A more certain method of relief would be to adopt a good rotation of crops, which is based on the well known fact, that the several families of plants not only strike their roots in different depths and different directions, but draw different kinds of pourishment from the soil. When one particular element of a vegetable in removed from the soils-the vegetable cannot again be raised there, until that element be restored. It is, therefore, advisable to alternate the crops, by which means the land will have opportunity to regain its original strength and fertility. This is illustrated by Dame Nature herself. If old pastures were to be attentively observed it the farmers of Vermont are in the habit of would be found that the grasses gradually heading the movements of weevil by a very change from season to season; and in wondland, it would be discovered, that an entirely different kind of tree takes the place of such as have decayed, or have been cut down .--Thus the pine and others of the conifere will succeed the oak, the chestnut and other deci- brond cast, so that it will adhere to the heads duous trees,

A rotation is designed to prevent a too frequent recurrence of the same species upon regular plans for the guidance of their readere; but as the space annually appropriated to different plants depends upon circumstances, it will be readily seen that all such courses or plans are difficult of application. Instead, therefore, of following this practice, we shall content ourselves with some general rules, which possess the merits of simplicity and briefness, so that the reader can adapt them to his own wants.

In the first place, vegetables of the same species shall not follow each other, but return at as distant intervals as the case will allow." Tuberous or tap roots should be succeeded by those of a fibrous character; perennials by annurls and plants of a dry, solid texture, or those left for seed, by such as are succulent and juicy. Ground which has necessarily been devoted for a number of years to the artichoke, asparagus, rhubarb, strawberry and the like, should, as soon as they are removed to other parts of the enclosure, be subjected to a strict rotation, and allowed to recover those elements of fertility of which has been exhausted. Where the garden is divided into quarters, the vegetables can easily be made to take a circuit in every four or eight years

A little reflection will satisfy the intelligent reader, that by observing an alternation of crops, digging his soil to a proper depth, and manuring it abundantly, he need have no fear of its losing its fertility, or of his choice vegetables degenerating .- Schenck's Garden Text Book

Ricking Cows.

Hear what an old man, who has spent his about kicking cows:

In most cases the habit of kicking is contracted during the first month after the cow has had her first calf. If, as is often the case with well fed heifers, the udder is a litthe feverish at the time, it often becomes so sore that it is impossible for the poor creature to stand still while the necessary milking is being done. Following the instinct of nature, she kicks; and finding she is thus for the moment freed from pain, continues to do so till the anger of the milker is aroused, and then a bad matter is made much worse.

It is better in the first place to tie the heifar by the head, then set your left shoulder gently but firmly against her, just back of her right shoulder, grasp firmly her right fore leg below the knee, turning her foot up standing on three legs she will find it difficult to kick so as to hurt you. Now take a convenient sized cloth, and wet and wash the udder throughly with tepid or cold water, after which milk her as carefully and tenderly as possible, using at the same time such gentle and soothing language as is calculated to show her that you do not wish to hurt herbut let her struggles be ever so violent or provoking, mind you keep control of your own temper. An outbreak on your part will as certainly be productive of a bad effect upon the cow, as an echo will answer your own voice, or as your image will be reflected in a mirror. Kindness, combined with the perfect control you have over her in this situation, I consider much the best way of breaking thom: and after a few times she will lift her foot to be tied as readily as a horse will to be shod. Continue to milk her in this way until the soreness is gone, and she will find it a gratification to be milked, will often meet you as she sees you coming withsthe pail, and you will ever after find it casier to get along with her chould he teats by chance get sore afterwards .- Life Illustrated.

Cucambers.

Most persons, by this time, have, of course, planted their cucumber seed; but as there is generally more or less difficulty in rearing the tender vine, and making it productive, it may be of some service to some persons to give a few hints in regard to them. In the first place, it is hoped that many seed have been put into each hill, and these should be on a piece of ground with a southern slope. Now it is presumed that the vines are about out of the ground, and, If this be the case, then commences the care and attention necessary to demonstrate the truth of my remarks. As the little bug immediately commences preying upon them, it is best to let all it is seen that there is no fear of him, thereby securing yourself by feeding him, but his operations may be somewhat checked by sprinkling soot and wood ashes on the vines while they are wet with dew. Three vines are enough for one hill, and consequently, all others in it should be pulled up. The earth should then be kept well stirred, and as closely to the roots as it is possible without doing them injury. If the season be dry they will grow very rapidly by occasionally watering them at night. After they have begun to blossom, if the vines are from last year's seed, it will be seen that they are not very fruitful. To remedy this as much as possible, all the "runners" should have their ends immediately clipped off with a sharp knile. This will at once make the vines fruit. In case they are inclined to send out many new runners, which they are apt to do, clip most of them close to the parent vine, but not too close. With vines from old seed the clipping is not generally so necessary. The clipping chould be done in the heat of the day, as the vines seem to bleed less than when it is cool. New seed are apt to run to vines, but the old are the most productive of fruit .--Cucumber seed should not be less than two years old belore planting. - Dollar Paper Phil. STATEMENT OF THE

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS .- We are informed by Mr. Chamberlin, of the City Mill, that simple process. The next season after it makes its appearance they go through their wheat fields, about the time the wheat is heading, immediately after a shower or while the dew is on it, and scatter newly slacked lime and stems of the grain. They use about a bushel to the acre.

Good lime should be secured, and slacked a particular spot. Some authors lay down by sprinkling a little water over it, so as to retain all its strength. A paddle may be used in scattering it. The remedy has it is said, been so effectually tried, as to leave no doubt of the result.

Strips in large wheat fields left untouched by the lime, for experiment, have been entirely destroyed by the weevil, while the grain on each side was all saved.

Since this intelligence was received, Mr. Jesse Allen, of the Centre Mill, has received corroborating information from e Muskingum county farmer, who had seen the same practice and the same result there .- Akron (Ohio) Beacon.

Sponging It.

The last dodge we have heard in evading the State Liquor Law, occurred yesterday, at one of our fashionable drinking saloons. An individual walked up to the counter, and demanded a dime bottle of brandy. Now, the rule is to charge fifieen cents, unless an empty bottle is furnished in return for the bottle received; and as the customer laid only a dime on the counter, the extra five cents was demanded. "I don't want the bottle," said he, ' draw the cork." "The liquor can't be drank on the premises," replied the barkeeper.

"I ain't going to drink it on the premises," rejoined the other, and the barkeeper, supposing that he had some vessel to pour it into, drew the cork, when the gentleman quietly pulled out a sponge from his pocket, and poured the liquor into it; then taking his seat commenced leisurely sucking it.

"You see," said he, nodding complacently to the astonished bar-keeper, "I ain't going for work.

contrary to the rule, for the law says the Wellsbor stuff shan't be drunk on the premises." The hystanders came to the conclusion that the stranger would make an appropriate Governor for Illinois, being decidedly the greatest sucker of them all:—Cin. Inquirer.

To which is added receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the FEVER and AGUE. Testimony of the Professor of Obstetries in the Penn Medical College, Philadelphia... DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL."—The author of his work, unlike the majority of those who adver-tise to cure the diseases of which it treats is a gradgate of one of the best Colleges in the United States It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the un fortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose home and integrity they may place the greatest confidence Jos. S. Longshorz, M. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn University Philadelphia.—It gives me pleasure to add my testi mony to the professional ability of the author of th Medical Manual. Numerous cases of Disease to the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health in some cases where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by self-abuse or excessive venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recom mend him as one in whose professional skill and in tegrity they may safely confide themselves, ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the classes of discases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints sated of, and with too little breath io puff and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice.

"No teacher or parent should be knowlede imparted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain and mortification and sorrow to the youth un der their charge."-Peoples' Advocate.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, writing of 'Hunter's Medical Manual" says — "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and posterity The constitutions of thousands who are raising fautilies have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or cure. Anything that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this wide spread source of human wretchedeess. would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generation. " Per the Cure of ". COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRON-CHITIS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOP-ING COUGH AND CONSUMPTION.

THIS remedy is offered to the community with the confidence we feel in an article which seldom fails to realize the happiest effects that can be desired. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperats diseases of the lungs, by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind, is too apparent to escape obsermedicine di its kind, is too apparent we escape ousivation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmo nary organs, which are incident to our climate.
Nothing has called londer for the carnest enquiry of medical men, than the alarming prevalence and fatality of consumptive complaints, nor has any one class of diseases had more of their investigations and care. But as yet no adequate remedy has been provided, on which the public could depend for pro tection from attacks upon the respiratory organs, until the introduction of the CHERRY PECTORAL This article is the product of a long, laborious, and I believe successful endeavor, to furnish the community with such a remedy. Of this last statement the American people are now themselves prepared to judge, and I appea! with confidence to their decision If there is any dependance to be placed in what men of every class and station certify it has done for them f we can trust our own senses, when we see dan zerous affections of the throat and lungs yield to it f we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, who make it theif business to know,—in short, if there is any rehance upon anything, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does relieve and does cure the class of diseases it is de signed for, beyond any and all others that are knowmankind. If this be true, it cannot be too freely onblished, nor be to widely known. The afflicted should know it. A remedy that cures, is priceless to them. Parents should know it, their children are riceless to them. All should know it, for health can can be priced to no one. Not only should it be circulated nere, but everywhere, not only in this coun try but in all countries. How faithfully we have acted on this conviction, is shown in the fact that stready this article has made the circles of the globe The sun never sets on its limits. No continent is without it, and but few peoples. Although not in so general use în other nations as in this, it is employed by the more intelligent in almost all civilized countries. It is extensively employed in both Amer ica, in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and the far off islands of the sea. Life is as dear to its possessors there as here, and they grasp at a valuable re medy with even more avidity. Unlike most preparutions of its kind, it is an expensive composition of costly materials. Still it is afforded to the public at a reasonably low price, and what is of vastly more importance to them, its quality is never suffered to decline from its original standard of excellence. Every bottle of this medicine, now manufactured, is as good as ever has been made heretofore, or as we are capable of making. No toil or cost is spared, in maintaining it in the best perfection which it is possible to produce. Hence the patient who procures the genuine CHERRY PECTORAL, can rely on having as good an article as has ever been had by those the testify to its cures.
