It may be interesting to some of the numorous readers of the Sun, to know how this asked out to take a drink. delicious fruit may be raised in soils which are not peculiarly adapted to their growth. It travegant or slovenly girl.

When you find yourself in doubtful comis well known that melons grow luxuriantly in portions of Mexico and South America, or pany. on river bottoms in various sections of the United States. An observer will notice that the soil in these places is a rich sandy loam, which is pervious for two or three feet, and thus readily allowing the roots of the vines to penetrate to the desired depth without coming into contact with the strata of clay, which would speedily arrest the growth, and cause the failure to often experienced by persons planting in such places. If possible, melons should be grown in a sandy soil near a river or some other large water course-in such places it is only necessary to plant the seeds at the proper time, without preparatory work, save the breaking of the ground. But I now come to speak of a general rule, applicable at all soils and any location. Prepare the ground well by having it thoroughly plowed und harrowed; lay off the hills ten feet npart; for each hill dig a hole twelve inches in diameter and at least eighteen or twenty tour inches in depth; fill this hole with manure within an inch of top-hog-pen manure is best, cobs and all-gently packing it down with the foot; cover the manure with wood's earth, or any other kind which will not bake, | ing house, the other day. to the depth of an inch-the baking of the earth around the root acts as a ligature, cutting off the circulation, and thereby killing one bell in dis house." the vine or materially impeding its growth; this should be sedulously avoided: plant your seeds between the twentieth of April and first of May, nearly or quite in contact with the manure, which will force the vine in its infant state out of the reach of its enemy the bug; never raise the hill above the level of the neighboring ground; regulate the ground around the hill so that the water may run to the vine, and not from it, as is often the case when a large mound is raised from the hill; leave two vines in a hill; keep them clear of bugs and other insects by visiting your patch every morning before sunrise and killing them; keep down the weeds and grass; water your vines regularly during a drought, and the reward of your labor and pains will be an abundance of fine melons, in any location and season. Experience has proved the above to be true, and I heartily recommend it to all who may feel interested in the growing of watermelons.

Raising Fruit Trees.

This is one of the most important of the farmer's duties, and one in the execution of which he can rely but little on the experience of the generations which, in this country, have been before him.

As to the value of fruit trees, as a source of profitable income, all doubt has long since vanished. Fruit in great varieties may be profitably raised for home consumption, and the market is always open, and seldom refuses paying profit. A single orchard may fail or a single variety of fruit-but this luxury the people will have, cost what it may. Apples, pears, quinces, plums, gooseberries, neaches, blackberries, cherries, grapes, and even walnuts always find a market.

We know that orchards deteriorate, but still apple trees live quiet as long as their owner. Fruits deteriorate; but this process is very slow, and the new varieties take the place of those run out. The Newtown pip pin has been a standard fruit for one hundred and fifty years, and is now as good as ever. The Baldwin apple has stood among the first arieties for more than one hundred years. If we are not mistaken some of these kind are still in bearing order. One pear tree, at least, is known, which is over two hundred city McKean counties.

Wellsborough, Feb. 1, 1853. years old-the Endicott pear tree, in Massachusetts; and we are told by Mr. Proctor, that another, eighty years old, has recently made twelve or eighteen inches of wood in one season. The golden pippin was commended as early as 1660, and has ever retained its high rank.

Surely this is sufficiently "permanent for a generation found to extend only thirty years. But besides well known fruits, new varietier may be produced of equal value; and this department need be limited among the scientific fruit growers no more than the care of an old orchard. Indeed, this latter needs more science than the originating of new fruit. There is no magic known only to a few, which will ever tend in these experiments to insure peculiar success.

Plant your nurseries, grow your trees, and try your chance among the rest. One new valuable fruit will pay for fifty failures,-Plow Loom & Anvil.

HOW TO TREAT BURNT LEATHER. - Some body says: -On one of the cold days, I pulled off my boots and set them close to a stove which was very hot. The room was filled with a smell as of something burning. Turning round, I saw my boots smoking at a great rate-I seized them and immediately besmeared them with soft soap, much of which, owing to their highly heated condition, quickly disappeared in the leather .-When the boots became cold the leather was soft and pliable; and now, after several days of subsequent wear, they exhibited no marks of having been burned. The foregoing seems to be worthy of attention.—Maine Farmer.

WASH YOUR TREES .- The present month of April, all fruit trees should be scrubbed or scraped clean of moss, old rough bark, etc., and sulphur. Say to one common water pail full of ley, put one-fourth pound of powdered sulphur, and one quart of common soot or lamp black. Washing the bodies of all trees with this at this season of the year, will destroy insects, open the pores of the bark and rapidly increase the growth and vigor of the tree. Lime wash should never be used-it closes the pores of the bark, and is unsightly to any cultivated taste. - Ohio Farmer.

HEADING OF CABBAGES AND CAULIPLOW ERS .- We see it stated in some of the papers that Cabbages and Cauliflowers transplanted twice, with an interval of some two weeks between, will cause them to head much better than without this treatment. It is easy enough of performance, and may be worthy of trial; it is possibly true, that this may be the result.

TRANSIENT YOUNG MEN.-Girls beware of transient young men; never suffer the addresses of a stranger, recollect that a good steady farmer boy or mechanic is worth all the trash in the world; the allurements of a dandy-jack, with a gold chain about his neck, a walking-stick in his paw, some honest tailor's coat on his back, and a brainless skull, can never make up the loss of a kind father's home, a good mother's counsel, and the sociturned to this place, and opened a shop over the Post office, where he will be presented to the process of the honey moon. Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in the Penn Medical College, Philadelphia—"DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL."—The author of his work, unlike the majority of those who advortise to cure the diseases of which it treats is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the un fortunate, or to the victim of mulpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose hono and integrity they may place the greatest confidence Jos. S. Longsнове, М. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn University Philadelphia .- It gives me pleasure to add my testi mony to the professional ability of the author of the Medical Manual. Numerous cases of Disease 10 the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health in some cases where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by self-abuse or excessive venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than 'justice to him as well as kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recom mend him as one in whose professional skill and in tegrity they may safely confide themselves, ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehen sive and intelligible work published on the classes o diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers It ts free from all objectionable matter, and no par ent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted mamy years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath io puff and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice. —Herald.

"No teacher or parent should be knowlede imparted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain and mortification and sorrow to the youth un er their charge."—Peoples' Advocate.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, writing of "Hunter's Medical Manual" says — "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and posterity The constitutions of thousands who are raising fau ilies have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or cure. Anything that can be done so to cnlighten und influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this wide spread source of human wretchedoes would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, ou the present and coming generation. Intemperance (or the use of intexicuting drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me your co-worker in the good work you are CHITIS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOP-"ING COUCH AND CONSUMPTION. THIS remedy is offered to the community with the confidence we feel in an article which sel-dom fails to realize the happiest effects that can be desired. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from starming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind, is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the no longer heatigte whet antique to employ, for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs, which are incident to our climate.

Nothing has called louder for the earnest enquiry of medical men, dian the alarming prevalence and fatality of consumptive complaints, nor has any one class of diseases had more of their investigations and care. But as yet no adequate remedy has been provided, on which the public could depend for protection from attacks upon the respiratory organs, un-il the introduction of the CHERRY PECTORAL. This article is the product of a long, laborious, and I believe successful endeavor, to furnish the community with such a remedy. Of this lust statement the American people are now themselves prepared to judge, and I appeal with confidence to their decision.
If there is any dependence to be placed in what men of every class and station certify it has done for them, if we can trust our own senses, when we see dangerous affections of the throat and lungs yield to it, f we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, who make it theif business to know,-in short, if there is any reliance upon anything, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does relieve and does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all others that are know-to mankind. If this be true, it cannot be too freely published, nor be to widely known. The afflicted should know it. A remedy that cures, is priceless to them. Parents should know it, their children are riceless to them. All should know it, for health can can be priced to no one. Not only should it be circulated here, but everywhere, not only in this coun try but in all countries. How faithfully we have acted on this conviction, is shown in the fact that already this article has made the circles of the globe. The sun never sets on its limits. No continent is without it, and but few peoples. Although not in so general use in other nations as in this, it is employed by the more intelligent in almost all civilized countries. It is extensively employed in both America, in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and the far off islands of the sea. Life is as dear to its possessors there as here, and they grasp at a valuable remedy with even more avidity. Unlike most preparate countries. It is extensively employed in both Amermedy with even more avidity. Unlike most preparations of its kind, it is an expensive composition of costly materials. Still it is afforded to the public at a reasonably low price, and what is of vastly more importance to them, its quality is never suffered to decline from its original standard of excellence. Every bottle of this medicine, now manufactured, is as good as ever has been made heretofore, or as we are capable of making. No toil or cost is spared, in maintaining it in the best perfection which it is possible to produce. Hence the patient who procures the genuine CHERRY PECTORAL, can rely on having as good an article as has ever been had by those who testify to its cures.

By pursuing this course, I have the hope of doing some good in the world, as well as the satisfaction of believing that much has been done already.
