THE TIOGA COUNTY AGITATOR.

it failing fire, he rushed upon him and struck him with his weapon. They were separated, and Sherrard then drews another pistol, and advanced upon Jones, whom he had previously insulted because he was a member of the Governor's household. Jones, perceiving his danger, drew a pistol in self-defense; a number of show were then fired at the same time, and Sherrard fell. The Governor says that the account of the affair published. in The Republican, as furnished by some Mr. Jones, is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end.

Among other things, the Governor complains most bitterly of the annoyances which he suffered in the obstruction and mutilation of his correspondence." The mail hags, he save, were constantly opened, and all communications to and from him systematically overhauled, and if objectionable, abstracted. Mr. McClain, Chief Olerk in the Surveyor-General's Office, bassted of the fact, and stated that he himself had destroyed and suppressed two bushels of mail matter.

The above is merely an abstract of the Governor's statements. - There are a multitude of interesting details which we are comcelled to omit. His private Secretary Mr. Gibon, has promised us a full and complete recital of the entire history of the administration, which we shall in due season present to our readers.

In view of these things, and under the operation of the act of the Ruffian Legislature, which provides for the election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention, administered as it will be by the dominant faction, who hold all the offices, he thinks it inevitable that a Slavery Constitution will be established in Kansas.

The Governor is, probably, correct ; but nevertheless it is one thing to frame a Pro-Slavery instrument, and another to establish the institution de facto in the Territory. The friends of Free Labor in the North must redouble their efforts.

The nomination of DAVID WILMOT for Governor of Pennsylvania is a bold step on the part of the Republicans; and we trust this is one of the numerous instances wherein courage is the truest prudence. Mr. Wilmot's PATENT CHAIR MANUFACTURERS name is a landmark in the history of our age. It was he who in 1846 moved in the House the famous Proviso that the blood and treasure of the American People should not be poured out to add to the Slave Territory of this Republic. It was he who in 1848 led in Pennsylvania the Democratic revolt under the standard of Van Buren and Free Soil. His speeches for Free Labor and Fremont were among the most cogent and effective of the many good ones which irradiated the late Presidential canvass. An earnest and tenacious Democrat, he did not hesitate to renounce the party organization to which he was devoted when he found its further support irreconcilable with his allegiance to vital Democratic principle. Mr. Wilmot ought to be next Governor of Pennsylvania, and his election would redound to her enduring honor. It would show that the indignities heaped on Reeder and on Geary by the Slave Power are not unresented-that she is not unmindful of her sons who have been subjected to outrage and spoliation in Kansas for merely seeking to make her a Fiee State .--The election of David Wilmot to the Governorship of Pennsylvania would be the proper response of the Free States to the atrocious Dred Scott decision

"Mr. Millward, who has been nominated by the Convention for Canal Commissioner, by the Convention for Canal Commissioner, different states of the last convention of the last Congress from economy (in space as well as price.) Whether in the Third District. His career in Congress sickness or health, this oclebrated CHAIR excels in proved so satisfactory to both the Republi. many respects, any chair perhaps over manufactured cans and Americans of his district, that they nominated him again, and supported him finish heartily. Mr. Millward was a member of the American party, and supported Fillmore and Donelson, but he united in the effort to carry the State for the Union electoral ticket. He is a man of capacity, firmness of purpose, and well calculated to do justice to the business of the Canal Board.

For Judges of the Supreme Court, the Convention has nominated two eminently suitable candidates. Mr. Veech is one of the ablest lawyers in the western part of the State .--Several years ago he was the choice of a number of Western members of the Legislature for United States Senator, a position which he would have filled with dignity and usefulness. Mr. Lewis is one of the men of mark in the County of Chester. Here in Philadelphia he is well known to many as a person of clear, forcible mind, enlarged acquirements, and very decided talent. Two such Judges as James Veech and Joseph J. Lewis would add very materially to the judicial strength of the present bench."

If Pennsylvania is to be carried next Octoper for the principles of the American Rovolution, the work must be commenced nowoot by mass meetings and exciting speeches, but by quiet organization and the systematic diffusion of important truth. We trust the layorable season will not be suffered to pass unimproved .- N. Y. Tribune.
