From the Detroit Daily Advertiser LONG CHERISHED REVENGE. CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

The history of jurisprudence embodies among its dusty archives many a tale of love, of sorrow, of blighted affection, of bitter, remorseless persecution, and of long cherished vengeance, which needs not the pen of a Warren nor a Dickens to invest it with every attribute of startling interest which can make the wildest narrative of fiction.

In the year 1835, there came into the county of Lapeer, Michigan, a German, from the province of Wurtemberg, by the name of Ulrich, bringing with him a young and attractive wife, to whom he had been some years married. This lady, when a girl, had been a bello in her little neighborhood/of Wurtemburgh, and had been sought in marriage by more than one anxious suitor; and among them was one Daum, by whom she had been courted, and to whom she had extended such encouragement as had led him to fix his affections upon her, with all the fervor of a German heart. Daum was a man of unusual strength of mind, of stern and impressive demeanor, of great depth of feeling, but, as the sequel will show, of the most implacable disposition when his animosities had been aroused. He loved the girl with that intensity natural to men so constituted, and having few or no affinities with others, owing to his reserved, morose disposition, he commenced by lavishing his hours of leisure and the earnings of his industry upon her alone. Unlike her lover in all respects, the girl was attractive, fond of society, and unstable in her affections; and when the wedding day came, to which Daum had long and impatiently looked forward as the consummation of his bliss, after the wedding guests had met, she told him that she loved him not, and never could be his. Daum sold his estate and removed at once from the scene of discomfiture to a distant province

Time passed on, and the lady was again woord and won by a light-hearted and comely, youth, her former suitor's superior in person al appearance, but his inferior in wealth and intellect. His courtship was now followed by marriage, the news of which reached the self banished Daum, roused every latent feeling of rage and jealousy of which his strong heart was capable, and he returned to the scene of his former happiness; instigated by the sole desire-for revenge! He skulked about the neighborhood, lying hid during the day time for the most part, but watching every opportunity to waylay and destroy his rival. At length they met in a wild, narrow mountain pass; a deadly and fierce struggle took place, at the termination of which Ulrich was left upon the ground slain, as his assassin supposed. Daum fled, and Ulrich recovered and returned to his wife, pale, bleeding and faint. The officers of justice sought for Daum in vain: he had fled to England, where he spent the next six years of his life.

The circumstance had passed away from the public mind, and the parties most interested had ceased to think of them, or feel any apprehension at Daum's return. Five years passed on, and the married couple, with their children, joined a party who were emigrating to America, and settled in the country of Lapeer. There they resided in quiet comfort and happiness for three years. The wild farm had begun to assume the appearance of cultivation—the log house to be encircled with creepers and flowering shrubs-the whitehaired children played around the door-the old German hound lay watchfully at the gate, and the truant sweetheart, now a comely matron, sang at her wheel the sweet songs of her Faderland. All was peace at this sequestered home, when, at the close of a bright day in Augus, 1838, a knock was heard at the door, which was answerd by the woman, who, upon opening it, met face to face her old suitor. The recognition was mutual. Not a word was said between them, but while the heart of one of them sunk within her from very fear, that of the other was roused to a frenzy which made itself manifest in a wild gleam of long pent up vengcance.

What added to his apprehension on deer, and all the night, with doors and win this score was the fact that his father, before dows barred, a sleepless, tearful, trembling the died, attained a degree of rotundity which watcher awaited his return. The evidence, as may be gathered from the foregoing sketch, was entirely circumstantial, and there being no direct testimony whereby to connect the prisoner with the death of Ulrich, the jury found themselves unwilling to convict; and giving the unhappy prisoner the benefit of the slight doubt by which the occurrence was surrounded, brought in, after, a lenghty consultation, a verdict of " not guil-

Magistrate for a Little While,— Breach of Promise Case.

Yesterday morning, directly after breakfast, we stepped into Squire Anderson's office, as he requested us to do when he left, to read his papers and use his writing materials if we should have occasion to do so.

As we sat reading a newspaper, a stranger entered, who, by his appearance, indicated that he might belong to the order of "outside barbarians.

He walked up to the bar of Justice with a firm step, and inquired, as he caught our eye: " Are you a magistrate?"

Wishing to practise some for the purpose of getting our hand in, just to see how i would seem to be a magistrate for a little while, we replied:

" We don't profess to be anything else but magistrate, just for the present."

"Well, I called to see about a little love scrape-a sort of breach of promiss." "Ah! Who's the jilted Lothario?" we in nquired. "Oh, a young man in our neighborhood, he replied.

"Well, be kind enough to state the indiiduals name. The new code renders it obligatory on me to put the question, and neessary for you to answer it. "Well, it's me-John Bothwick-if.you must know." "All right; now for the girl's name."

" Miss Sally Dugal, sir.' " Now, John, proceed and state your case as briefly as possible." " Well, you see I became acquainted with Miss Dugal--" "Was she handsome-faultless in form and beautiful in expression?" "Yes; Mary was just as good looking as any girl in the neighborhood," "No matter-these questions do not come under the new code-proceed."

" Well, you see, 'Squire," said John, " that I've been courting Sally for the last year; went so often long towards the last that I lost a good situation, at eight dollars a month and board. I didn't care much about this if had only got Sal. But the other day I to have me; but she spoke right up and said she wouldn't have me, nor never would."

"Now I want to know, 'Squire, if I can't bring suit against her for damages-to say nothing about breach of promise !"

"O, yes, certainly, you can institute proceedings, of course you can." " Well, do you think that I could get thing ?" said he.

"O, yes, most assuredly," we replied.

" flow much do you think I could get.?" "Well, sir, I should think by your story that you would be very apt to get mulcted in a pretty heavy bill of costs," said we, laughing, finding it impossible to keep a straight face on any longer.

"The fellow turned on his heel, looking furious, remarking as he was about leaving-"You're a magistrate, I guess-in a horn." Dayton (Ohio) Empire.

Mistake in the Weight.

Andrew Wyman was like Lord Byron in The husband was absent, having gone up one respect. He had a great horror of growtability, the office of alderman.

Andrew stood five feet eight in his stockings, and weighed one hundred and forty-five pounds-a very respectable weight-within

Andrew was in the habit of weighing himthat he was not transgressing proper bounds. He had been absent from home rather more than a week, and just stepped out of the cars in the depot, when his attention was

THE reporter of the San Francisco News

furnishes that paper with the following report of a speech made by a California Auctioneer: "Ladies and gentleman, I now have the honor of putting up a fine pocket handker-chief; a yard wide and a yard long, and almost a yard thick; one half cotton and t'other half cotton too; beautifully printed with stars and stripes on one side, and the stripes and stars on t'other; It will wipe dust from the eves so completely as to be death to demagogues, and make politics as bad a business as printing papers: its dark color will enable it to hide dirt, and never need washing; going at one dollar ?- Twenty-five cents ?- one bit

Nobody wants it ?-Oh! thank you, sir! "Next gentleman, for the ladies wont be permitted to bid on this article, is a real, sinon-pure, tempered, highly polished, keenedged Sheffield razor : bran spankin new never opened before to sun-light, moon light star-light, day-light, or cut a disagrecable acquaintance, or poor relation; handle of buck-horn, with all the rivets but the two at the ends, of pure gold; who will give two dol-lars? one dollar? half dollar? Why, ye long-bearded, dirty-faced reprobates, with not room enough on your phizzes for a Chinese woman to kiss, I'm off'ring you a bargain at half a dollar! Well, I will throw in this strap at a dollar !- razor and strop-a recent patent; two rubs upon it will sharpen the city attorney; all for four bits; and a piece of soap-sweeter than roses; lathers better than a school-master; and strong enough to wash out all the stains from a California politician's countenance, all for four bits!-why, you have only to put this razor-strop and soan under your pillow at night, to wake up in the morning clean-shaved; won't anybody give two bits, then for the lot? I knew I would sell 'em.

"Next, ladies and gentleman, I offer three pair socks, hose, stocking or half hose, just as you're mind to call them. Knit by a machine made on purpose out of cotton wool: the man that buys these will be enabled to walk till he gets tired; and provided his boots are high enough, needn't have any corns; the legs are as long as bills against the corpora-tion, and as thick as the heads of the members of the Legislature: who want's 'em at one half dollar?-thank-ee, madam, dollar?

Next I offer you a pair of boots; made especially for San Francisco, with heels long enough to raise a man up to the Hoadly grades, and nails to insure against being carried off by a land slide; legs wide enough to thought I'd close the bargain, and asked her carry two revolvers and a bowie knife, and the uppers of the very best horse leather. A man in these boots can move about us easy as the State Capital; who says twenty dollars? All the tax payers ought to buy a pair, to kick the council with ; every body ought to have a pair to kick the Legislature with-and they will be found of assistance in kicking the at being kicked-ten dollars for legs, uppers Sacramento! ten dollars! ten dollars!--gone at ten dollars!

> Next is something that you ought to have, gentlemen; a lot of good gallowses-sometimes called suspenders. I know that some of you after a while be furnished at the State's expense, but you can't tell which one so buy where they're cheap; all that deserve hanging are not supplied with a gallows, if so there would be nobody to make laws, condemn criminals, or hang culprits, until a new election; made of pure gum elastic-stretch like a judge's conscience, and last as long as a California office holder will steal; buckles of nure iron, and warranted to hold so tight that no man's wife can rob him of his breeches; are, in short, strong, as good, as perfect. as effectual, and as bona fide as the ordnance against Chinese shops on Dupont street-gone at twenty-five cents."

THE NEW REVOLUTION

AVING purchased the stock and business of ROY & SOFIELD, in the STOVE TIN, COPPER AND SHEET-IRON TRADE; I would say to the citizens of Wellsborough and vicinity, that I intend manufacturing the best of ware, upon the most iberal terms. JOBBING of all kinds executed with neatness and dispatch. STOVES! STOVES!!

Among the approved Stoves of the age I am thoroughly convinced that the KING OF STOVES is truly named, and must take the lead of all Elevated OvenStoves. The principal advantage claimed in this, over all other stoves, (Elevated Ovens in particular,) is in its diving or reverting flues, the exclusive right of which is guaranteed to the subscriber, by Letters Patent from the United States. There being two currents of air passing up and down at the same time on each side of the oven, perfectly enveloping the oven in a current of hot air that cannot escape short of traversing a distance of about twenty feet, all that can be desired. It has a perfect draft and flues easily cleaned out. There is a damper so constructed as to give a direct draft where heat is not wanted for baking or warming. The amount of heat is immense for the quantity of fuel consumed. The Four Boiler is properly a Village Stove, and works well with wood of coal. You can get a meal for ten persons in thirty-five minutes, with seven pounds of day maple wood. Its appearance is grand, and it is a very pleasant stove to do work with. It is very appropriate for large sitting or dining rooms, and warms with less fire than any parlor stove. The Six Boiler King works equally well, has more capacity, and is adapted to the wants of large families and public houses. This is, in truth, a FARMER'S STOVE.

What can you desire in a Stove that cannot satisfy? If you want capacity for doing large business, you have it. If you want to warm cold houses or large rooms, it cannot be beat. Draft good, and will burn much or little wood as may be necessary. If you want to enjoy the greatest blessing that science has ever rendered accessible in the shape of a Cook Stove, buy the King.

The King of Stoves is, in fact, what the name indicates. It is the Chief of Stoves. It does possess theylong sought combination, the principle of the Low in the position of the Elevated Oven If you want a direct draft for boiling, you have it. It you want the revertable flue oven for baking or warming, turn the damper and you have have it in its greatest perfection.

I also intend keeping a large assortment of Low Oven Cook Stoves, the most suitable for this section. Also, as fine an assortment of Parlor and Box on Plate Stoves as has ever_ been kept in Northern Pennsylvania. I do say-baldly, that I will not be undersold, and it is certainly to my credit to deal in none but the most approved of stoves. I take pleasure in showing my stock at all times, if I cannot sell.

Wanted, in exchange for Stoves, Wares, &c., old Iron, Copper, Brass, Pewter and Rags, for which the highest market price will be paid. Call one door below Truman &

THE subscriber having been appointed agent by S. W. Paino for the sale of the Rose & Peck Improved Direct Action Water Wheels, would say to the owners of Saw Mills in Tioga county, that he is ready to furnish the above mentioned Water Wheel at Wellsboro', at any time after this date, on the most reasonable terms.

These Wheels are warranted to do the best business with the least quantity of water of any Wheel in use, (except an Overshot.)

The great advantages of these wheels over all others is the manner in which the water is applied to the wheel, is such that there cannot be any waste of water, the gates or sheets regulating the quantity.

of water, the gafes or sheets regulating the quantity.
The gate is so constructed that it shuts almost perfectly tight:
Quantity of water required under eight feet head, 130 square inches, under 20 feet head, 50 inches; all heads between these in pro-bortion. All wheels warranted to perform accord-ing to recommendation if they do not we take them out and replace the 6ld wheels. No Wheels put under less than eight test head. D. B. WILCOX. Wellsborough, July 13, 1854.
