A western magazine publishes a chapter of legal anecdotes characteristic of the fashjons in the law courts of those diggins, several of which are good enough to extract :-The first illustrates the ruling passion for "poker," even among Western members of the bar. The Court is in session, the Judge is on the bench, and the case of Smith vs. Brown is called up. "All ready!" shouts the counsel for defendant, but the counsel for the plaintiff does not respond. "Who's for the plaintiff?" inquires the Judge, somewhat impatiently, "May it please the court," says a rising member of the legal fraternity. "Pilkins is for the plaintiff, but I left him just now over in the tavern, playing a game of poker He's got a " sucker" there, and he's sure to skin him if he only has time. He's got the thing all set to wring in a "cold duck," in which case he will deal himself four aces and his opponent four queens so that your honor must perceive he must 'rake the persimons." The look of impatience vanished from the face of his Honor at once, and an expression of sorrow more than anger toook its place. At length, he said, with a heavy sigh, " Dear me, that's too bad! It happens at a very unfortunate time. I am very anxious to get on with these cases !" A brown study followed, and at length a happy idea struck the Judge. "Bill," said he, addressing the friend of the absent Pilkins, who had spoken, "you understand poker about as well as Pilkins-suppose you go over and play his hand!" At another time, counsel took some exception as to the ruling of the Court on a certain point, and a dispute arose. "If the Court pleases," said the counsel, " I wish to refer to this book a moment," at the same time picking up a large law volume. "There's no use o' your referring to any books," exclaimed the Court, angrily, " I have decided the pint !" "But, your Honor -' persisted the lawyer. "Now I don't want to hear anything further on the subject," yelled the Court. "I tell you again, I have decided the pint!" "I know that," was the rejoinder, "I am satisfied of thatbut this is a volume of Blackstone-I'm certain he differs with your Honor, and I only want to show you what a d-n fool Blackstone was!" "Ah, that indeed " exclaimed the Court, smiling all over, "now you begin to talk." On a similar occasion the affair did not end so happily. The Court decided a point adverse to the views of the counsel. Counsel was stubborn, and insisted that the court was wrong. "I tell you I am right!" yelled the Court, with flashing eyes. "I tell you, you are not!" retorted the counsel. " I am right !" reiterated the Court, " damn a nigger if I ain't !" " I say you sin't !" persisted the counsel. "Crier," yelled the judge, "I adjourn the court for ten min-utes!" and jumping from the bench, he pitched into the counsel, and after a very lively little fight placed him hors du combat, after which business was again resumed, but it was not long before another misunder standing arose. "Crier," said the Court, "we will adjourn this time for twenty minutes!" and he was about taking off his coat, when the counsel said, "Never mind, judge, keep your seat—the point is yielded—my thumb's out o' joint, and I've sprained my shoulder!"

Good Reading.

From the Weltsville Free Press.

Every family should be provided with good newspaper reading. Among political papers, the New York weekly editions of the Tribune, Times and Evening Post are worth five ach.

The National Era, the only true paper published at the seat of the Federal Government, is unrivaled as a reflex of just Republican sentiment, and its list should be doubled.

The Mating to the public REFERENCES.

The Medicine is now well known and appreciated, and will have a steady and increasing sale. I know of no preparation that can compare with it for the particular complaints for which it is designed. I am satisfied, by the use now haking of it is my own family, and hy almost every day's evidence of its lenefits to theirs, that it justly negrits the warnest recommendations its best friends have given of it.

Among reforamatory journals, in the anti-Slavery field, we know of no better than Frederick Douglass' Paper published at Rochester, at $1 50 per annum, and the Anti-Slavery Standard, New York, at the same price.

The Cayuga Chief, published at Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin, by T. W. and EMMA Brown, and the Teetotaller, of Utica, by WESLEY BAILEY, are both just as good Temperance journals as were ever gotten out .-Either of these may be had at $1 per year.

Of religious papers, the New York Independent, Congregational; the Sabbath Recorder, Baptist Seventh Day; the Northern Independent, Mr. Hosmer's new paper: and the Northern Christian Advocate, the first Methodist Episcopal Independent, and the latter Methodist Episcopal exclusively, are all most excellent journals.

a lady as Mrs. Malaprop would say, when all is agreeable, is a poor good-for-nought. Don't bungle the matter by five minute's tortue, like a cat playing with a mouse. Kiss deliberately—sensible all the time of the great duty you are performing-but remember also that a kiss is to be taken like champaign just fresh from the flask. Ah! then you get it in its airy and spiritual raciness. If you wish a sentimental kiss-and after all perhaps they are spiciersteal your arm around her waist, take her hand softly in your own then tenderly drawing her towards you, kiss her as you might imagine a zephyr to do it! We never exactly timed the accomplishment with a stop watch, but we've no doubt the affair might be managed very handsomely in ten seconds .-The exact where a lady should be kissed may be determined by the intersection of two imaginary lines, oue drawn perpendicularly down the centre of the face, and the other passing at right angles through the line of the mouth.

Messre Krane of Watson—I have to offer you my testimony in favor of the great security afforded to my entire stock of jewelry, books, papers, &c., during the recent disastrons confinguation in Rometed place, from the fact that the same were contained in two of the Salamander Safes manufactured by you. Having milen from the fifth story of the Artisan Building, where they were previously placed and exposed to a vast heat for a long time, the preservation of the valuable deposits seemed to every one who witnessed the opening and interfor examination, a matter of profound astonishment.
