THE TIOGA COUNTY AGITATOR.

Her Share of the Letters.

There is a new town out in the Northwest called Barton (contraction of Beartown.) At this point a post office has been established ; the route extends some distance beyond, and there are several offices further on. Soon after the establishment of the office at Barton, the posimasters beyond began to be troubled by a strange irregularity in the mails. This week, one thing would be missing; the next some other package would be non est; and quite often letters for B. would have to be sent back. The state of affairs became unendurable; and Agent Hall was sent on to investigate the matter. He went straight to Barton, where he found the post office in the back room of a little grocery. It was about time for the mail to arrive, and he took a seat in the grocery, where a plump and good natured woman, well in years, and possessed of a "rich brogue," attended behind the counter, dealing out small quantities of beer, cakes, peanuis, etc., to a company of loungers, who seemed to wait for some event.

Hall bought a quantity of pea-nuts, and tre ted the crowd to beer, by which course he succeeded in removing all suspicions which his decent garb had created against him. Soon the stage drove up, the mail bag was thrown out; the lady picked it up, and retreated to the back room, followed by the crowd-including Hall, who blocked up the door.

After opening the bag, and turning its contents on the floor, the postmistress produced a box, and deliberately proceeded to measure out a peck of miscellaneous matter from the pile on the floor. Having done this, she commenced returning the rest, when Halt found his tongue.

"Why, what are you doing there ?" he contrived to stammer out.

"Indade," said the postmistress, looking up, "it's changing the mail that I am."

"But how do you know that you get right matter? Why don't you look it over and sele t your own ?"

"Faith an' it's a fool's job you'd be afther havin' me do;" replied her ladyship. "I can't read niver a blessed bit of ritin,' an' when my son Jim (he's had school larnin') isn't here, I jest measure out our sheer, an' we divides 'em."

A STORY ABOUT LYING .- Davidson College, North Carolina, contributes a good story of a man with a very bad habit. As it is all about lying, the reader may believe it or not, as he likes:

"In the old North State lives a certain John Long, who draws a long bow whenever he has anything to tell, and his character for truth and veracity has been below zero for many years. Captain Johnson had been so taken in by one of John's outrageous stories, that he said to him in a pet :

"If you make me believe one of your lies again in a month, I'll give you fifty dollars !"

John pretended to be hurt by the offer, and went off. A few days after he was riding by the captain's, post haste, on horseback, when the captain called out to him :

"I say ! hello, Johnny ! stop and tell us a lie or two this morning "

John rode on, but cried out most dolefully: "No time for lying now; brother Jimmy has just been killed in the machine, and I'm going for the old folks." On he went.

Captain Johnson ordered his horse, and rode over to see the dead man and offer his services, but found him alive and well, ginning cotton and in no danger of the machine. Just then, John rode up and demanded the fifty dollars. The captain declared it was a rascally trick, but he would have had to pay the money if John had not let him off.

Gentility is to be defined in the next edition of the American dictionary. "Eating meat with a silver fork, neither being paid for."

October 25, 1856.-1y. Charles O. Etz of Tioga

Village would respectfully call the attention of the public to the following advertisement. "Man wan's but little here below nor wants that little long" is an old saying and perhaps true to a certain extents But it seems to me that in this time of general suspension and panic, everything is tending to a reversion of time-honored sayings, and everybody wants a little more still. The furmers (and they really ought to have as much as anybody, for they are to our country what a main spring is to a watch,) wants a little more for their wheat, buckwheat, rye, corn, outs, potatoes, &c., than the purchaser feels able and willing to pay. The merchant wants a little more for his Flour, Pork, Salt, Dry Goods,

Boots & Shocs, Hats & Caps, Hardware, Crockery and ten thousand little things he has to sell than And the future thicks in the timing in this to set thin the farmer thicks he ought to pay. At this present time it seems, to be conceded by all that the cash value of good wheat is $1 per bushel; buckwheat, 2 to 2-6; corn 3-6 to 4-6; oats, 2 to 2-6; butter, 14 to 16 cents. Now to equalize the matter and make it satisfactory on both where the theory of the time to the form such that sides, I want and will agree to take from every farmer of Tioga county, all the wheat I can get for the next 60 days at 9 and 10 shillings per bushelaccording to quality; buckwheat at 2-6 to 3; corn 5 to 5-6; oats 2-9 to 3 shillings; butter 16 to 19 cents.

try : NOTICES OF THE PRESS. In this volume we have presented to us the whole of Dr. Likingstone's Travels, omitting only scientific details,—MED. Sume, JOURNAL. Living-tone's Travels, —Nothing of real importance is omit-ted. The general reader will prefer this to the English edi-tion, especially as the cost is so t-filing.—PENNA, INC. Dr. Living-tone's Pravels and Researches in South Africa, Appear to great advantage in this edition, which is undoubt-edly the edition most accentable to the reader who reads for practical instruction and anu-sement,—SarusDay Posr. It is a rich and valuable book for the general reader, and the admirable style in which the publisher has issued it will commend it to the favor of thousands.—CHARSTIAN OBSERVE.. We cannot name thirty-two chapters which are likely to beguile time and enlarge the scope of reflection more pleas-antly, and at the same time more satificatorily than these Living-tone adventures. A special value is given to this volume, by the addition of "Historical Notices of Dis-coveries in Africa," and taken alto-more completely meets the popular taste of our time for read-ing matter which is strange, new the scene laid in far off countries, which touches the feelings and increases our stock of mseful knowledge.—NEW YORKER. It fells the whole story, leaving out digressions and cpi-sodes.—Licoal INTELIGENCE. April 20, 1038, 200
