THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—The President's Message is regarded as an able state paper, moderate, cautious, and thoroughly conservative in tone, and the press of both parties comment favorably upon the sound doctrines it advances. The most important feature of the message is that relating to the finances, and the recommendations of the President on this question are thus referred to by the Baltimore Sun:

"In the very first paragraph of the message, and with military bluntness and directness of purpose, he takes the bull of the financial question" boldly by the horns. It is gratifying to find that upon this all important subject, which is pre-eminently and above all others, "the question of the hour," the President's trumpet gives no uncertain sound. He declares in favor of resumption and of a return to decent money, not merely in the abstract or in vague and general terms, but explicitly and specifically, urging upon Congress, "at this session," the duty and necessity of placing the currency of the country upon a basis common to and recognized by the civilized world. In this portion of his message, in principle—we do not speak of details—the President's views are as sound as a dollar—and a gold dollar at that. The public creditor to be paid in coin, "according to the bond when the debt was contracted, gold or its equivalent," an obligation not to be evaded "without national disgrace," the repeal of the legal-tender clause, to take effect as to all contracts entered into after the day fixed in the repealing act; a revenue sufficiently in excess of expenditure to insure an accumulation of gold in the treasury to sustain resumption; and lastly, a system of free banking as essential to give proper elasticity to the currency. These are the salient recommendations urged by the President upon Congress at its present session as necessary to restore the currency to a normal and healthful condition."

The President reports our foreign affairs as in good condition, with some exceptions that may not or may, become serious. Spain has not yet finally settled the Virginius affair. The Cuban revolt continues, and raises the question of the advisability of foreign intervention. The Mexicans are still stealing Texan cattle in great numbers, while the President can only hope that the Mexican Government will co-operate to put a stop to the knavish business. But Major Mackenzie, we may suggest, found an effective way of dealing with the question without bothering about the Mexican Government. Perhaps the precedent may be worth following.

Along with a great number of minor recommendations, the President devotes a considerable portion of his message to the condition of affairs in the Southern States. He defines his position as to this question with great frankness. In Louisiana, he will do as he has done heretofore, i. e., he will sustain the Kellogg Government, unless otherwise directed by Congress. Touching Arkansas, he will do nothing, though he lays before Congress a succinct statement of the tremendous middle into which the politicians of that State have managed to plunge its Government. The President describes the situation of the South which induced him, just before the election, to order numerous prosecutions, and to concentrate troops to support the officers of the law. He says that he understands the Fifteenth Amendment and the Enforcement law to guarantee the citizens the right to vote, and to protect them in its exercise. He shall administer the law in this sense while he remains President. If Congress thinks that he has acted on mistaken information, perhaps it will order an investigation. As for the citizens of the South, the President gives them some very plain advice in a spirit of frankness and kindness. He deprecates the obstinacy of parties in "dividing on the color line," and he says that if the Southern whites will make up their minds to treat the negro "as a citizen and a voter as he is and must remain," there will be no further occasion for trouble with him. Among the ad stages of such a consummation, one would be specially agreeable to the President, that would be his release from the necessity of interfering in the affairs of individual States. It is pleasant to be able to believe that to some considerable extent the whites of the South have anticipated the excellent advice of the President.

We ought in conclusion, to remark that the President announces his intention of abandoning the civil service reform unless Congress distinctly supports it by legislation. The condition will not be fulfilled, and the reform will die before the 4th of March. We are sorry for it. It was an attempt that promised much, and might have been made to yield a great deal. But if the President has not done with it what he might have done, he has, at least, been the assent of Congress and of the majority of the public, which bears with great patience a civil service that, in many of its features, swindles, insults, and disgraces the country.

Have you heard of the greatest herdsman in the world? His name is Samuel W. Allen. He has a ranch eighty miles long by forty wide, lying between the Nevada and Colorado rivers, in Texas, and he has 225,000 cattle.

The Jersey City Presbytery published the verdict on Tuesday in the case of Rev. John S. Glendonning, acquitting him of the charges of seduction and breach of promise of marriage, but find him guilty of unministerial and unchristian conduct in making Miss Mary E. Pomeroy presents, meeting her so frequently and at unreasonable hours, and living on such intimate terms with her as to occasion public suspicions of impropriety. The presbytery passed resolutions dissolving the pastoral relations between Glendonning and Prospect Avenue Church, in view of the disturbing influences incident to the case.

Colonel Renwick, the agent sent out by the Nebraska Aid Society, has returned to Omaha from the grasshopper district, having visited seven counties. His report shows that 2,300 people will need daily rations, as well as clothing, till they can raise something to subsist upon in the spring. There have been no cases of persons starving to death. The people are not inactive; they have been and are yet plowing and getting ready for spring planting, hoping that seed will be in some way provided. But very few people are leaving the district.

Judge Black is the only member of the late Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention who served entirely without pay. The legislature fixed the salary of members of that convention at $1000; but the next Legislature repealed this, and voted an appropriation of $5,000 to pay the expenses of the convention. Taking advantage of this act, passed, we think, after their election, the members who were glad to serve at 1,000, greedily voted themselves $2,500 each. Judge Black claiming that the convention had no power to make appropriations from the State Treasury and that the original $1,000 act having been repealed there was no fund out of which the salaries could be paid, resolutely refused to receive a cent. This fact should act powerfully in favor of sending him to the United States Senate.

The people of Maine have been exercised for the past two years over a phase of the "female progress" question. Gov. Chamberlain, out of his sympathy for the friends of the cause, appointed some ladies to the office of Justice of the Peace. Some illiberal men with narrow views of the fitness of things opened legal proceedings to prevent them from entering upon the duties of their positions. The case finally reached the Supreme Court of the State, which has rendered a decision adverse to the female aspirants. They are, however, not entirely barred from public life, as the Court holds that they may occupy any office created by the Legislature, but not such as are established by the State Constitution.

The mystery of the abduction of little Charlie Ross has been partially cleared up by a most tragic incident. The two men who kidnapped him both lie cold in death. They were shot while in the act of committing a burglary, in the village of Bay Ridge, Long Island, on Sunday night. Judge Van Brunt, into whose house they were trying to force themselves fired a revolver with fatal effect, killing a professional burglar named Mosier instantly, and mortally wounding another named Clark. The latter lived long enough to confess that he and Mosier had carried off the little boy. The detectives have been hunting for these parties since last July. The child has not yet been found.

His Royal Highness King Kalakaua passed through Baltimore on Saturday morning enroute for Washington. Those who saw him while the train halted at the Union Depot pronounce him a very fine looking gentleman. He was met at Wilson's Station, some ten miles north of Washington, by a deputation representing the United States Government, headed by Secretary Fish, and formally welcomed. At Washington he was received with military honors, and escorted to his quarters at the Arlington. His Majesty is suffering from a severe cold contracted during his hurried railway trip across the Continent.

Five children of John Dotterich, residing near Peakness, N. J., on Saturday ventured upon the thin ice of a small pond with a sled. The ice gave way in the centre of the pond under their weight, and they were all drowned in sight of their mother, who was watching them play from their house. Four were girls, aged 16, 15, 13 and 8 years, and a boy of 6 years.

Seven hundred negroes with arms attacked the city of Vicksburg Miss., on the 7th inst, but were repulsed, with a loss of twenty-five killed and forty prisoners. The demonstration was made to reinstate Crosby Sheriff who failed to file a sufficient official bond, and was therefore asked to resign.

Charlestown, the Capital of West Virginia, was partially burned on Thursday night. A number of the principal stores and business places were destroyed, inflicting a loss on the owners and tenants which is estimated at $200,000.

The pastors of the Omaha churches have issued a call to the churches of the East, suggesting a special collection for the sufferers by the grasshopper raid on Christmas Day.

Smith; Organist, Miss Effie Storchouse; Treasurer, Jesse Beard; Sup. of infant Department, Mrs. Annie E. Hawker.

DECEASED.—Mrs. Anna Hess died in Quincy township, on the 13th inst., aged 78 years, 10 months and 18 days. She was the mother of 14 children, 109 grand children and 40 great-grand children.—She was a member of the German Baptist Church 62 years, and always walked upright as a consistent member. Her disease was umbilical hernia, which proved very distressing during the last year, causing frequent paralytic attacks.

LARGE HOGS.—Mr. Benjamin Bechtel of the vicinity of Smithsburg desires us to say that Mr. Hoffman is not the only man to furnish a good stock of hogs. He recently killed two, fifteen months old, raised by Mr. Jacob T. Shank, weighing respectively 418 and 421 pounds. Mr. Geo. Ziegler of Smithsburg killed two which weighed 412 and 419 pounds, and Mr. M. Metz one weighing 418 lbs. There are said to be a few feeding yet that will exceed these in weight.

SMITHSBURG TURNPIKE ELECTION.—At an election of the Hagerstown and Smithsburg Turnpike company, held at gate No. 2, on Monday, November 30th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, I. G. Brown; Manager, Philip Beck, Henry Calliflow-er, Joseph Winters, Daniel Hoover, Jr., and David Oswald.

LECTURE.—Rev. Dr. Guard, one of the greatest Orators of his age, has been engaged to deliver a lecture in the Methodist Church of Waynesboro', some evening in January next. Subject—"Mental activities of the age and the Bible."

This lecture has been pronounced by competent judges to be a wonderful production, and its delivery a grand display of the almost matchless powers of this great orator.

A diagram of the church can be seen, and seats engaged, by calling on James P. Wolf, A. E. Waynant, or E. A. Hering. Reserved seats 50 cents. Families taking more than three seats, 40 cents—unreserved seats 25 cents.

Persons wishing to secure reserved seats should engage early, as they are likely to be taken very rapidly.

As soon as the date of the lecture can be definitely fixed, it will be announced.

A DANGEROUS ANIMAL KILLED.—On Saturday the 28th ult., Mr. Wm. Hess, residing some six or eight miles north of Hancock in this county, was out with dogs and gun on a hunting excursion. His dogs having traced, he repaired to the place to find crouched, on the limb of a moderate sized pine tree, an animal of such size, and of such a ferocious appearance, that induced him to hunt for reinforcements before undertaking the hazardous attempt of killing it. On reaching the nearest house he called to his aid Mr. Peter Culler, and both being armed with rifles, made their way back to the spot where the animal still remained. Proceeding with caution to a spot they thought sufficiently near, they came to an understanding that one was to fire at its head, and the other at its heart. The report of their rifles was simultaneous, and they had the proud satisfaction of seeing their game fall to the ground with a heavy thud, leaving no doubt that their trusty rifles had done well their work. On examination the animal proved to be a Panther that measured nine feet in length and weighed one hundred and forty pounds. Mr. Hess has refused ten dollars for its skin.—Mail.

BIG INVENTION.—Lloyd, the famous map man, who made all the maps for General Grant and the Union army, certificates of which he published, has just invented a way of getting a relief plate from steel so as to print Lloyd's Map of American Continent—showing from ocean to ocean—on one entire sheet of bank note paper, 40x50 inches large, on a lightning press, and colored, sized and varnished for the wall so as to stand washing, and mailing anywhere in the world for 25 cents, or unvarnished for 10 cents. This map shows the whole United States and Territories in a group, from surveys to 1875, with a million places on it, such as towns, cities, villages, mountains, lakes, rivers, streams, gold mines, railway stations, &c. This map should be in every house. Send 25 cents to the Lloyd Map Company, Philadelphia, and you will get a copy by return mail.

IN PHILADELPHIA, on Saturday, the proprietors of the Reading Eagle were called for sentence for libeling the father of Charlie Ross. An appeal for mercy was made and in reply Judge Allison spoke at length of the gravity of the offense, and the responsibility of newspaper publishers. He pronounced the publication as highly scandalous, and said he had at first intended to inflict the sentence of imprisonment. He then called the defendants and sentenced them to pay a fine of $1,000.

THE RABBIT FORMS an important article of food in Great Britain and Ireland. In addition to the very large number imported from the continent, it is estimated there are annually bred for food 27,000,000 rabbits. The flesh is sold at an average rate of twelve cents per pound, which is fully a third less than the price of beef and considerably under that of the choicest portions of the sheep. The value of the annual supply is estimated to be $7,872,000.

A delegation of fifteen Navajo Indians arrived in Washington on the 2d inst., from New Mexico. They want to exchange part of their reservation. The Navajo tribe numbers about 11,000 souls, and own 430,000 sheep and 10,000 horses.

Matthew Pabst, of Washington, D. C., who brought suit against the B. & O. Railroad Company for $25,000 damages for causing the death of his wife in December, 1872, through negligence, was last week awarded $3,568.05 damages by the jury before whom the case was tried.

John Baier, keeper of a lager beer saloon in Baltimore, committed suicide on Wednesday of last week by hanging himself.

PHILADELPHIA, December 12.—A photograph of a child supposed to be Charlie Ross has been received here from Chester, Ill., and it bears so striking a resemblance that one of the Ross family has started for that place to investigate the matter. It is the impression of the family that the real child has been recovered.—The hair in the photograph appears to be dark, but his hair may have been stained to disguise his appearance.

The proprietors of Johnson's Any-dyne Liniment, Parsons' Purgative Pills, and Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, have published a readable and instructive pamphlet, which may be had free by mail.

Rufus Chapman of Liberty, Maine had a stiff leg bent at the knee, limbered and strengthened by the use of Johnson's Any-dyne Liniment.
