The Florida papers come to us full of Indian troubles again; and in the Tampa Peninsular, of lan. 5, we find a long account of the late attack upon Lieut. Hartsuff and party by the Indians from which we make the following extract:

"On Sunday, Dec. 16, Lieut. Hartsuff and party were halted about ten miles from Fort Drum. On the morning of the 29th, were lying in a pine grove, half a mile in extent, and about 5 A. M. were busy getting ready to march, harnessing, &c., when the warwhoop sounded, and they received a volley. This, of course, was utterly unexpected, and all was confusion. Some little firing from the party ensued, but several were out of reach of their arms. Williams was sixty yards distint from his rifle, saddling his horse he mad his escape. Those who could get their pieces fired them, and then loaded up for the Lituten int, who fought bravely unti he was wounded, when he exclaimed "I am done for," but suddenly pulling out his pistol, cried out: "No, by heaven; the pistol has saved my life, for the ball has struck it!' Hannah and Baker were wounded at this ti ne. The survivors then separated, and it is presumed the plunder alme prevented the savages from pursuing them.'

As so n as the news reached Fort Myers, Col. Brown ordered companies E and K to be in readiness at day-break, with teams and a six-pounder. They were ready and departed in full strength for the battle-ground.

"Campany G and the citizens were left to protect Fort Myers, cannons were planted, defenses erected, houses pierced for musketry, and every precaution adopted to prevent surprise. Large fires were noticed by the Puta Russa force along the coast, and they have been ordered to keep to the block-house, us it is supposed these signals were to apprise the whole nation of the recent events, and that other hostile demonstrations might reasonably be expected.

" * * On the arrival of Col. Brown at the place of conflict a scene met their view, of a description so horrible that words cannot describe it; for the corpses of the four unfortunates were still above ground, although in a revolting condition. They were stated and indecently mutilated .-Their deaths were, of course, caused by the large quantity of balls, which had perforated hends, chosts, &c., but that they were mutilated, while still living, is evident from the signs of warfare around them, such as the tearing up of grass and sod, the position, the bits of clothes remaining in their hind .--Curran was a remarkably atlethic man; he held a piece of an Indian shirt still in his grash Thes were all decenty interred where they have at least what there was of them, for he turkey buzzards had taken toll be strictly adhered to. No paper will be discontinu sextons and worms. Their mourners fired a salvo of artillery into the adjoining thicket, but no war-whoop of the fee was blended with the echoes that answered. Their names were Horth 'G,' American; Foster 'E,' Curran, and Murtaugh, 'K.' Irish. I believe two tifles have been recovered, and one male. shot in tour places, retaken; two horses found dead and two missing; wagons, &r.' were burnt, and males shot in their harness -Many a heart turned sick as they gazed on the work o' demons, and many a yow was registered whose folfillmen' will bring sorrow and desolation into the cabins of our foes. "Can any one tell how long a trout fish will live '-Twenty-five years the past summer I came on the farm where I now am. -Almost the first work that I did after getting in my spring crops, was to drain a bog swamp, the outlet of which leads into the Croton river. I had an old Scotchman to do the ditening. One day he brought up a troot fish about the size of a man's little huger, in his whiskey jug, (by the by we used a little on the farm then.) I put it in the well near the house, and it is there now, grown to a goodly size-say about a foot long, and large in proportion. It has been fed but very little; once in a while some one throws in a grasshopper, or cricket, to see him catch it. and well is thirty feet deep, and water hard, then settles down nearly to the bottom, and then again rises to near the top. He has been taken out a few times to clean the well, but not for the last five years. Friday last, I got a grasshpper, the last one I expect to see this fall, and gave it to him. The water is now twenty-five feet deep, but it hardly touched the surface before he had it. If any one has a fish older than mine, I would like to know it.

AN EDITOR FARMING .- Cook of the Niles Republican, determined this season to raise his own potatoes. Accordingly he prepared half an acre of land, at a cost of $50. Ploughing, seed and planting cost $7 more making $57. A "surprising flood" camehis potatoes went under, and the half acre was again ploughed, dragged and seeded to buckwheat, at a further cost of $3 50, making $60 50. Cook and his "devil" have thrashed the buckwheat, and got ONE BUSHEL AND A HALF.

A Man who had both arms broken by a railroad accident, claiming damages, the company offered him a small sum of money, and a "free ticket over the road for life!" This was adding insult to injury. They evidently meant to kill him off altogether!

On a sailor's gravestone, in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, are the following words to be

"Nobly he did his duty below, and now he has gone aloft."

LEAP YEAR .- The girls will have fine times this year, if they choose to exercise the 'prerogative" accorded to them in leap year six centuries ago, and sanctioned by custom ever since. If they could induce Congress to enact some such act as the following, passed by the Scotch Parliment in the year of grace 1288, they might get many a gay bacheler in a bad place. The gallant Scotchmen of that age enacted as follows: "It is statut and ordaint that during the reine of her maist blissit Magestie, ilk fourth year, known aş leap year, ilk maiden layde of buth high and low estait shall hae liberty to bespeak ye, man she likes; albeit, gif he refuses to take hir to be his wif, he shall be mulcted in ye sum of ane pundis (1£) or less as his estait moi be, except and gif he can make it appear that he is betrothit to ane ither woman, that he shall then be free."

Hurra for the Scorch of six centuries ago. and-"woman's rights!"-Reading Journal.

A FUNNY ILLUSTRATION .- The Boston Post says a teacher of a primary school in that city, recently speaking of the difference netween human and brute expression, named by way of illustration the noble dog as next to man in intelligence, and asked her little pupils what mode a dog adopted to express gratfication. One little girl ventured to suggest that he wagged his tail. "Right, my dear," and the teacher, "very right; and this is the difference between us and the dogs; we never do as they do-we express our gratification in words."

Children amused by reading or study, are of course more considerate and more easily governed. How many parents, who have not spent twenty dollars for books for their families, would have given hundreds to reclaim " son or daughter who had ignorantly or thoughtlessly fallen into temptation .- Ohio Farmer.

Dr. Robinson was asked by Gov. Shannon, what the Free State men would do it commanded to deliver up their arms? --"Well," said the doctor, "I would propose a compromise-keep the rifles and give them the contents."

THERE are a quarter of a million of people in England at work in the different mines, o whom the fresh air and the light of the suc are scarcely known.
