Matriage There, soil amile as If you were pleased at the word But, my dear reader, marriage is a very serious matter, and if abused, it is worse than black slavery follows young, and consequently innocent of the ills, physical and moral, which are the portion of fallen man; you marry, and smile, kiss, embrace, perhaps tesse and be tessed, but soon it is l'hange comes b'er the spirit of your disame, and dissalisfaction, which, in many cases cannot be accounted for ensues. You have deeply. You rain elters upon the person you idolize as all live lovers do; at length you marry things so on smoothly for some time, until you see a stranger, fresh, pretty and lively and then comes a feeling that the patter of your bosom is no longer fresh, and is dried up a dend pleasure. You court the good will of the atranger, and that won you attend more to the whims of the stranger that pleases your fancy, than to the wishes of your lawfol companion.
Your spouse is illierate, but you enjoy retionally the society your marriage ensures, when a superior intellect comes and astonishes you. You are then conscious of the defects of your companion's education, and begin by degrees to neglect the society you used to enjoy before.

The other day I was called on by a young man, who, though he is married to a sweet " eighteen," and has just fathered the prettiest and healthiest boy ever seen, said that he wished he had not abandoned celibacy. A young lady, who is blessed with an attentive and affectionate husband, and surrounded by all the comforts of life, told me that she wished she had married her first love, although he never could reciprocate her passion, Another lady, equally well circumstanced, said that she did not enjoy herself any. A gentleman of my acquaintance, who has a pretty, amiable and affectionate wife, and an interesting daughter, is in the habit of leaving his interesting family at night to see his male friends. A lady matried a gentleman who was infinitely her superior in intelligence, and rejoiced in her marriage, but her joy was soon changed to sorrow, for her husband went out almost every evening to attend lectures or converse with his literary friends. She was incapable of fascinating by her conversation as she did not know how to talk. A gentleman, in consequence of the gross blunders which his wife committed in composition, came to think lightly of her, however, he studied to please her reasonably. Not n book did he read of show her, well knowing that she could not appreciate the beauty of sentiment or expression. She was condemned to suffer. She was not happy. See, love (!), marry, and then what? Why suffer disappointment. Beware! If

PROVIDE A HOME. - Easpecially ought every mariled pair, says Fowler, to secure a permanent residence for themselves and children; for without it, one powerful mental faculty must suffer. This "moving" is ruinously costly, alike destructive of property and pleasure: cripples husbandry, prevents planting trees, and vines and obliges tenants to frequent the grocery with money in hand, for a thousand little things, which, if land owners, they would raise. None can duly apprecials home till, having once owned and lost one; after being cast upon the stony hearted landlords, they reposees themselves of a comfortable domicil, again to feast upon the products of their own gardens, and orchards. HUNTER'S Medical Manual, and Hank Robe for the Afflicted Contaming amounting of the origin progress, treatment and care of every form of disease contracted by promiscuous sexual interporacy, by self-abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical technicalities and everything that would offend the sar of decency; with an outline of complaints incident to females from the result of twenty years successful practice, exclusively dexojed to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private inture. To which is added receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes symp-towning, said a treatise on the cause, symptoms and cure of the FEVER and AGUE.

Testimeny of the Professor of Obstetrice in the Penn Medical College, Philadelphia DR. HUN-TER'S MEDICAL MANUAL."—The author of the professor of the cause symptoms of the cause of the professor of the cause of this work, unlike the majority of those who adver-tise to cure the diseases of which it treats is a grad-uate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the un-foritinate, or to the victim of malpractice, and sucfortinate, or to the victim of malpractice, and succossipi and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity, they may place the greatest confidence.

Jos. S. Longshoar, M. D.

Rrom A. Woodward, M. D., of Pann University, Philadelphia.—It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the ptolessional ability of the author of the Medical Manual. Numerous cases of Disease o
the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health in some cases where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by self-abuse or excessive venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one in whose professional skill and in tegrity they may safely confide themselves, ALPRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the classes of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It to free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The anthor has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath io buff and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice.

"No teacher or parent should be knowlede imparted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain and mortification and sorrow to the youth under their charge."-Peoples' Advocate.

A Presbylerian clergyman in Ohio, writing of 'Hunter's Medical Manual" says — "Thousands spon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and posterity The constitutions of thousands who are raising faurilies have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or cure. Anything hat can be done so to enlighten and influence th public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove his wide spread source of human wretchedeess would confer the greatest blessing next to the relig on of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming gen eration. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicuting drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thou sands, is not a greater scourge to the human race Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and be lieve me voor co-worker in the good work you are so actively engaged in."

The soreness is immediately extracted—awellings reduced—and profuse bleeding stoppen A single dose will case the most severe griping paid in the bowels, and a few applications will ease the severest rheumatic and nerveus pains. Dyspepsia severest rheumatic and nervous pains. Dyspepsia and its train of diseases is driven from its strong hold. "Fever and Ague," in the language of a western agent "can't stand before old Leddy and live." Indeed it is so with nearly every disease in the catalogue. A Mediciae for the Million!

The remady is composed of a large number of articles, all entirely vegetable, each a remedial agent in itself, yet so united as to torm a most powerful combination, and to take away one of these agents would materially detract from its merits. One and the most powerful, of these articles is a root procured for this medicine only from the island of Taumago, in the South Pacific, called

TAYU, OR LIFE ROOT! It is used by the natives in almost every disease, and the secret of its virtues was imparted to the proprietor by a native. For certificates, &c., see pamphlets to be had
