

For the Farmer. The Farmer's Future.

An English correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, expatiates on the prospective introduction of steam power as an aid in agricultural operations as follows:—The Farmer's Future will be found in the application of steam to the cultivation of the soil! We are rapidly coming to the conclusion here that the good old plow is a humbug. We begin to think that spade-husbandry applied by steam is the right thing; indeed, there are some among us of the opinion that a machine may be invented which would in effect, plow, sow, harrow and roll altogether—a machine in fact which should make a seed-bed and sow the seed all at one operation. There has already been one steam engine exhibited in this country which will work anywhere and do anything that it is required to do. It has feet about the size of yours, sir, and it puts them down upon the ground, one after the other, very much in the fashion of a dandy going up Broadway, only the feet of the machine are fixed on wheels, and revolve regularly, instead of moving up and down awkwardly like his. This machine will go through a ploughed field very comfortably, and rather quicker than a good hunter will get over it; and as it will drag a dozen plows after it, I do not see, for my part, why it should not be made to carry, as part and parcel of itself, a mechanism that will readily convert the unutilized ground into a seed-bed. Well then, as to drainage. I saw a machine, the other day, that would dig, drain and lay down sixteen and a half feet of piping per minute; the pipes being rather more regularly and satisfactorily laid than any skilled workman can lay them. The machine labored under the disadvantage of being cumbersome, and of being made to be worked by a stationary engine. But having got thus far, it seems to be only one step further to give us steam application to the soil, so as to enable twenty times the quantity of land to be put under cultivation by the same amount of labor, and at no greater cost than now. Then we may hope for a produce of cheap corn, the great desideratum in this land of sweat and toil, where it depends upon a shilling or two, more or less, in the price of food, not only whether a man can reap the advantages of his labor, but absolutely too often whether he can continue to exist.

SHOWS.—If you want to be in fashion, wear a shawl; if you ladies an attraction, wear a shawl; if to sheep and cows a terror, or like shanghai in full feather, or even rage upon the heather, wear a shawl; if you are courting some fine lassie, wear a shawl; you might wrap your lassie in it—in your shawl. It's like charity on pins, and hides a multitude of sins—although it causes grins—does your shawl. If you wish to be a dandy, wear a shawl. In a word it is almost useful article—as you may wrap your feet, head, body, knee, make a seat, a blanket, a bed, a muff, a pillow, a wrap-rascal or a Scotch plaid of your shawl.

YOUNG MISS AMERICA, a baby yet of five years, sat playing with her doll, while her clerical father with a dull razor tore at his beard. "Pa," asked the innocent, "do dolls go to heaven when they get all smashed to pieces?" "No, dear; dolls have souls," answered the father.

"Well, then I don't want to die." "Why not?" "Why," answered she, "I s'pose I should have to go to heaven if I died, and I don't want to go any where they don't have dolls." It would have been better to let dolls in.

In Illinois they do not allow white and black persons to intermarry. The Rock Island Republican says that a negro, having obtained a license to marry a lady "three quarters black," a magistrate refused to perform the ceremony, as the woman was too white. So the negro is hunting up testimony to prove the woman "three quarters black!"

THE SOAP PLANT.—The Vindicator journals announce that a firm of California has sent home to that city some seeds of the soap-plant. It grows wild in California, rising to the height of about a foot. The plant feeds away in the month of May, and inside of each is a ball of natural soap, superior, it is asserted, to any that can be manufactured.

AMERICAN BULLETS IN ENGLAND.—The English papers say that Mr. J. W. Cochran of this city, has received a large order from the British Government for the manufacture of a great number of spiral bullets, which they intend to present to the Russians in the Spring.
