Our exchanges from all quarters have been ning to us lately with accounts and comints against the intense heat, and its calnicous results. When we hear of thirty ses of sun stroke in one day, in New ork, and ten or twelve in Philadelphia, quiry is naturally excited both as to its dury is naturally as well its best remedy. coording to the New York Post, the sympms of sun stroke generally indicate a constition previously impaired. Sometimes there active congestion and apoplectic effusion ithin the cranium, and in such cases death enerally ensues. But more often the signs to those of physical, and particularly, erebral prostrations; the pulse is feeble, the peeks, and, in fact the whole surface of the bdy, are pale and ghastly. The blood is efective in quality, thus impeding the vital ocesses. The heart is evidently the organ fault, having suddenly succumbed under tigue and exaustion, though the head gives he first intimations of danger.

It is somewhat singular that mention is in rectly made of sun stroke in the Bible; hus, in 2 Kings, 4th chapter occur these erses: "And when the child was grown, it the respers. And he said to his father, ly head, my head! and he said to a lad, arry him to his mother,' and when he had ken him and brought him to his mother, sat on her knees till noon, and died. anasses, also, the husband of Judith, the eroine, died in a similar manner. It is thus corded, "Manasses was her husband, of her ibe and kindred, who died in the barley ervest. For as he stood over-seeing them at bound sheaves in the field; the heat came on his head, and he fell upon his bed and ed in the city of Bethulia."

The premonitions of an attack are readily cognised. There is a feeling of pressure on the head, the blood tingles in the vesis, the air seems too hot and tenuous for reathing. The means of prevention are Persons in sound health are seldom macked; previous debility, general depreson of the vital forces, unusual and excesre physical exertion, violent gusts of pasn, excessive drinking of cold water, or of hohotic concoctions, superadded to expone to the summer sun or a hot fire, created

Elopement Extraordinary

On last Sunday evening the citizens of is place were taken by surprise, occasioned the elopement of Mr. John S. Browning, oprietor of the Union House, with one of boarders, a Madam M. E. Page, alias yser. The woman was brought here by a an named Kyser, and stopped at the Manon House, the proprietor of which became oubtful whether he would receive an equivant for his board, he shipped them. They en went to the Union House, where Kyser eserted her. Mr. Browning heretofore has m an unimpeachable character; he leaves large family of sons and daughters, some them grown. It appears as though he is edope of a female artificer, having colleca large sum of money in order to make ne payment. Mrs. Page, alias Kyser, g made aware or this, entrapped him for Their arrangements were so artifully de that neither his wife nor any one about house suspected their intentions of speedy arture. He had told them at home that was going to St. Louis to purchase a pck of groceries; but his wife, who has en sick for some weeks past, asked him to fer the trip, which he assumedly did. He s unusually kind to her that evening in er to make his elopement more secure. Idam Page was going to St. Louis, and no picions rested on her. When last heard they had taken the cars at Alton for the Madam Page wrote from St. Louis, orming Mrs. Browning that she did not her husband, and would leave him re. CANADA: AND FRAZER RIVER .- The Toronto Globe says in reference to the late gold discoveries at Frazer River: "These discoveries present a future to Canada of the most dazzling kind. The settlement of the Pacific coast by the British people, will inevitably lead to a demand for communication across the Continent, which can be supplied through our territory much better than by that of the United States .-We look to see the fertile prairies of the Saskalchewan traversed by the iron horse within a few years, and a trade passing through Canada such as no one has hitherto imagined even in a dream. The north-west country will be settled more rapidly than lowa or Minnesota, and it ought to form a part of Canada."

ATTENTION, LADIES!-Miss Nancy Godfre was killed by lightning at Reading, a week or two since, in consequence, as is supposed, of the metallic substances forming a part of her dress and toilet attracting the subtle fluid. The electric current probably passed through the gold plate of her set of teeth, thus killing her at once, and then escaped by her hoops, passing on through her garter and foot. The artificial teeth were discovered at some distance, and her metallic hoops were found to be melted. Women, now-a-days, are most fearfully and wonderfully made.

About 4 o'clock on Monday morning of last week, the dry brush in the clearing of Dr. Lichtenthaler's farm, a short distance above this place, was set on fire, which spread at furious rate during the absence of the employers at noon, destroying some fifteen hundred cords of wood and burning fences. The Doctor's loss is supposed to be from two to three thousand dollars .- Lock Hanen Democrat.
