How to KEEP RILES. - Our lady readers may be giad to learn that silk articles should not be kept folded in white paper, as the chloride of time used in bleaching the paper will probably impair the color of the silk. Brown or blue paper is better ; the yellowish, smooth India paper is best of all. Silks intended for dress should not be kept long in the house before they are made up, as lying in the folds will have a tendency to impair its durability by causing it to cut or split, particularly, it the silk has been thickened by gum. Thread. lace vails are very easily cut. But dresses of velvet should not be laid by with any weight upon them. If the nap of a thin velvet is down it is not possible to raise it up again. Hard silk should never be wrinkled, around the selvedges on a maitress or feather bed, taking pains to draw out the silk as tight as possible. When dry, all the wrinkles will have disappeared. The reason of this is obvious to every person. It is a nice job to dress light colored silk, and few should irv it. Some silk articles should be moistened with weak glue or gum-water, and the wrinkles ironed out by a hot flat-iron on the wrong side.-N. Y. Tribune.

"LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT."-As a very interesting young lady was passing down Main street yesterday morning, she was somewhat startled upon hearing some one behind her in earnest entrenty that she would stop; looking around, she beheld a man apparently well dressed, but with a wild look, rapidly approaching her. With admirable coolness, the lady waited his approached, and upon his resting his hand upon her shoulder, said : "Well, sir, can I do anything for you?" "Yes, madame, you can," replied the mainac. "I am in search of a partner and a bosom friend," "Well," answered the lady, "atmost any one who behaves himself in a proper manner could, I should think, easily find one.' "Do you really think so ?" was the rejoinder ; "then, madame," laying his hand impressively upon his breast," allow me to make you a formal offer of my heart and hand," The lady, not at all taken aback by so astounding a declaration, quietly replied, "that the street was hardly a proper place for so important a declaration-that a more private one would be better suited for so delicate a communication." The maniac, soothed and delighted, with visions, perhaps, of a cosy tete-a-tete with his fair interlocuter at some future time, said, "I thank you for your good advicegood morning," and departed with a g aceful bow, leaving the young lady to persue her walk without farther molestation .- Buffalo Advertiser.

FASHIOVABLE CHURH IN NEW YORK .-You enter the chu ch porch. The po thy sexton, with his thumbs in the arm holes of his ves, meets you at the door. He glances at you, your coat and hat are new, so he graciously escarts you to an eligible seat in the broad aiste. Close behind you follows a poor, meek, plainly clad seamstress, deprived from her treadmill round to think one day in seven of the Immortal. The sexton is struck with sudden blindness. She stands embar assed one moment, then, as the truth dawns upon her, retraces her steps, and, with a crimson blush, recrosses the threshold which she has prolaned with her plebian feet. study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obtained by any process. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of the section of the effect is present. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of the section of the effect is should prove as they have effect is present. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of each substance employed are left behind, the curative virtues only being retained. Hence it is self-evident the effects should prove as they have proved more purely remedidy, and the Pills a surer, more powerful antidote to disease than any other medicine known to the world.
As it is frequently expedient that my medicine should be taken under the counsel of an attending Physician, and as he could not properly judge of a remedy without knowing its composition, 1 have supplied the accurate Formulae by which both my prectoral and Pills are made to the whole body of Practitioners in the United States and British American Provinces. If, however, there should be any without should be taken if their composition was known! Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries. TRAUGH & HURD. Lawrenceville, Feb. 3, 1855.
