Work for the Month.

FARM.—Owing to the backwardness of the spring, much of the labor usually per-formed in March has been necessarily postponed to April. Oats should be sown as soon as the ground will permit. Ground intended for corn not already done, should be plowed and subsoiled as soon as possible, before it becomes dry and hard. As fine pulverization is of great account, those plows should be used which tend to this end. The Michigan Double Plow is the best we have seen for this purpose.

Early Potatoes should be planted in a warm aituation. If a few rows be planted every week or two, a portion of the crop is almost certain to "hit the season," and yield well. Prepare the ground for root crops and for sowing corn for fodder.

Stock should now have particular attention instead of being neglected as is too often the case. Ewes and lambs should have a small quantity of grain and roots daily, and should be allowed to run on high and dry pasture land. Horses that have been standing idle all winter, are liable to fall off in flesh at this season when put to constant work, unless very well cared for. Have salt in the reach of all animals, to lick at pleasure.

FRUIT ORCHARD:-Tree may still be planted this month and in doing so, cut off all bruised and broken roots; make the cut from the lower part, so that the cut surface may be down. Head in, by cutting off the ends of branches of large trees. See tha the worm is not at work at peach trees. It the earth was removed from the body of the trees last fall, put a shovel full or two of wood ashes around each tree, and return the earth tered under them answers an excellent purpose in producing fair fruit. Gooseberries, currants and grape vines two years old, from subsoil on the top to become improved by the rant are rank feeders. All transplanted trees | seed. should be mulched by putting around the roots manure hay or straw. Grafting apple leaves begin to expand, if the grafts were cut in season and properly taken care of. Cherries plums and peaches should have been done last month. Remove all insects from trees. and apply a wash of equal parts of soft soap and lye, and remember that trees need cultiva-

VEGETABLE GARDEN.-Finish planting root esculents for seed, and at a distance from others of the same genus. All kinds of seeds may usually be planted this month, reserving such as are tender of frost till the last. Make plantations of asparagus. Plant out rhubarb, horse radish and onion setts. Sow peas, radishes, and lettuce, every few days for a succession. Plant out cabbages, cauliflower and lettuce from cold frames. Plant Lima beans, cucumbers and melons in pots, under frames or in inverted sods, to set out when the weather is settled. Transplant medicinal herbs, and sow seeds for more. Keep the ground hoed and stirred and free from weeds.

FLOWER GARDEN.-All such work as pruning roses, and flawering shrubs, honeysuckles and creepers of all kinds, laying sod, planting box edging, transplanting herbaceous plants, manuring and digging the flower beds, should be concluded this month. Continue to plant evergreens, and all kinds of shrubbery. Wiegilia Rosea, Forsythia Virdissima, Spirea Roevessii, and Prunifolia, bloom before the earliest rose. If the weather is suitable, flower seeds may be sown on a warm border the latter part of the month. A good method to plant them is to break the soil very fine, (if the soil is of a clay nature, mix a little sand to loosen it, otherwise the seeds will not be able to germinate,) then take a six inch flower pot inverted, and press the soil, sow the seed in the ring made by the flower pot. If the seed is very fine, merely pressing it with the flower pot will be found sufficient; other kinds should have a little soil strewed lightly over them. A good lesson is to be learned on this subject if we observe the successful germination of seeds dropped from the parent plant. Tulips, hyacinths, Narcissus, &c., may be planted the early part of this month; but previous to that they should have fresh air admitted to them a freely as possible.

Draining Tile and Draining.

There are very few farms, on which more or less acres are not lying unprofitably and unproductive for the want of proper drainage. The constant eye sore of a wet field or meadow, on which nothing grows but the rankest and coarsest herbage, is allowed to remain year after year, when a very small comparative outlay, would convert it into the most productive part of the farm. Stagnant water at the roots of growing crops, is as detrimental to them, as to animals. The temperature of the soil, where water cannot pass off is so reduced, that vegetable decomposition is retarded, and plants and crops are actually starved off, and dwindle away in the midst of abundance, because the food is not in such condition as to be assimilated and taken up by the absorbent vessels. Give such places a vent for the surplus water, allow the warm sun to penetrate the soil and act upon the mass of vegetable food, which has long lain dormant, and the effects will be surprising. We have known many a farm sold at a low price, on account of the supposed great drawback of a wet meadow. An estimate is made of the number of acres of woodland. acres of arable land, and waste land, the latter never having been drained or made productive, is supposed not to be capable of being so, and when a very triffe, would convert it into the most productive part of the farm. In many places, where stone is scarce there has been an obstacle to under ground and surface draining, which is now remedied by the manufacture of draining tile. This we have ascertained, can now be purchased at the agricultural warehouses very cheaply, the best sole tile, four and a half by five inches, costing not over forty dollars per thousand feet, and smaller-sizes much less. Two or HE undersigned would inform the lately started in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

These covered drains offer no obstacle to culture, perform their work under ground sitently and effectually and in one case we have lately heard, where they were laid down last season on a large scale, have added at least fifty per cent to the value of the land.

All work to the far west, and before they ought to complain of farming not making money fast enough, we think they are bound to turn to the best account, the means of production within their reach. It is possible to hold a sixpence so close to the eye, as not to see the dollar beyond, which we think is the case with neglected draining. Productive industry should be the watchword, that industry, which can turn everything to best account, a fertile and remunerating channel, which will make two blades of grass grow instead of one, and use, not abuse or needect the convert the stubborn and useless glebe into

Many of the farmers in this vicinity, after seeing the experiment fairly tried, are using and pear trees may still be continued till the small potatoes for seed. vate nature.

To which is added receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the FEVER and AGUE. Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in the Penn Medical College, Philadelphia—" DR. HUN the Ascularius. Have the married, or those about TER'S MEDICAL MANUAL."—The author of his work, unlike the majority of these who advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the un-fortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence.

Jos. S. Longshork, M. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn University, Britadelphia.—It gives me pleasure to add my testi mony to the professional ability of the author of th Medical Manual. Numerous cases of Disease 30 the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health in some cases where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by self-abuse or excessive venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no Dry, and ground in Oil, in assorted packages of from more than justice to him as well as kindness to the 25 to 500 pounds; also, Dry, in barrels, of 200 lbs. unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recom mend him as one in whose professional skill and in tegrity they may safely confide themselves, ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the classes of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath io puff and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice.

"No teacher or parent should be knowlede impar-ted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain and mortification and sorrow to the youth un der their charge."—Peoples' Advocate.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, writing o "Hunter's Medical Manual" says—"Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and posterity The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or cure. Anything Alcohol, that can be done so to enlighten and influence the Alum, public mind as to check, and nitimately to remove this wide spread source of human wretchedeess, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, ou the present and coming generation.
