A SPREAD EAGLE TOAST.—At Prentiss nire Mo., on the 5th, the following was second regular sentiment:

Our Nation - Begotten amidst the storms the sixteenth century, its infantile moveents were dim and indistinctly seen on pard the May Flower, on the rock of Plyouth, at Jamestown, on the plains of Mobagahela, and on the heights of Abraham; e "capricious squalls" of its infancy were eard in the teaparty of Boston, in Faneuil nd Bunker Hill,; in his boyhood he ran aresooted and bareheaded over the fields of aratoga, Trenton, Princetown Monmouth nd Yorktown whipping his mother and tur-ing her out of doors; in his youth he strode ver the prairies of the boundless West, and alled them his own, paid tribute to the despots Barbary in powder and ball, spit in his ther's face from behind cotton bales at New pleans, whipped the mistress of the ocean, evelled in the halls of Montezuma straddled he Rocky Mountains, and with one foot upon olden sand, and the other upon the codfish nd lumber, defied the world; in his manood, clothed in purple and fine linen, he des over a continent in cushioned cars, des over the ocean in palace steamers, ands his thoughts on wings of lightning to e world around, thunders at the door of the elestral Empire and at the portals of distant pan, slaps his poor old decrepit father in e face, and tells him to be careful how he ecks into any of his pickaroons, and threatng to make sheep pasture of all the land hat joins him. What he will do in his old ge, God only knows. May he live ten ousand years "and his shadow never be

A MAN HUNG HIMSELF IN FUN AND HUNG EARNEST.-A very sad affair transpired Princeton, near our city, on Thursday Mr. Daniel Elliot, who lives in Princebutchering beeves and selling them in the eghborhood, hung himself in his slaughter-DUSE. He was in exceedingly good humor pring the day and evening, and naturally of physical disposition, gave vent to it by many ings. He had bought some cattle, had tended his buisness, was doing well, and tlively and encouraged. He so expressed mself to his wife and friends.

Going from the house to his stable he fed is horse, and taking his little girl and a eighbor's little boy, some thirteen years old, e went on about twenty-five yards from his ouse to the slaughter house. Here was a achine for raising dead cattle-a rope with large hook in it run over a large reel and Mached to a windlass with a ratchet. Adisting the rope in a noose round his neck, e playfully bade the little girl go tell her wiher, "somebody was hanging out there ho looked like Dan Elliott." Then showig the boy exactly how many notches, he ade him, still laughing, to draw him up. he boy did so, and drew him off his feet. ace up, he could not because of the ratchet, thim down, and went in answer to the ile girls anxisty, Mrs. E. came out, her psoand hung dead, his feet touching the or, and the hook pressing hard against jugular. From all the circumstances, it ot doubted that the act was done accidenin a burst of playfulness .- Hamilton hio) Inteligencer.

UPERS POISONED .- An inquest sheld Monday evening, at the City Poor m, on the bodies of three paupers poised there during the afternoon of that day. following facts were elicited: About years ago the physican connected with Farm prepared a mixture of alcohol and ulus indicus, used in destroying vermin the persons of paupers. It was kept in a gallon keg. On Monday, three of the pers, Robert Cuthbert, Patrick Mullin, Owen O'Brien, were engaged in cleaning foom where the keg was stowed away. ha keen scent for "mountain dew," he fied the favor of the liquor, and broke out h, "Be jabers, boys, there's whiskey here; can't fool me;" and finding the keg he ped in his hand and drank off what it ald hold of the liquor, including some of betries. He pronounced it good cherry ace. A ladle was produced, and the 18 imbibed freely of the deadly poison. fourth tasted it, and with very emphatic lamation spit it out thus saving his life. hin an hour after they had imbibed the son, the three unfortunate men were dead. erdict was rendered in accordance with lacis .- Pittsburgh Gazette.

TOUGH STORY.—The Allegheny (Pa.) mtain Echo vouches for the truth of the Ming: "A boy 10 or 12 years old was ally found sick and exhausted, lying on lowpath near Johnstown, Pa. He seemed in a dying condition, and a physician mmediately sent for, who promptly adsleted a powerful purgative. In due the medicine had the desired effect, and night from the boy a double haudful of g crabs-real bona fide river or brook , with claws, legs, broad tails and all. mother of the boy explains the circumces by stating that her son was in the of spending much of his time in the and that while diving he had swal-anest of crabeggs, which had hatched ITEA LEE-is a daughter of a wealthy near Detroit, for whom Thomas was plowboy. Thomas the rogue aura's heart and then herself. They way and by legal process got spliced. ee offered $500 for the recovery of aughter. The young couple concluded back and take the money and curses. they arrived home they were agreeably hed to find themselves heartily forgiven the old man, and awarded a homestead farm of sixty acres. There was comsense all around,

BURNING OF THE NORTH BEND "LOG CAB--The late President Harrison's house at North Bend, the "log cabin" of the campaign of 1840, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 24th of July. It was occupied by the family of Col. Wm. H. H. Taylor, son-in-law of President Harrison, who barely escaped with their lives, saving only their night-clothes. The Cincinnatti Gazette says: "Nothing was saved in the way of furniture or documents, and the probability is, that many valuable papers left by President Harrison, together with articles cherished as relics of the old hero, and of the early history of the West, have been destroyed with the building. The only portrait of Mrs. Harrison in existence, (painted by Beard,) with two or three of the General, taken at different periods of his life, are also probably destroyed. Mrs. Harrison, the widow of President Harrison, fortunately was not in the dwelling, the venerable lady at present being all, on the plains of Concord, Lexington at the residence of Hon. J. Scott Harrison. a son of Gen. H., a few miles beyond the old homestead."

> A Touching Incident.—The person who has charge of the remains of Dr. Wilcox was visited on Friday afternoon by a lad with a request to see the body of the deceased. His desire was complied with, after some questions relative to the object which prompted the visit. The boy who is the son of a poor widow, related in a simple and touching manner, the story of his long and painful illness resulting from a diseased leg, which Dr. Wilcox had gratuitously amputated, and afterwards manufactured for him without pay, an artificial limb with which he is enaoled to walk with ease and comfort. From a puny, dwarfish invalid, a burden to himself and mother, he has become a stout healthy boy, able to assist in the support of himself and parent. He was overcome with grief at the sad sight of him who had been his benefactor and friend. Such testimonials of the kindness of Dr. Wilcox's nature, are worthy to be remembered. - Elmira Advertiser.

In Charleston, on the 28th ult., MARY, wife of Joseph Willard, aged 36 years.

The summer's light is on the flowers, Its smile is on the sky.

The fountain flingeth sunny showers, And birds are singing now;
The breeze is chanting through the dell,
Its voice no more is dear,
It soundeth only like "farewell,"

Since Mary is not here. We wrapped the shroud around her breast,

We took one curl away.

And laid her graceful form to rest, Where southern breezes play; The willow weepeth o'er her bed, The ocean moaneth near, Oh, every joy to us is dead Since Mary is not here.

TO THE LADIES! A New Kind of Soap

has recently been invented, which promises to supersede all other kinds of hard soap. It is used extensively for washing clothes, and possesses the re-markable property of extracting dirt without boiling the clothes and without the use of the rubbing board. The process of washing requires less than half the time, and only about half the labor, by using this Patent Soap. This article is peculiarly excellent, and superior to any thing else called Soap; because while it saves time and labor, it never rots or injures the clothes. It is just the article it is represented to be, and never disappoints the expectations of purchasers. It does not take out stains. For sale at Roy's Drug Store, Wellsboro, Pa.
