FAITHLESS NELLY GRAY. A PATHETIC BALLAD. Ben Battle was a soldier bold. And used to war's alarms; But a cannon ball took off his legs, So he laid down his arms!

Now as they bere him off the field, Said he. "Let others shoot; For here I leave my second leg, And the Forty-second Foot!"

The army-surgeons made him limbs:
Said he, "They're only pegs;
But there's as wooden members quite,
As represent males." As represent my legs!"

Now Ben he loved a pretty maid-Her name was Nelly Gray; So he went to pay her his devours, When he devoured his pay!

But when he called on Nelly Gray, She made him quite a scoff; And when she saw his wooden legs, Began to take them off!

"O, Nelly Gray! O, Nelly Gray! Is this your love so warm?
The love that loves a scarlet coat Should be more uniform!"

Said she, "I loved a soldier once, For he was blithe and brave; But I will never have a man
With both legs in the grave!

"Before you had those timber toes
Your love I did allow;
But then, you know, you stand upon
Another footing now!" "O. Nelly Gray! O. Nelly Gray!
For all your jeering speeches,
At duty's call I left my legs
In Badajos's breaches!"

"Why then," said she, "you're lost the feet Of legs in war's alarms,
And new you cannot wear your shoes
Upon your feats of arms!"

"O. false and fickle Nelly Gray! I know why you refuse:
Though I've no feet, some other man
Is standing in my shoes!

"I wish I ne'er had seen your face: But, now, a long farewell!

For you will be my death:—alas!
You will not be my Nell!"

Now when he went from Nelly Gray His heart so heavy got, And life was such a burden grown,

It made him take a knot! So round his melancholy neck
A rope he did entwine,
And, for his second time in life, Enlisted in the Line!

One end he tied around a beam, And then removed his pegs; And, as his legs were off,—of course He soon was off his legs!

And there he hung, till he was dead As any nail in town;
For, though distress had cut him up,
It could not cut him down!

A dozen men sat on his corpse,
To find out why he died—
And they buried Ben in four cross-roads, With a stake in his inside! THOMAS HOOD.

In the Garden.

We have now reached the period when gar den work has become imperative, if we desire to keep pace with the demands of the vegetable kingdom.

It is to be presumed that by this time the debris always to be found in the garden in early spring, from the prunings, rakings and scrapings, have been gathered into heaps and burned and the ashes scattered over the soil. Should this not yet have been done, no time is to be

BERRIES .- It is to be presumed that the Raspberries, Gooseberries and Currants have been carefully attended to, the former pruned, and tied up to the stakes, and the stakes driven firmly into the ground, which should be done while the ground is moist; und the latter thinned out, and a portion of the old wood re-The soil about the roots of all should be forked over, turning under the mulching which was applied last year, and removing all grass and weeds. By the first of May a new mulching should be applied of decayed leaves or long manure. If the gooseberry is in danger of mildew, moisten the mulching with strong salt and water, applied from a watering-

The Strawberry Beds should have their winter coverins removed at once, if not already done, leaving as much of the manure remain as can be used with convenience; the soil should then be carefully forked over or stirred. From the time when the fruit is set until it shall begin to color, the beds should be daily copiously watered in the absence of rain.

GRAFTING .- Grafting of the Pear and Apple, where the scions have been previously cut and preserved, can continue to be performed until the first of June. Special care should be taken that the wax is of the proper consistency-not too hard to crack in the cold winds of spring, or soft to run in the hot suns of summer. It is a good way to supervise the grafts once or twice during the season, and re-wax any of them which may have cracked open, or the wax in any way displaced. If air or water gets to the tougue of the graft, it is gone.

WEEDS .- Never let grass or weeds bind your fruit trees. Forking over the ground a foot or two round the trunk, twice a year, will repay the cost an hundred fold. Try this season to save your Plums by the jarring process, every morning for two weeks, laying over the ground a sheet, and burning all the curculio that may be catched. It has been followed with great success by many persons.

ASPARAGUS.-Your Asparagus beds are of course dressed-the long portion of the manure removed, and all the rest nicely forked in .-Early in April, not later than the 10th or 12th. apply a good dose of common salt to the beds, completely covering the ground. There need be no fear of its injuring the plants; on the contrary it is the best manure that, can be applied to the Asparagus, which is a marine vegetable; but it will be death to everything else with which it may come in contact. Keep it a foot away from your box-edging. VEGETABLES.—As to vegetables. Peas, medinin and late for a succession may now he planted. They may be put in this order: 1. Extra Early; 2. Early Frame; 3. Dwarf Blue Imperial; 4- Lurge White Marrowfat; 5. Tom Thumb, very dwarf; 6. Victoria. - Onions, white is the best .- Lettuce: 1. Early Carled Silesian, sown thickly in a bed for eating young; 2. Early Cabbage, the standard variety for heading, superior to any; 3. Curled India, which is also fine, both to be bedded in single plants. -Cubbage: The Early York plants, sown in frame last autumn, can be planted out at any time. The seed for plants of the Curled Savoy, the Drumhead Savoy, and the common Drumhead or any other, should be sown at once-Celery, the white solid is the best, should be sown, if not already, in a warm border. The Early Horn Carrot and Salsify should be sown as early as they can be get in. Leek should be nown about the middle of April.—Rhubarb plants strongly for decomplying the April — Rindard plants strongly are applied forget your little and of more Some Some May the following duminer Sovery, Taylor, Rossigney, Amer, &c.

NEW kind of Soap has recently been invented A NEW kind of Soap has recently been invented which promises to super-ede all other kinds of hard soap. It is used extensively for washing clothes and possesses the remarkable property of extricating the dirt without boiling the clothes and without the use of the rubbing board. The process of washing requires less than half the time, and only about half the labor, by using this Patent Soap. This article is pecultarly excellent, and superior to any thing else called Soap; because while it saves time and labor, it never rots or injures the clothes. It is just the article it is represented to he, and never disappoints the expectations of purchasers. It does not take out stains.
