

Pepper & Salt. SPIRIT OF '76.

Eleanor Johnson, having been born in 1718 and living in 1793, was in the prime of life when English oppressions of the Colonies commenced...

Next after came the stamp oppression; and here again they were united and from those ship-yards more than elsewhere, came the procession that marched about the town with life and drum...

Eleanor Johnson, standing one day upon the timbers of his yard, called his men about him, and after a few patriotic words, gave the order—"all who are ready to join, knock your adzes from their handles, shoulder their adzes from their handles, shoulder their adzes from their handles..."

Obscene Orders.—"Edward," said his mother to a boy of eight, who was trundling hoop in the front yard, "Edward, you mustn't go out of that gate into the street."

Brown runs over to Jones, raps at the door, and is admitted:—"Good morning Mr. Jones, do you believe in fore-ordination?"

"No, but I just thought I'd drop in, and let you know that divine Providence has broken that axe that I borrowed of you all to pieces, so you'd know who to look to for your party."

"Well, I didn't mother," was the very satisfactory reply. "I climbed over the fence!"

"Oh, no," was the response; "I'm d—sure I'm not that, for I hate the Pope like blazes, and I delights in steaks on Friday."
