

FOR THE FARMER. Summer-stabled Horses.

Horses which have nothing but dry hay and grain all the year through, must suffer both in comfort and condition.

Truths of this kind seem to be very generally forgotten by some of those who have occasion to keep their horses in the stable throughout the whole year.

Various methods might be employed to secure some variety in the food of summer stabled horses according to the varying circumstances of their owners.

Next when your table or desk is near a window, sit so that your face turns from, not towards, the window while you are writing.

When to Bud Trees. In the month of August, or when the full sap flows most freely, which depends much upon the season being early or late, with a sharp knife cut a perpendicular incision, about an inch long, in the shoot intended to be budded, which must (or is best) be of the present summer's growth.

Elm for Fencing. I have upon my farm, a large number of elm trees, some of which look as if they had stood the storms of centuries, and were still able to stand a siege against any power in the shape of beetles and wedges.

SPONGE CAKE.—Take six eggs, one pint of flour, one cup and a half of sugar, half a teaspoonful of soda, one of tartar.

SWEET APPLE PIE.—Take sweet apples, grate them fine, mix with sweet milk, add a teaspoonful of sweet cream and one egg to each pie.

SUGAR CAKE.—One cup and a half of sugar, one egg, half a cup of butter, half a cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda, two of cream of tartar—roll thin and bake on buttered pans.

Take Care of the Eyes.

Until one begins to feel the effect of impaired vision he can hardly estimate the value of eyesight, and, consequently, from ignorance or carelessness, he is apt to neglect a few simple precautions by the observance of which his sight might be preserved.

First, never use a writing desk or table with your face towards a window. In such cases the rays of light come directly upon the pupil of the eyes, and, causing an unnatural and forced contraction thereof, soon permanently injure the sight.

We are often asked which is the best light—gas, candles, oil or camphine? Our answer is, it is immaterial which provided the light is either strong enough and does not flicker.
