

The Baltimore Oriole.

From the singularity of the nest of this species, from its brilliant color and its preferring the apple trees, weeping willows, walnut and tulip trees to build on, it is generally known and is, as usual, honored with a variety of names, such as hang-nest, hanging-bird, golden robin, fire-bird, &c., but more generally the Baltimore bird. Few of the American orioles equal this in the construction of their nests; he gives them, in a superior degree, warmth, convenience and security. He generally fixes on the high bending extremities of the branches, fastening strong strings of hemp or flax round two forked twigs; with the same materials he fabricates a strong, firm kind of cloth, not unlike the substance of a hat in its raw state, forms it into a pouch six or eight inches in depth, lining it substantially with soft substances well interwoven with the outward netting, and lastly finishes with a layer of horse hair—the whole being shaded from the sun and rain by a natural pent-house, or canopy of leaves.

The birds of this species have all a common form of building, but they do not build in exactly the same manner. Great difference will be found in the style, neatness in finishing the nest. Some are far superior workmen to others. So solicitous is the Baltimore to procure proper materials for his nest, that the women in the country must narrowly watch the thread that may be bleaching; and the farmer must secure his grails as this bird will carry off the former and the strings that tie the latter, to serve his purposes in building.

The principal food of the Baltimore consists of beetles, caterpillars, and bugs—particularly one of a brilliant, glassy green. His song is a clear, mellow whistle, repeated at intervals, as he gleams among the branches. There is in it a certain wild playfulness and naive extremely interesting. It is not uttered with the rapidity of our eminent songsters, but with the pleasing tranquillity of a careless phlegmy, whistling merrily for his own amusement. When alarmed by an approach to his nest, he makes a kind of rapid chirping very different from his usual note. He inhabits North America from Canada to Mexico, and is found as far south as Brazil. It is seven inches long; the head, throat, upper part of the back and wings are black; lower part of the back and whole under parts are bright orange, deepening into vermilion on the breast; the back is also divided by a band of orange, the tail is black and orange. The plumage of the female is lighter and duller than that of the male. These birds are several years in completing their plumage.

A THREE DOLLAR WIFE.—Wm. Snow advertises through the Albany Times the loss of his wife Mary, and offers a reward of three dollars for her return. He says she is of middle size, light complexion, freckled, short hair, trimmed behind, and beau-chic; is about fifteen years of age, of a loving disposition, and had on three rattan hoops. Who's seen her?

HERRING'S SAFE. THE ACKNOWLEDGED CHAMPION.

THE RECENT TRIALS at Reading have endorsed the current of public opinion, and confirmed the verdict of more than 200000 spectators, proving conclusively that "Herring's" is the ONLY SAFE that will not burn.

Extract from the Committee's Report on the Trial of Iron Safes at Reading: "On the 26th of February all the members of the committee met to witness the Safes and books and papers, (placed in them) and were perfectly satisfied that all was right. The day following, the burning took place, under the supervision of the Committee. After a fair and impartial burning for five hours, the Safe of Messrs Evans & Watson was first opened, the Safe being on fire inside, and the contents partially consumed, while the contents in the Safe of Messrs Farrels & Herring were in good condition, and no fire inside."

Reading, March 2, 1857. (Signed.) H. P. FELIX, P. N. COLEMAN, A. H. PEACOCK, Committee.

And endorsed by over 50 of the best men of Reading. The above Safe can be inspected at 34 Water Street where the public can satisfy themselves of the great superiority of the "Herring's Patent Champion" over the defeated and set-up "double Iron Book Chamber."

FABRICS & HERRING, 34 Water Street, Philadelphia.

Only Makers in this State of Herring's Patent Champion Safes. The safe which has failed so signally in accidental fires in Philadelphia, (Ranstead Place) by taking out one of an agent's store (H. A. Lantz's) made double thickness (different from those they sell) "burns up" one of Herring's (half as thick) has met with its true reward. Herring's Safe could not be burnt, proving conclusively that the only reliable Safe now made is "Herring's" of which over 15,000 are now in actual use, and more than 200 have been tried by fire without being lost.

EVANS & WATSON, PHILADELPHIA. Manufacturer of Reading Railroad Safes, No. 26 S. Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

Truth is Mighty and must Prevail. Report of the Committee appointed to superintend the Burning of the Iron Safes at Reading, Feb. 27, 1857.

"The undersigned, members of the committee, do respectfully report, that we saw the two Safes originally agreed upon by Farrels & Herring and Evans & Watson, placed side by side in a furnace, viz: The Safe in use by the Paymaster of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, in his office at Reading, manufactured by Farrels & Herring; and the safe in use by H. A. Lantz, in his store, manufactured by Evans & Watson, and put in books and papers precisely alike.

The fire was started at 8 1/2 o'clock A. M., and kept up until four cords of green hickory, two cords dry oak and half chestnut log wood were entirely consumed, the whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, members of the Committee. The Safes were then cooled off with water, after which they were opened and the books and papers taken out by the Committee and sent to H. A. Lantz's store for public examination, after they were first examined and marked by the Committee. The books and papers taken from the Safe manufactured by Evans & Watson were but slightly affected by the intense heat, while those taken from the Safe manufactured by Farrels & Herring, were in our judgment, damaged fully fifteen per cent more than those taken from Evans & Watson's Safe.

We believe the above to have been a fair and impartial trial of the respective qualities of both Safes. JACOB H. DYSTER, DANIEL S. HUNTER, G. A. NICHOLS, H. H. MULENBERG, JAMES MILHOLLAND, EVANS & WATSON have now on hand 300,000 pounds of the above Safes, which they offer for sale on better terms than any other Manufacturer in the United States.

The following named gentlemen, residents of Reading and its vicinity, who saw the above fire, have purchased Safes from Evans & Watson since the burning up to May 1st, 1857.
