What might be done, if men were wise, What glorious deeds, my suffering brother;
Would they unite
In love and right. And cease their scorn for one another? Oppression's beart might be imbued

With kindling drops of loving kindness;
And knowledge pour, rom shore to shore, Light on the eyes of mental blindness. All slavery, warfare, lies and wrongs-

All vice and crime might die together;
And wine and corn,
To each man born, Be free as warmth in sunny weather. 35 What might be done? this might be done;

And more than this, my suffering brother-More than the tongue E'er said or sung.

If men were wise and loved each other.

The Man who Fired the First

The first American who discharged his gun on the day of the battle of Lexington was Ebenezer Locke, who died at Deering N. H., about 50 years ago. He resided at Lexington in 1775. The British regulars, at the order of Major Pitcairn, having fired upon the rebels on the green in front of the meeting house, killing some and wounding others, it was the signal for war. "The citizens," writes, one, " might be seen coming from all directions, in the roads, over the fields and through the woods-each with his rifle in his hand, his powder horn slung to his side, and his pocket provided with builets. Among the number was Ebenezer Locke. The British Walker, containing 68 acres more or less, with had posted a reserve of infantry a mile in the renr, in the direction of Boston. This was in the immediate neighborhood of Mr. L., who insisted on hastening to join the party at the green, placed himself in an old cellar at a convenient distance for doing execution." A portion of the reserve were standing on the bridge, and Mr. Locke commenced firing at them, though there was no other American in sight. He worked valiantly for some minutes, bringing down one of the enemy at nearly every shot.

Up to this time not a gun had been fired elsewhere by the rebels. The British, greatly disturbed at losing so many men by the ranlodged in the wall opposite. Mr. Locke within-remained unhurt-continued to load and fire with the precision of a marksman. He was driven to such close quarters, however, by the British on his right and left, that he was compelled to retreat. He had just one the property of John R. Rollins. bullet left and there was now but one way to escape, and that was through an orchard in one of them having even gained the orchard.

Not a moment was to be lost—he leveled his gun at the man near by, fired, dropped the gun, and the man was shot through the heart.

Haslett, with 443 acres of land to be sold as the property of Chas. Churchill. The bullets whistled about him; Locke reached the brink of a steep hill, and threw himself upon the ground, tumbled downwards, rolling as if mortally wounded. In this way he escaped unburt. At the close of the war, he removed to New Hampshire, where he resided until his death, some twenty years af-

Testinony of the Professor of Obstetrics in the Penn Medical College, Philadelphia—" DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL!!—'The author of this work, unlike the majority of those who advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the un-fortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence.

Jos. S. Longshore, M. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn University,

Philadelphia .- It gives me pleasure to add my testi mony to the professional ability of the author of the Medical Manual. Numerous cases of Disease of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health in some cases where the nationt has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by self-abuse or excessive venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recom mend him as one in whose professional skill and in tegrity they may safely confide themselves,

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehen sive and intelligible work published on the classes of discases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The anthor has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath io puff and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice. -Herald.

"No teacher or parent should be knowlede imparted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain and mortification and sorrow to the youth under their charge."—Peoples' Advocate.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, writing of

"Hunter's Medical Manual" says — "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon then selves and posterity.

The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or cure. Anything that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this wide spread source of human wretchedeess would confer the greatest blessing next to the relig ion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming gen eration. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and be lieve me your co.worker in the good work you are so actively engaged in."
