

Editorial Duties.

It has been often remarked, and very truthfully too, that a man to write well must think well; and that, in order to do either, even conceding the ability, and, equally important—something to write about—he must have time. And yet a class of readers are quick to condemn the least falling off in editorial interest, and appear to regard an editor as a mere machine, out of which can be incessantly ground every variety of reading, at the mere will of the operator, or to gratify their own capricious demands. No matter what the drawbacks—whether perplexed with a thousand business or domestic cares, whether his body be scorched with fever, or his head racked with pains; whether there is a perfect profusion of startling events, or a gloomy dearth of occurrences—he is expected to be unflinching in his daily contributions, both in quality and interest! To minister each day to a mass of readers, and to strive to do it acceptably, is our delight. We love our profession, and will be as indefatigable in our labors to interest our patrons as we can; but we are no steam engine, that does not tire, and cannot perform pack-horse labor without sometimes becoming overburdened and occasionally flagging by the way side. If people could but think or know of the multitude of cares and anxieties incident to editorial life, they would be less exacting and withhold their censurable expressions when the columns of a paper fall short of their approbation.—Could they know of the large list of exchanges to be daily culled over, the communications to be examined, criticised and corrected—proof-sheets to be read, and the amount of copy which must be furnished from a hundred different sources, they would cease to regard an occasional relaxation from editorial labor as the result of indifference or idleness, and be prepared only to express a wonder how such an amount of diversified duties can be performed in a continuous round.—Harisburg Telegraph.

AN ARKANSAS FATHER'S ADVICE TO HIS SON.—"Bob you are about leaving home for strange parts. You are going to throw me out of the game, and go it alone. The odds are against you, Bob, but remember always that industry and perseverance are the winning cards; they are the "browsers." Book learning and all that sort of thing will do to fill up with, like small trumps, but you must have the bower to back 'em, else they ain't worth shooks. If luck runs again you pretty strong, don't cave in and look like a sick chicken on a rainy day, but hold your head up, and make them believe you are flush of trumps. They won't play so hard again 'you. I have lived and traveled round some, Bob, and I have found out as soon as folks thought you held a weak hand they'd all back again you strong. So, when you're sarter weak, keep on a bold front, but play cautious. Be satisfied with a pint. Many's the hand I've seen euchered 'cause they played for too much. Keep your eyes well skinned, Bob; don't let 'em "nig" you. Recollect the game lays as much with the head as with the hand. Be temperate; never get drunk, for then no matter how good your hand, you won't know how to play it; both bowers and the ace won't save you, for there's sartin to be a "misdeal" or something wrong. And another thing, Bob (this was spoken in a low tone) don't go too much on the women; queens is kinder poor cards; the more you have of them, the worse for you; you might have 'em all; if you get hold of one that's a trump, it's all good, and there's sartin to be one out of four. And above all, Bob, be honest, never take a man's trick wot don't belong to you, no "slip cards," nor "nig," (or then you can't look your man in the face and when that's the case, there's no fun in the game; it's regular "cut throat.") So now, Bob, farewell; remember wot I tell you, and you'll be sure to win, and if you don't, it serves you right if you get "skunked."

BALM TALK.—A good story is told of a Bostonian's first appearance in public society in Arkansas, which might be applicable to this city. The company were engaged in dancing, but the loveliest female present occupied a chair at the window without a partner. Stepping up to the lady, with a palpitating heart, his mind greatly excited for fear of refusal, he exclaimed: "Will you do me the honor to grace me with your company for the next set?" Her lustrous eyes shone with unwonted brilliancy, her pearl white teeth glistened in the flickering candle light, her snowy bosom rose and fell with joyful rapture, as she replied: "Yes sir—er! for I have sot, and sot, and sot, till I have about tuk root!"

SPECIE HOARDED.—There never was a period in the history of our country, when so much specie was hoarded as at the present time. Indeed it is contended by the N. Y. Evening Post, that the specie now in the United States exceeds the bank note circulation. It is estimated that there is about $200,000,000 of coin outside of the banks and in the hands of the people. The amount in the banks is estimated at $60,000,000, making a total of $260,000,000. The Secretary of the Treasury puts down the bank note circulation at $214,000,000. The country is certainly rich. Confidence is all that is wanted to bring it out.

The wife of a painter in Syracuse died the other day. Among the sympathizing friends was a young lady from Auburn, a stranger to him. The sympathy of this young lady made such an impression upon the heartbroken husband that the next day after the funeral he consoled himself by taking her to his arms.

A city tradesman, having sold his piano, in consequence of the hard times, is now learning his daughter to play on the washboard. The music is not quite so pleasant, but much more to the purpose.

A rural poet, in describing his lady-love says, "She is graceful as a water lily, while her breath is like an armful of clover." This poet's case is certainly approaching a crisis.

FORGETTING HER.—"Peter, I fear you are forgetting me," said a bright eyed girl to her sweet heart, the other day. Yes, Deb, I have been for getting you these two years."

BUCHU LEAVES are procured from the southern part of Africa. The Hotentots at the Cape of Good Hope have long used this article as a remedy in a variety of diseases. From them the medicine was borrowed by the English and Dutch physicians residing there and by their recommendation it was soon employed in Europe. In process of time the medicine has come into general use, and is highly spoken of by the best medical writers. Physicians recommend it mostly for complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, a morbid irritation of the bladder and urethra, retention of urine, also incontinence of urine from want of tone in the urinary organs. It cools the unnatural heat and relieves pain; and in many cases of long standing it has been effectual when other valuable medicines had failed to produce an effect. The active principle of this medicine is a volatile oil which is mostly lost by the old process of boiling. Hence it requires great care and skillful management to prepare this medicine properly.

HERRING'S SAFE.
THE ACKNOWLEDGED CHAMPION.
THE RECENT TRIALS at Reading have endorsed the current of public opinion, and confirmed the verdict of more than 200 substantial men, proving conclusively that "Herring's" is the ONLY SAFE that will not burn.

On the 25th of February all the members of the committee met to witness the safe and books and papers, (placed in them) and were perfectly satisfied that all was right. The day following, the burning took place, under the superintendence of the Committee. After a fair and impartial burning for five hours, the safe of Messrs Evans & Watson was first opened, the safe being on fire inside, and the contents partially consumed, while the contents in the safe of Messrs Farrels & Herring were in good condition, and no fire inside.
Reading, March 2, 1857.
(Signed), H. F. FELIX, Chairman, R. N. CLEMEN, Committee, A. H. PEACOCK.

And endorsed by over 50 of the best men of Reading. The above safe can be purchased in any city where the public can satisfy themselves of the great superiority of the "Herring Patent Champion" over the defeated and used-up "inside burning" safe.
FARRELS & HERRING, 34 Walnut Street, Philad'a.
Only Makers in this State of Herring's Patent Champion Safes. The attempt made by other parties to imitate the construction of a safe which has failed so signally in accidental fires in Philadelphia, (Ranstead Place) by taking one of our agents' stores, (A. Lantz) in Philadelphia, and burning it, (different from those they sell) to "burn-up" one of Herring's, (half as thick) has met with its true reward. Herring's safe does not burn, proving conclusively that the only reliable safe now made is "Herring's" of which over 15,000 are now in actual use, and more than 200 have been tried by fire without a single loss.
July 13, 1857-ly.

EVANS & WATSON, PHILADELPHIA Manufacturers of the Patent Safes, No. 26 S. Fourth Street, Philad'a.
Truth is Mighty and must Prevail.
Report of the Committee appointed to superintend the Burning of the Iron Safes, at Reading, Feb. 27, 1857.

The undersigned, members of the committee, do respectfully report, that we saw the two Safes originally agreed upon by Farrels & Herring and Evans & Watson, placed side by side in a furnace, viz: The safe in use by the Paymaster of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, in his office at Reading, manufactured by Farrels & Herring, and the safe in use by H. A. Lantz, in his store, manufactured by Evans & Watson, and put in books and papers precisely alike.

The fire was started at 3 1/2 o'clock, A. M., and kept up until four o'clock, green hickory, two cords dry oak and half chestnut top wood were entirely consumed, the whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, members of the Committee. The Safes were then cooled off with water, after which they were opened and the books and papers taken out by the Committee and sent to H. A. Lantz's store for public examination, after they were first examined and marked by the Committee. The books and papers taken from the safe manufactured by Evans & Watson were but slightly affected by the intense heat, while those taken from the safe manufactured by Farrels & Herring, were in our judgment, damaged fully fifteen per cent more than those taken from Evans & Watson's safe.

We believe the above to have been a fair and impartial trial of the respective qualities of both Safes. JACOB H. DYSSER, DANIEL S. HUNTER, Having been absent during the burning, we fully coincide with the above statement of the condition of the papers and books taken out of their respective Safes. G. A. NICHOLLS, H. H. MULLERLAND, JAMES MILHOLAND.

EVANS & WATSON have now on hand 300,000 pounds of the above Safes, which they offer for sale on better terms than any other Manufacturer in the United States.
The following named gentlemen, residents of Reading and its vicinity, who saw the above fire, have purchased Safes from Evans & Watson since the burning up to May 14, 1857.
