

Irish Drollery.

An amusing story of Daines Barrington, Recorder of Bristol, is related by one of the British press. Having to appear for the plaintiff in a case of the winter assize at Clonmel, he "let into" the defendant in no measured terms. The individual inveighed against not being present, only heard of the investives. After Barrington, however, had got back to Dublin, the Tipperary man lost no time in paying his compliments to the counsel. He rode all day and all night, and covered with sleet, arrived before Barrington's residence, in Harcourt street, Dublin. Throwing the bridle of his smoking horse over the railing of the area, he announced his arrival by a thundering knock at the door, which nearly shook the street. Barrington's valet answered the summons, and opening the street door, beheld the apparition of a rough coated Tipperary fire-eater, with a large stick under his arm, and the steet sticking to his bushy whiskers.

"Is your master up," demanded the visitor in a voice that gave some intimation of the object of his journey.

"No," answered the man.

"Then give him my compliments, and say Mr. Foley (he'll know the name) will be glad to see him."

The valet went up stairs and told his master, who was in bed, and the purport of his visit.

"Then don't let Mr. Foley in for your life," said Barrington, "for it is not a hare and a brace of ducks he has come to present me with."

The man was leaving the bedroom, when a rough wet coat pushed by him, while a thick voice said, "by your leave;" at the same moment Mr. Foley entered the bedroom.

"You know my business, sir," said he to Barrington: "I have made a journey to teach you minners, and it is not my purpose to return until I have broken every bone in your body;" at the same time he cut a figure-eight with his shillelah, before the cheval glass.

"You do not mean to say you would murder me in bed," exclaimed Daines, who had as much honor as cool courage.

"No," replied the other, "but get up as soon as you can."

"Yes," replied Daines, "that you might feel me the moment I put my body out of the blankets."

"No," replied the other. "I pledge you my word not to touch you till you are out of bed."

"You want?"

"Upon your honor?"

"On my honor."

"That is enough," said Daines, turning over and making himself very comfortable, and seeming as though he meant to fall asleep. "I may rest as safe as though I were under the castle guard."

The Tipperary Salamander looked marvelously astonished at the pretended sleeper but soon Daines began to snore.

"Halloo!" said Foley, "aren't you going to get up?"

"No," said Daines, "I have the honor of an Irish gentleman that he will not strike me in bed, and I am sure I am not going to get up again. In the meantime, Mr. Foley, if you should want your breakfast, ring the bell; the best in the house is at your service. The morning paper will be here presently, but be sure to air it before reading, for there is nothing from which a man so quickly catches cold as reading a damp journal;" and Barrington once more affected to go to sleep.

The Tipperary man had fun in him as well as ferocity; he could not resist the cunning of the counsel, so, laughing aloud, he exclaimed:

"Get up, Mr. Barrington, for in bed or out of bed, I have not the heart to hurt so droll a gentleman."

The result was that in less than an hour afterwards, Daines and his intended murderer were sitting down to a warm breakfast, the latter intent only upon assauiting a dish of smoking chops.

Here's a gem from Dombey that will never grow dim: "She died," said Polly, "and was never seen again, for she was buried in the ground where the tress grow."

"In the cold ground!" said the child.

"No; the warm ground," replied Polly, "where the seeds are turned into beautiful flowers, and where good people turn into angels, and fly away to heaven."

GOT IT OFF HER MIND.—Children and fools, says an old adage, always tell the truth. "Mother sent me," said a little girl to a neighbor, "to come and ask you to take tea with her this evening." "Did she say at what time my dear?" "No ma'am; she only said she would ask you, and then the thing would be off her mind; that's all she said."

It may seem strange, but it is a fact, that men generally are much more afraid of women than women of men; and fearing to "break the ice" is a fruitful cause of old bachelors.

BUCHU LEAVES are procured from the southern part of Africa. The Hottonots at the Cape of Good Hope have long used this article as a remedy in a variety of diseases. From them the medicine was borrowed by the English and Dutch physicians residing there and by their recommendation it was soon employed in Europe. In process of time this medicine has come into general use, and is highly spoken of by the best medical writers. Physicians recommend it mostly for complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, a morbid irritation of the bladder and urethra, retention of urine, and inflammation of the bladder, and of the testicles and urinary organs. It cools the inflamed heat and relieves pain; and in many cases of long standing it has been effectual when other valuable medicines had failed to produce an effect. The active principle of this medicine is a volatile oil which is mostly lost by the old process of boiling. Hence it requires great care and skillful management to prepare this medicine properly.

FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU is a strong or concentrated preparation prepared by the new process called "Distillation." By this the valuable properties of the Buchu are entirely preserved, and this form of the medicine is less liable to injury from age and more palatable. HERRING'S SAFE.

THE "ACKNOWLEDGED" CHAMPION. THE RECENT TRIALS at Reading have endorsed the current of public opinion, and confirmed the verdict of more than 200 accidental fires, reporting conclusively that "Herring's" is the ONLY SAFE that will not burn.

Extract from the Committee's Report on the Trial of Iron Safes at Reading.

"On the 26th of February all the members of the committee met to witness the Safes and books and papers, (placed in them) and were perfectly satisfied that all was right. The day following, the burning took place, under the superintendence of the Committee. After a fair and impartial burning for five hours, the Safe of Messrs Evans & Watson was first consumed, the Safe being on fire inside, and the contents of it fully consumed, while the contents of the Safe of Messrs Farrels & Herring were in good condition, and no fire inside."

Reading, March 2, 1857. (Signed), H. F. FELIX, } Committee. A. H. PEACOCK, }

And endorsed by over 50 of the best men of Reading. The above Safes can be inspected at Walnut Street, where the public can satisfy themselves of the great superiority of the "Herring's Patent Champion" over the defunct and useless "Safes" from other Manufacturers.

FARRELS & HERRING, 34 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. Only Makers in this State of Herring's Patent Champion Safes.

The attempt made by other parties to bolster up the reputation of a Safe which has failed so signally in accidental fires in Philadelphia, (Banstead Place), by taking one out of Herring's store, (4th and Chestnut), and making a double charge of it, (burn up) one of Herring's, (half as thick) has met with its true reward. Herring's Safe could not be burnt, proving conclusively that the only reliable Safe now made is "Herring's" of which over 15,000 are now in actual use, and more than 200 have been tried by fire July 15, 1857. ly.

EVANS & WATSON, PHILADELPHIA Manufacturer of Salamander Safes, No. 26 S. Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

Truth is Mighty and must Prevail. Report of the Committee appointed to superintend the Burning of the Iron Safes, at Reading, Feb. 27, 1857.

The undersigned, members of the committee, do respectfully report, that we saw the two Safes originally agreed upon by Farrels & Herring and Evans & Watson, placed side by side in a furnace, viz: The Safe in use by the Paymaster of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, in his office at Reading, manufactured by Farrels & Herring, and the safe in use by H. A. Lantz, in his store, manufactured by Evans & Watson, and put in books and papers precisely alike.

The fire was started at 8 1/2 o'clock, A. M., and kept up until four cords of green hickory, two cords dry oak and half chestnut top wood were entirely consumed, the whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, members of the Committee. The Safes were then cooled off with water, after which they were opened and the books and papers taken by the Committee and sent to H. A. Lantz's store for public examination, after they were first examined and marked by the Committee. The books and papers taken from the Safe manufactured by Evans & Watson were but slightly affected by the intense heat, while those taken from the Safe manufactured by Farrels & Herring, were in our judgment, damaged fully fifteen per cent more than those taken from Evans & Watson's Safe.

We believe the above to have been a fair and impartial trial of the respective qualities of both Safes. JACOB H. DYSTER, DANIEL S. HUNTER.

Having been absent during the burning, we fully coincide with the above statement of the condition of the papers and books taken out of their respective Safes. G. H. NICHOLLS, H. H. MUEHLBERG, JAMES MIHOLLAND.

EVANS & WATSON have now on hand 300,000 pounds of the above Safes, which they offer for sale on better terms than any other Manufacturer in the United States.

The following named gentlemen, residents of Reading and its vicinity, who saw the above fire, have purchased Safes from Evans & Watson since the burning up to May 1, 1857.
