From The Anti-Slavery Bugle. A Tale Of Sorrow. MARTINSVILLE, Belmont Co., (O.,) July 14, 1854.

Yesterday, we visited an aged colored woman, living here, who has bitterly experienced the inflictions of slavery, in all its "damned sacraments of sorrow." Raised in Loudon County, Virginia, she was early married, as slavery understands this institunon, and for some years lived with her husband, until the interest of the master required a separation ; when the husband was sold for the southern market, and from the time were visited upon her who had labored so long and earnestly to do all that was just and right, while her tormenters lived in idleness and ease, safe and saved from those dreaded evils that rankie deepest in the life and heart of a slave.

At the command of her master, she was again married, and with her husband lived on the same plantation, until they were sold and removed to Western Virginia, where for many years they lived and raised a large lamily of children, that were torn from them, one after another, sold, and driven far away, where there could be no interchange of affection, or kindly sympathy for mutual sorrow. Falling into kind hands, when far advaced in years, they succeeded in purchasing themselves, and, by a course of rigid economy and arduous toil, were enabled to pay the full sum demanded by their claimant. Thus, of American Slavery, Oh ! when will this vile system be removed from among us, and good men " Rear another altar here, To truth, and love, and mercy dear." C. S. S. GRIFFING.

CISTERNS .- Look well to your cistern. To any one who has examined the contents of a cistern, it is evident that the water & dirt at the bottom often have a strong stench in them, while the water in the upper part of never heard from him. For weary years she it was comparatively sweet and pure. Unless it is cleaned out at least once a year, the water becomes the essence of carrion. To say nothing of the unpleasant smell, its use, undoubtedly is the cause of sickness and death .- Ohio, Farmer.

filty years' hard labor, such as is known only in slavery, they procured the acknowledgment in this Christian land that they had the right in themselves to their own "labor, their" own bodies and souls-that they were free nggers. Immediately they set about earping money to purchase some of their chiloren, whom they hoped were still within their reach, and formed bright anticipations of some day living with them in a home purchased by their own industry, where at last they might safely live and quietly die.

Animated by these hopes, they commenced lite anew, in comparative happiness, free at the wreck of the Tiger to open one of the
