For several days past there has been quite an excitement about the Criminal Court room, in consequence of the progress of the trial of a man named Adolph Piccher for an alleged outrage upon a female residing on Fell's Point, Thoutestimony was generally of a character willt for publication, but it was deemed inefficient by the jusy to warrant a full verdicts of condemnation. The formale attended the trial and carefully watched its progresser int.

Yesterday afternoon the trial concluded and the court sentenced the party charged to pay a fine of $20 and to be imprisoned in the for many days. Thus Mar everything went quietly and the condemned man was put into the cell to wait the adjournment of the cour. It was observed that the woman still remained about the court house but no one entertained an idea that she contemplated the crime of murder.

Atter the adjournment of the Court, as is usually done, the prisoner was manacled and conducted by the depety warden of the jail to the wagon used to convey prisoners to and nor the jail. Apprised of the way they were taken him, Mrs. Tole, for such is her name, stationed herself at the door of the Court house opening on Lexington street, and watched the approach of the prisoner. When ne reached the door she suddenly drew from under her shawl a single barrelled pistol, which she aimed at Fischer and fired. Instead of striking the object of its aim, the charge took effect upon the sleeve of the coat 6 Mr. Burke, entirely tearing away the cuff and slightly burning his hand

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an

THRRE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pill — one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has the attempted hore, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonions and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more

els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilions Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humore, Serofula and Scarry, Colds with soreness of the body, Uleers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gont, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stunach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and broads into healthy action, and sorder the annual restore, the annual restore, the annual restore.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to everse. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

This remedy has won for itself such notoricty from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varioties of Collos, Govors, Hoarsenss, &c.; and for Children it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by—ROBERT ROY, Wellsborough; B.
