ELEVEN YEARS A SLAVE .- The following paragraph is from the Westchester, Pa. Village Record:

"We mentioned in the last Record that James Henry, a colored man, born in Westchester, had been kidnapped, sold as a slave, and remained in bondage, in Virginia, until he made his escape, a period of eleven years. Since our publication Henry has called at our office, and detailed a considerable portion of his experience. He is a light complected negro, and his father being a preacher, he was taught to read and write. He has a good address, and is fluent of tougue. In 1833, at ten years of age, he entered the U.S. Navy, where he remained eight or ten years, and was discharged as a first class seaman, with a medal for good conduct. After being on shore for some time, he engaged as a seaman on board a vessel bound for the West Indies. The captain of this vessel, having sailed, anchored on the coast of Virginia, took him ashore in a boat, and telling him he would shortly be back, pushed off to the ship, and lest him on shore. The captain did not return, and Henry soon found that he wes claimed and treated as a slave; he was knocked down and ironed, and in company with various other negroes was marched off to the South and sold. They traveled during

But the South soon got the bigger share o the black robes, and kept them. Of the thirty eight who have sat there in judgment, twenty two were nurtured "on plantation." Slave States have been masters of the Court fifty-seven years, the Free States but eleven The Free States have had the majority only seven years, this century. Even the Free A.
