His elevation, however, had made him somewhat pompous, and he became very fond of using big words. On his farm he had a large mischevious ox, called "Big Brindle," which frequently broke down his neighbor? fences, and committed other depredations. much to the Colonel's annoyance.

One morning after breakfast, in presence of some large gentlemen who had stayed with him over night, and were now on their way to town, he called his overseer, and said to

"Mr. Allen, I desire you to impound Big Brindle, in order that I may hear no more animadversion on his eternal depredations." Allen bowed and walked off, sorely puzzled to know what the Col. meant.

So after Col. W leit for town, he went to his wife and asked what Col. W. meant by telling him to " impound" the ox. "Why," said she "the Col. meant to tell you to put him in a pen."

Allen left to perform the feat, for it was no inconsiderable one, as the animal was very wild and vicicus, and after a great deal of trouble and vexation be succeeded.

! Well," said he, wiping the perspiration from his brow, and soliloquizing, " this is im-Now I'm dead sure the old pounding it." Col. will ask me if I have impounded Big Brindle, and I bet I'll puzzle him as bad as

The next day the Col, gave a dinner party, and as he was not aristocratic, Allen the overseer, sat down with the company. After the second or third glass was discussed, the Col. turned to the overseer, said:

"Eh, Mr. Allen, did you impound Big Brindle, sir "" Allen straightened himself, and looking around at the company, and said: "Yes, I did; but old Brindle transcended the impanel of the impound and scatterlophisticated all over the equanimity of the for-

The company burst into an immoderate fir of laughter, while the Col.'s face reddened with discomfiture.

"What do you mean by that, sir;" said "Why. I mean Colonel," said Allen, "that old Brindle being prognosticated with an idea of the cholery, ripped and tared, snorted and pawned dirt, jumped the sence, tuck to the woods, and would not be impounded no

This was too much; the company roared again, in which the Col. was forced to join, and in the midst of the laughter, Allen left the table, saying to himself as he went "! reckon the Col. won't ask me to impound any more oxen."

AMELIA SIMCOX unbosoms her wrongs as follows: "I married Simcox eight years ago, at which time my gowns were fastened by eight hooks and eyes. Now you will readily conceive that no woman can hookand-eye herself. Whilst a spinster, she obtains the aid of her sister, cousin, mother or Betty, the maid. When she becomes a married woman, the hook-and-eye duty natural ly devolves upon the husband. For the first year of my marriage, Simcox, like an affectionate husband, hook-and-eved the whole eight; the second year he somewhat peevishly restricted his attention to seven; the third to six, the fourth to five, the fifth to fourand so on decreasing, until this morning eighth anniversary of our wedding-when you would have supposed him possessed by the dearest and fondest recollections, he dropped another hook and eye, intimating to me that for the term of his natural life he should restrict himself to one-the top one. As I know you to have a crowd of female readers I thought it a duty I owed the sex to warn them, through the medium of your publication, of the crassiness, and, I must say it, the selfishness of man. They will, I hope, take warning by my condition, and ere they enter into matrimony, stipulate for a due performance of toilette attentions on the part of their husbands.'

Woman's Laugn .- A Woman has no natural grace more bewitching than a sweet laugh. It is like the sound of flutes on water. It leaps from her heart in a clear, sparkling rill, and the heast that hears it feels as if bathed in the exhibarating spring. Have you ever pursued an unseen fugitive through trees, led on by her fairy laugh-now here now there, now lost, now found? We have. And we are pursuing that wandering voice to this day. Sometimes it comes to us in the midst of care and sorrow, or irksomeness; and then we turn away and listen, and hear it ringing through the room like a silver bell with power to scare away the ill spirit of the mind. How much we owe to that sweet laugh! It turns the prose of our life into poetry, it flings showers of sunshine over the durksome wood in which we are traveling, it touches with light even our sleep, which which is no more the image of death, but is consumed with dreams that are the shadows of mortality.-Ex.

DELICATE.—The question at a tea-party turning upon the impropriety of one's mixing up cakes with a pinch of snuff in her fingers, fearing some might be scattered in the dough, a lad remarked that he had seen his mother mix cokes with a pinch of snuff in her fingers and not scatter a bit. "Why, Billy," rejoined the offended lady, " how you do lie!" "Well, mother, I don't know but I do," innocently replied the urchin, " I dont know but you scattered it a very little."

A rew days since, a barber offered a reward for instantly removing superfluous hair. Among the answers was one forwarded by a gentleman in Kingston. We give it-" Undertake to kiss a woman against her will."

WHENEVER we drink too deeply of pleasure, we find a sediment at the bottom which pollutes and embitters what we realized at first.

qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our Jewelry, Books, Papers, &c., exposed to the calamitons fire In Ranstoad Place, on the morning of the 11th Inst.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning rains, where the vast concentration of hear caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of the valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes. We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12, 1856.

Messrs Erans & Walson—I have to offer you my testimony in favor of the great security afforded to my entire stock of jewelry, books, papers, &c., during the recent disastrous contained in two of the Nalamander Safes manufactured by you. Having tallen from the fifth story of the Artisan Building, where they were previously placed and exposed to a vast heat for a long time, the preservation of th valuable deposits seemed to every one who witnessed the opening and interfor examination, a matter of profound astonishment.

To all who may require a perfect protection from the ravages of fire, I shall not hesitate to recommend the use of your Safes, as I consider they have now undergonethe most trying test.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14, 1856 Masses Erans & Walson—Gertlemen—No doubt you will be deeply gratified to learn the good condition in which I discovered my book, polley of insurance, certificates of stock, and other valuable documents, when on Friday last 1 opened the other valuative accuments, when on Friday last 1 opened the safe made by your firm.

With my knowledge of its great exposure, both to the intersity of the heat from so hot a fire as that which destroys

I could entertain but slender hopes prior to its interior inspection, that the contents which I once so highly prized would ever be of any service to me, but as these fears are now happily removed, I feel it only due to say to yon, that I can henceforth recommend the use of your Bafes to all who may wish to feel a couldence in the perfect security which such means provides against so frightful an element.

IMPROVEMENT EXTRAORDINARY. W E would respectfully call the attention of Mill owners and all interested in the use of water dower in this vicinity, to a patented Iron Water Wheel, (called Greenleaf's gravity and percussion Water Wheel,) one of which they have recently put in a Saw Mill owned by Judge White of Wellsboro and Dr. Archer of Morris township, and situated one and a fourth miles from Babb's Creek, on the Stony Fork. This wheel on Saturday the 7th inst. drove a single saw to saw five thousand and one hundred feet of white pine lumber; 4100 feet of which was one each in thickness, 400 feet 2 inches thick, 500 feet 11 inches thick. This Wheel used a very small quantity of water, only discharging about 90 square inches and with about 114 feet head and fall of water while performing the above. These Wheels are well adapted to the propelling of all kinds of Machinery driven by Water power. They are very simple and substantial in their construction. and will do from one third to one half more work than any other Iron Water Wheel in operation in this vicinity with which they are acquainted. They offer for sale on very liberal terms the patent right for Counties or States, and also to furnish and put in operation the Wheels in Mills in this vicinity on reasonable terms. For further information address A. Greenleaf, Morris township, Babbs Post Office, or L. Vance care of P. P. Cleaver Wellsboro' Tioga Co.
