DANGEROUS EXPERIMENT. An accident day; at Madame Tassaud's exhibition. A medical audent, examining the guillotine in the Chambern of Horrors, ctook it into ms head that the sort of yoke which fits down on the shoulders of the criminal, to hold him in his price, would not be sufficient to confide a person who struggled. His curiosity on this point led him to watch till the place was empty, and aerually put himself in letting down the yole. He soon found that he may quite unable to tile it, and it at once flushed into his mind that the sharp axe which was suspended over the neck could not be firmly fixed, or it would not fall (as it does) within touch. He was afroid to struggle, fest mbe below him, into which his eyes were negessarily steadily looking.

Having stayed some time in this plight he was overloyed to hear the approach of the visitor, whom he suppliantly implored terrelease him. "I'm thinking," said the gentle-man (a Scotch visitor of the metropolis) to his wife, "I'm thinking he must be hired to show how the thing acts, and I think we'd better not interfere." So the luckless student axe has been removed and laid by the side, to prevent future accidents .- London Weekly Register.

THE OSTRICH. - The cry of the ostrich so generally resembles that of a lion as occusignally to deceive even the natives. It is usually heard early in the morning, and at times, also, at night. The strength of the ostrich is enormous. A single blow from his gignnic foot, (it always_strikes forwards) is sufficient to prostrate, nay to kill, many beasts of prey, such as the hyena, the panther, the wild dog, the jackal and others. The ostrich is exceeding swift of foot, under ordinary circumstances outrunning a fleet borse.

"What time she lifteth up herself on high, she scorneth the horse and the rider," special occasions, and for a short distance, its speed is truly marvellous-perhaps not much less than a mile in a half of a minute. Its feet appear hardly to touch the ground, and the length between each stride is not unfrequently twelve to fifteen seet. Indeed, if we are to credit the testimony of Mr. Adamson, who says he witnessed the fact in Senegal such is the rapidity and muscular power of let us live as men who are sometime to grow the ostrich, that, even with two men mounted on his back, he will outstrip an English horse in speed! The ostrich, moreover, is long winded, if we may use the expression; so that it is a work of time to exhaust the bird. The food of the estrich in its wild state, conaists of seeds, tops, and buds of various kinds of plants; but it is difficult to conceive how it can manage to live at all, for one not unfrequently meets with it in regions apparently destitute of vegetation of every kind .- Anderson's Africa.

None Stand Alone.—It is the providence of God that none shall stand alone; we touch each other; man acts on man, heart on heart; we are bound up with each, other; hand is joined in pand: wheel sets wheel in motion we are spiritually linked together, arm within arm; we cannot live alone, nor die alone we cannot say, I will only run risks with my own soul; I am prepared to disobey the Lord for such a pleasure or such a gain, but I do vants on their fellow-servants; parents on their children; masters on those they employ; friends on friends. Even when we do not design to influence others, when we are not thinking, in the least degree, of the effect of what we do, when we are unconscious that we have nov influence at all, when we do not wish our conduct or way of life to affect any but ourselves, our manner of life, our conversation, out deeds, are all the while having weight somewhere or somehow; /our feet leave their impression, though we may not look behind us to see the mark .- Sermons for Christian Seasons,

A VILLAGE SOLDNON IN FRANCE, -- Some of the inhabitants of Malicorne, near Commentry, complained to the Mayor that their geese had been stolen by a dealer, but as he had mixed them with a flock of his own, it was impossible to recognize them. The city Hon.A. WParsons, Philadelphia. July 12. Mayor, a shrewd, hard working peasant, solemply ordered all the geese to be placed in carts, and sent to some little distance from the village. The villagers wondered greatly what this could mean, and even ventured to mutter suspicions of the mayor's wisdom and probity. But the functionary took no notice of these remarks, but stalked solemnly off with the carts. Arrived at the spot he had indicated, he cried to the driver to "stop!" and with great dignity, added, "Now let loose !the geese-those that have been stolen will make their way back to their owner's farm yards, those that belong to the dealer will remain. This was done, and lo! as the village Solomon had said, the stolen geese waddled gravely homeward, to the great astonishment of the simple villagers! The dishanest dealer was arrested.

ROGUERY OF A CHINAMAN.—A shopkeeper in California, employed a Chinese to paint him a sign, in Chinese characters, for a shop at the diggings. Then the sign was put up, the shopkeeper patiently awaited; for the expected influx of the relations of the sun and moon. To his surprise, however, although many approached the placard and read it, all without exception, passed by with broad grins on their face. Suspecting that all was not right, he took down the mysicrious sign, and availed himself of the first opportunity of trying to obtain a translation, This he found a difficulty in getting, every Chinaman to whom he showed it refusing to satisfy him

Is THERE A MARKSTROET -IPhis question which, though comic enough, might easily has again been raised by a correspondent of the Scientific American. Every school boy of the last comic and the scientific American. thin there is a wonderful cortex on the coast diameter and that and the hold of the hilles the were sometimes dragged within its terrible liquid coils, and buried forever "in ocean's awful depths." The correspondent of the Scientific American says: 2746 "I have been informed by an European acquaintance that the Manlatrom, that great whirlpool on the coast of Norway, laid down in all geographies, and of which we have all heard such wonderful stories, had no existence. He told me that a nautical and scientilia commission, composed of recycles anshaking should bring it down, and at once tlemen appointed by the Kingion Danmark, deposit his head in the basket of saw dost was sent to appreach as mean as possible to the edge of the whirlpool, sail around in, measure its circumference, observe its action, and make a report. They went out, and sniled all around and all over wherevihe Maelstrome was said to be, but could not find it; the sea was as smooth where the while pool ought to be as any other part of the German ocean," ... mining the distribution ... The latest geographies and gazetteers barely allude was lest till Madame Tassaud came in, and to the maelstrom. Colion in his large atlas, made fast the axe before releasing him. The gives the site upon the map, but does not allude to it in his description of Norway,-Harper's Gazetteersin its article on Norway says that "among the numerous islands on the West const there; are giolent and triegular currents, which render the coast navigation dangerous. Among these is the celebrated Mal-Strom, or Meskenæs-Strom; the danger from which has been greatly exaggerated, since it can, at nearly all times, be passed over even by boats." The romance of the macistrom has been pretty effectively destroyed. Boston Journal.

> THE DUTIES OF YOUTH. The first year of man must make provision for the last. He that never thinks, never can be wise. Perperual levity ends in ignorance; and intem-perance, though it may live the spirits for an hour, will make life short and miserable. Let us consider that youth is of no long duration, and that in mature age, when the enchantments of fancy shall cease, and phantoms of delight dance no more about us, we shall have no comforts but the esleem of wise men, and the means of doing good; let us, therefore, stop, while to stop is in our power old, and to whom it will be the most dreadful of all to count, their past years by follies, and to be reminded of their former luxuriance of health only: by the maladies which riot has produced.

> READY-MADE SHIRTS.—There is nitree in the South Sea Islands, says Humboldi, which produces ready-made shirts. The natives cut off pieces of the tree about two feet long, from which then draw off the fibrous bark as boys draw off the bark of chestnuts to make whistles. Each man selects a tree near his own diameter, so that the shirt may be a good fit. When the bark is off, they cut in hole in each circle to admit his arms. The shirts > do not require any washing, starching and ironing, and a more convenient article for loafers could not be imagined. The same country produces breadfruit, so that a fellow can get his board and clothing graffs.

DECENCY is a matter of latitude. In Turno: want to implicate others; I only want to key a man with tight pants on is considered be answerable for myself. This cannot be, so great a vulgarian that he is not tolerated Buggys & Lumber Wagons, Each living soul has its influence on others in respectable society. To spit in presence in some way and to some extent, consciously of an Arab is to make the acquaintance of or unconsciously; cach has some power, his cheese knife. In Russia that man is conmore or less, direct or indirect; one mind sidered low who refuses a warm breakfast of cotors another; a child acts on children seer- fried candles. In this country vulgar people are such as keep good hours and live within their income.

To the public we would simply say, that, during the four-teen years the Herring's safe had been before them, more than two hundred have passed through accidental fires without the occurrence of a single loss.

We would therefore, caution purchasers against the mirropresentation of interested payties. The Herring's Patent is the only Pire-proof Safe made in this city which is protected by a Patent Right, and we will guarantee it to resist most than double the amount of heat of any other safe now known.
