New York Tribune, 1855-6. THE TRIBUNE is now in the middle of its fifteenth year:
Yol. XV. of its weekly issue commenced on the lat of Sep-THE TRIBUNE is now in the middle of its fifteenth year: Vol. XV. of its weekly issue commenced on the lat of September last. The American public need not now be made acquainted with its character or claims to consideration. With but a subordinate regard for prudence, policy or popularity, it has aimed tostand for Righteousness, for Truth, for Humanity, against fortified tidquity, Frand and Oppression. There is not a slave-trader on this Contenent, though he may never read anything but his bills of sale and notes payable, who does not know and hate the TRIRUNE; there is not an extensive fabricator of drugged and poisonous Liquors who does not consider it a very dangerous and immoral paper, and wonder why its publication is allowed in a commercial, cotton-buying Cif. like New York. The NEWARK MERICURA once for tibly remarked that it had never known a hard, griping, screwing, avaricous employer who was not hostife to the TRIBUNE, nor one eminantly generous and kindly who did and tike it. Prompt and plainspoken in its denunciations of inquity and abuses of power, while claiming no exemption from human failibility, it may have done temporary injustice to individuals, but it has never been unfaitful to Principle, nor deaf to the cries of the wronged and suffering. In its columns the advocates of uovel and unpopular theories contemplating the melioration of human wees, especially those of the volceless and down-trodden, have ever found audience and hospitality, while it has ardently resisted, and will persistently combat every attempt to prosective and degrade any class because of diversities of Nativity, Creed or Color.

In deBasec of calumnies the most atrocous, and of hostilities the most deadly and untring, THE TRIBUNEN has grown steadly in public appreciation from the day of its origin. Its means of serving the public have been augmented in proportion. Instead of a single editor with one or two assistants, its organization now comprises a numerous body of writers, each afticed by special accomplicialment and expe

nor. Instead of a single editor with one or two assistants, its organization now comprises a numerous body of writers, each fitted by special accomplishment and experience for the particular line of discussion to which his pen is devoted, the daily amount of reading matter given, more than quadruple that of its earliest issues; a staff of valued correspondents on circles the globe, transmitting carly and intelligencet narrations of whatever is most worthy of attention, while Politics, Logislation, Lherature, Art, listory—in short whatever after the secient well-being of mankind, Polemic Theology above excepts.—Ands here the freest and mott searching discussion. whose most conspicuous champion through the last Halfa century was HENRY CLAY—imburd, morrower, with that aprit of forbearance toward our weaker neighbors and toward the mot wronged Aborigines of this Continent, and of Peace with All which will hallow the name of Whig. THE TRIBUNE, while surrendering no jot of its proper ind pendence cooperated earnestly and ardently with the Whig party so tong as its vitality was preserved. When in 1850-2 an at trung was made to interpolates also-chauting into its creed, we sternly resisted that imposition; when, at the close of the Arrestochamial canvas, it-was seen that a large portion of the Whigs preferred to deflat their own party, ruther than allow its Anti-Slavery wing to share its triumph, even under a conservative Chief on a Pro-Shavery platform, we knew and proclaimed that the Whig party was no more. Subsequent events, including the rise and culminastion of the Know Nothing compliancy, and the speedy absorption therets of the whole force of Pro-Skavery whighs in, only confirmed our ardiculating anticipations. With no sickly laminatations, therefore, for the inevitably bygone, but with hope and joy, and sympathy, and words of cheer, have we haited the beginning and wat hed the progress of that raighty REPUBLIC 'N movement which expelled by the perfidient violation of the Missouri Compact, and atimulated by the actounding outrages whereof the rights of the Niese Settlers of Kanna, hous been the actions and constructions. and stimulated by the astounding outrages whereof the rights of the Free Settlers of Kansas have been the victims—by the repeated and utter vitiation of their elections by an armost mob collected by conspiracy and hurled addition upon them from the border counties of the neighboring clave state is destined to aweep away the landmarks of old party lears, and once mighty effort to confine the scourge and standal of our cauatry within the limits of the States which unwasely upold it.
