the subject, as the parties who are thus making the administration of justice a mockery are within his immediate authority.

Seranton Penna., must be a terrible place to live, if what the New York Herald and Seranton Republican says is only half true. A Herald correspondent represents matters in the neighborhood of that place, in a locality called "Shanty Hill," as in a fearful condition, rivalling the noted "Five Points" of New York in misery and wretchedness. The Republican denies what the Herald correspondent says, but publishes to the world the humiliating fact that the Mayor of Seranton has been arrested for perjury, and is chief of police in defiance of murder. In its despair the Republican says: "We don't know what shall befall us if the officers of the city are taken away one by one in this summary manner. Now the chief of police and mayor are gone, and we suppose the next thing in order will be to gobble up the 'City Fathers.'"

The Present law in regard to postage on newspapers should be entitled: A Law for the suppression of newspapers and the promotion of ignorance among the people of the rural districts. The member of Congress who will on the very first day of the next session introduce a bill to restore the old law of free exchanges among newspapers and free papers to subscribers residing in the counties where they are published, will entitle himself to the thanks and gratitude not only of the newspaper press, but of hundreds of thousands besides. It will be the most popular move with the people that has ever been made. Who will put the ball in motion.—Maryland Union.

The Philadelphia Telegraph says it is stated on the highest authority that the parties who endeavored to purchase the Press through the agency of Colonel McClure are now seeking to gain possession of another prominent journal in the city, with a view to establish an independent political newspaper.

Every farmer who owns a good stock of horses, cattle and sheep, and intends to keep them through the winter, should get at once a good stock of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powder. One dollar's worth will save at least a half ton of hay.

Mr. John Murdock has purchased the "Maria Factory" property, near Boonsboro, Washington county, for $2,001.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—The customary supplies of goods for the Christmas holidays have been opened out among our dealers. The little ones are enjoying the sights, and of course will thenceforward await with impatience the coming of that mythical personage, Santa Clause, with his stores of toys and dainties.

Camp Stambaugh, Wyoming, of which our friend Capt. D. S. Gordon, is at present Post Commander, is about 8000 feet above the level of the sea, the highest post in the United States, except Ft. Garland, New Mexico. At last accounts, according to a correspondent, the Fort was walled in by snow drifts from two to fifteen feet deep.

Mr. E. G. Etter had one of his Fountain Gas Lamps on exhibition on the Diamond on Monday evening. As a street light it seems to answer the purpose most admirably, surpassing in the estimation of many persons even the regular gas light. We think our "town fathers" will act wisely by at once negotiating for a sufficient number to light our streets of dark evenings. Neighboring towns are thus to be illuminated. Let Waynesboro' not be behind.

POSTAGE LAW.—On the first of January the new postage law, passed by Congress the 23d of June last, goes into operation, which will require the pre-payment of postage on every copy of the Record sent out of the county. This pre-payment must be made by publishers, otherwise the paper will not be forwarded. To avoid difficulty in regard to this new regulation we make subscribers this proposition: To all who shall have, on the first day of January, paid their subscriptions in ADVANCE, the paper will be sent free of postage. Those failing to make advance payments will be charged with the postage.

DECEASED.—Hon. David Oaks, Associate Judge of the courts of this county, and well known to many of our citizens, expired at his residence in Chambersburg, on the evening of the 2d inst., in the 74 year of his age. Of the deceased the Repository says:—He lived in Chambersburg more than half a century and few men were more generally known in this community than he. He was engaged most of his life in mercantile pursuits in which capacity he established a reputation for probity and honor by a long course of fair and honorable dealing. Twenty years ago he served a term as Register and Recorder of the county, and in 1872 he was elected Associate Judge for the term of five years. He was an active member of the United Brethren Church, in which Communion he will be greatly missed.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—At an early hour on Monday morning last a fire broke out at the Mr. Alto Works, destroying two of the company's stables. The light caused by the burning buildings was unusually brilliant and was noticed by many of our citizens. The Public Opinion says:—Six head of horses, about 30 tons of hay, 30 tons of straw, several wagons, &c., were consumed. The loss is estimated by our informant, H. E. Wertz, Esq., (to whom we are indebted for these particulars) at $10,000. Four of the horses, the only individual property, belonged to Mr. John Brown. The size of the stables were, respectively, 24x90 and 48x90, frame structures, recently erected. Very effective work was performed by the two Babcock fire extinguishers, by which a third stable and other valuable property was saved. The origin of the fire is not definitely known.

On Wednesday a week the heaviest man in the state, if not in the county, died at Douglassville, Berks county. Although but twenty-one years old he weighed 450 pounds. The calf of his leg measured twenty-nine inches in circumference. He was five feet eight inches in height and had a handsome face. The name of this marvel was William Kupp. The young man's death was sudden, he having retired to bed in good health the night preceding the morning on which he breathed his last.

The Williamsport Pilot says the proposition of the "Baltimore and Western Maryland Railroad Company," to the city of Baltimore, asking that the city release to that company all its right title and interest in the Western Maryland Railroad, except certain first mortgage bonds, has been withdrawn. The new company stating that they had concluded to withdraw their proposition, as the matter had not been received by the public or the city authorities with the favor that had been anticipated.

The second and last session of the Forty-third Congress commenced on Monday last, and the President's Message was read in both Houses. Among other topics of interest the President suggests free banking and a resumption of specie payments, and consequently favors a repeal of the Legal-tender act. A synopsis of its most important features will be given in our next issue.

TRIFLING.—It is supposed by some persons that it is necessary for farmers and others to advertise that gunning and hunting is forbidden on their lands. The act of April 9, 1790, provides that if any person shall presume to hunt or carry a gun on any inclosed or improved lands of any inhabitant of this state without permission of the owner, or shall therefore be convicted before any justice of the peace, he shall for every offence forfeit the sum of forty shillings. This act the supreme court of Pennsylvania decided, May 11, 1869, to be still in force, and that offenders may be summarily convicted, upon information laid before any justice of the peace. Farmers are not obliged to advertise, but it is well to do so, as it saves the annoyance of resorting to legal proceedings in many cases, because gunners will know that hunting will not be permitted on such properties, and will, therefore, give them a wide berth.—Sunbury Daily.

How to CATCH COLD.—An exchange says: "One way is to 'bundle up' in furs or mufflers tight about the neck, take a brisk walk, go into a warm room or concert—sit with your things all on get warm perspire freely, breathe vitiated air for an hour or two, and when thoroughly relaxed, the pores of the skin all open, go out into the cold, damp air, and you will begin to shiver. After having a chill send for the doctor and he will give you something hot, then go to bed; then if let alone long enough you may get up in a day or two, and in a fortnight or so you may repeat the imprudence. We don't believe in furs, close unventilated, overheated rooms, nor in staying carelessly generally. There are several other ways to take cold. We will mention but one, and that is to 'over-eat.' Stuff the stomach with improper food, more than it can digest, and you will soon find yourself 'all-glogged up with a cold.' You will cough or sneeze, blow your nose, and 'wonder how in the world you took a cold.'"

SUDDEN DEATH.—Leonard C. Jordan of Patuxent township dropped dead while standing in his front door on Sunday morning last, at 9 o'clock. Two or three years ago he received a fall off a load of grain in the barn, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. He was more cheerful than usual on Sunday morning, and had just taken breakfast and went to the door to direct a tramp to the road, and as he pointed in the direction, he fell forward. Dr. Brownson says he thinks he never breathed after he fell. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of his death.—Repository.

BARN BURN.—A barn belonging to Mr. W. P. Eckles, in Silver Spring township, Cumberland county, was consumed by fire, on the morning of the 30th ult. The Volunteer says that beside the barn four cattle, nine hogs, the entire crop of grain, straw, hay and fodder and all the farming implements, excepting one wagon were burnt. The barn was insured for $3,500, but $6,000 will hardly cover the loss. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a "tramp" who lodged in the barn during the night.
