THE TIOGA COUNTY AGITATOR.

Drowning the Squirrel.

When I was about six years old, one morning going to school, a ground squirrel ran into his hole in the road below me. They like to dig holes in some open space, where they can put out their heads to see if any danger is near.

I thought : Now I will have some fine fun. As there was a stream of water just at hand I determined to pour water into the hole till it would be full, and force the little animal up so that I might kill it.

I got a trough from beside a sugar maple, used for carching the sweet sap, and was soon pouring the water in on the poor squir. rel. I could hear it struggle to get up, and såid :

"Ah, my fine little fellow, I will soon have you out."

Just then I heard a voice behind me :-"Well my boy, what have you there ?"

" I turned and saw one of my neighbors, a good old man, with long white locks, that had seen sixty winters.

"Why," said 1, "I have a ground squirrel in here, and am going to drown him out, if I can do it."

Said he.

"Jonathan, when I was a little boy, more than fifty years ago, I was engaged one day just as you are, drowning a ground squirrel an old man, like me, came along, and said to me: "You are a little boy; now if you were down in a narrow hole like that, and 1 should come along and pour water on you to drown you, would you not think it was cruel? God made that little squirrel, and life is as sweet to it as it is to you, and why will you torment to death a little innocent creature, that God has made ?"

"I have never forgotten that, and never shall. I have never killed any harmless creature for fun since. Now my dear boy, I want you to remember this while you live, and when tempted to kill any poor little animal or bird, think of this; and mind, God don't allow us to kill his pretty little creatures for fun."

More than forty years have passed, and I have not forgotten what the good man said, nor have I ever killed the least animal or bird for fun since.

... Now, you see it is ninety years since this advice was first given, and it has not lost its influence yet. How many little creatures it has saved from being tortured to death I canno tell, but I have no doubt a great number ; and I believe my whole life has been influen ced by it.

Now, I want all the little boys, when they read this to keep it in mind; and when they see pretty birds or harmless animals playing, or hunting their food, not to hurt them. Your Heavenly Father made them, and He never intended them to be killed for fun .---Child's Paper.

A Plucky Preacher.

A Methodist preacher well known for his uncompromising hostility to all intoxicating drinks, had made an appointment to preach in a neighborhood notorious for its intemperance. It was generally understood that his remarks were to be chiefly directed against the besetting sin of the district in which he was to preach, and several noted bullies had given out that they intended to whip him if he touched on what they meant should be forbidden ground. The day appointed for the preaching arrived, and the preacher appeared on the stand. A large number of his brethren from adjacent districts, hearing of the threats against him, had come to the meeting in order to protect him from violence, but the preacher had no intention that any of his friends should fight on his account-he was able to do his own fighting. Accordingly, on mounting the stand, he had thrown off his coat and vest, and rolled up his shirt sleeves, displaying the arms and chest of a Hercules. He said he had heard there were several men present who had threatened to whip him; that he had many friends present who were able and willing to protect him. He said that he did not like fighting, but if there must be fighting on his own account, he would rather do it himself than have his friends fight for him, and that as he did not wish the services interrupted, he would prefer it should take place before the meeting was opened. "And therefore," said he, "if there is any man here who thinks he can whip me and intends to try it, if he will have the goodness to step forward, I will flax him with as much east as I now lift brother Smith ;" saying which he seized a preacher who stood by his side, and who was a small sized man, by the waist band of the breeches, and lifting him from the ground, held him out at arm's length with one hand. This exhibition of his physical strength prevented any demonstration on the part of his enemies, and the meeting proceed. ed without interruption.

STARTING IN THE WORLD .-- Many an Unwise parent labors hard and lives sparingly all his life for the purpose of leaving enough to give his children a start in the world, as it is called. Setting a young man afloat with money left him by his relatives, is like tying bladders under the arm of one who cannot swim ; ten chances to one he will lose his bladders and go to the bottom. Teach him to swim and he will never need the bladders. Give your child a sound education, and you morals are pure, his mind cultivated, and his whole nature made subservient to laws which govern man, and you have given what will be of more value than the wealth of the Indies. You have given him a start no misfortune can deprive him of. The earlier you teach him to depend upon his own resources, the better.

To produce amiability and happiness, the mind and heart must act together ; they must be the impartial judges, the gentle monitors, and the kind encouragets of each other : and we of them.

Silence never shows itself to so great an advantage, as when it is made the reply to calumny and defamation.

Why is a loafer in a printing office like a shade tree? Because we are glad when he leaves.

has recently been invented, which promises to su-persede all other kinds of hard soap. It is used ex-tensively for washing clothes, and possesses the re-markable property of extracting dirt without boiling the clothes and without the use of the rubbing board. The process of washing requires less than balf the time. and only about half the labor, by using this time, and only about half the labor, by using this Patent Scep. This article is peculiarly excellent, and superior to any thing else called Scap; because while it saves time and labor, it never rots or in. jures the clothes. It is just the article it is represented to be, and never disappoints the expectations of purchasers. It does not take out stains. For sale at Roy's Drug Store, Wellsboro, Pa.

Improved Portable Field Fence. Serenth st. below Race, Philadelphia, Ale

The patentee of this Fence, after numerous trials and experiments, has finally succeeded in perfecting a plan for the construction of Fence, which does a plan for the construction of Fence, which does away with the necessity of inserting posts in the ground. The above Fence is made to set upon the natural face of the earth, and by its peculiar forma-tion will conform to the undulations of the ground. The mechanical mode of its construction convinces all who examine it of its superiority over anything of the kind ever offered to the public, as well as of its durability, simplicity and chhapness. It is so put together that it is secured hy means of keys. put together that it is secured by means of keys.

which are easily adjusted, and battens by which it is kept strained to the ground, so that no trouble need be apprehended from winds. This fence can be built of lumber at $10 per thousand, for the sum of 50 cents per rod---making it by far the cheapest fence that can be made; and the ease with which it can be put up and taken down, the ease with which it can be but up and taken down, moved, made into stack pens, or used (temporarily for any purpose the farmer may require it—no less than the fact that at each joint an opening can be made, thus obviating the necessity for bars or gates —must render it a universal favorite with the farm-
