Hurrah for the choice of the nation!
Our chieftain so brave and so true:
We'll go for the great Reformation—
For Lincoln and Liberty too! We'll go for the son of Kentucky-

The hero of hoosierdom through;
The pride of the Suckers so lucky—
For Lincoln and Libety too! Our David's good sling is unerring,
The Slavocrat's giant he slew;
Then shout for the Freedom conferring—
For Lincoln and Liberty, too!

They'll flud what, by feeling and mauling, Our rail-maker statesman can do; For the people are everywhere calling For Lincoln and Liberty too!

Then up with our banner so glorious,
The star-spangled red, white, and blue:
We'll fight till our fing is victorious,
For Lincoln and Liberty too!

HOTEL SCENE.

It has been Mace Sloper's luck to be frequently quartered in rooms with nothing but a door betwixt his room and his neighbors; and whenever this happened he has been pretty generally about as certain to hear, willing or unwilling, considerable that wasn't spoken to him. Particular when girls were in the next room! Not giving myself credit for any especial 'cuteness, I can't brag of ever having got up any wise theory on the subject; but it does seem to me that the queerest, wildest, and most amazing speeches I ever heard in all my life from mortal lips, always came from people I couldn't see. Moreover—and everybody'll agree with me if he'll rake out his own experience a little-I mainiain that no two people can talk in the dark to one another as they do in the light. Report such a talk, and read it to them, and they'll as soon believe that they've been talking Ingun. That's so!

Which reminds Mace Sloper of a talk he once heard in a New Jersey hotel. I had quietly smoked myself into a regular nap such as the good alone enjoy, when I was awoke by hearing somebody enter the next room. Apparently he woke somebody else up too, who was sleeping there in advance of him.

"Hullo thar?" says the man a-bed.
"Hullo and behold!" answered the one entering.

"Wait for your welcome afore you come in;" said No. 1. "In-comes are welcome," answered No. 2.

"The mixologist of tipulars directorized me to apartment XC, which being exceedingly weary, I did uncandelized. Yet if you desire illuminosity..."

"Stranger!" cried No. 1; "hold thar! don't light a match, for the love of God! I know adzackly what you look like without goin' fudder. You're five feet 'leven inches high, got gray eyes and a coon-colored vest, short-cropped ha'r and a loose over-coat. nose like a razorhandle, and scar over your left eye. That's the stripe!"

"How do you cognorit that?" was the ama ever heard of a man's coming to bed in the dark, and calling a bar keeper a mixologist of tipular fixins, unless he had gray eyes, razorhandled nose, short hair an' a coon-colored vest? Don't light a match, stranger; on my account. Drummon lights would be darkness on your face arter such a blaze of language as that. "Illuminosity" and "cognovit!" That shows you've got a ca'pet bag in your hand and a whisky bottle in it. Sho!"

There was a sound like the pop of a cork, and a clear case of drinking to better acquaintanceship going on as I fell to sleep. We hear queer things in the dark. That Western man rather knocks me whenever I think of him.

AN INDIAN LEGEND.

There is a quaint tradition existing among the Indians of the northwest, in connection with the snow peaks of Mounts Baker, Haner, St. Helen's and Hood, of the careade range of Rocky Mountains. The tradition is as follows:

world was young, to be Tyress-Kings-of the Here they ruled in kingly grandeur, receiving from their subjects such homage as is due to the obtained in Nelodeons of our manufacture. no superior except the Great Spirit. For ages their reign was an uninterrupted scene of peace and happiness. Seas, lakes, and mighty rivers bathed their feet, and their sides were clothed with evergreen forests. Here the beasts and fishes roamed in primeval bliss, fearing neither the hunter nor the fisherman, for man was not yet here. But in time, like nations, discord . yet here. But in time, like nations, discord a rose among them. Each chief assumed the quarrel of his subjects, and an unrelenting war then, and therefore speak understandingly of their merits.—

The Melodeons manufactured by Prince & Co., and for sale at 87 Fulton Street, are the best in the world. We have tried them, and therefore speak understandingly of their merits.—

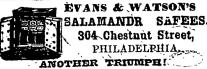

They are an degred at a very moderate cost. was the result. In their rage they belched forth fire and smoke, and hurled at each other fiery rocks, and dessolating their fair sides, choking up the lakes and rivers with their fragments, and destroying the inhabitants of both land and water. For years this conflict raged with demoniac fury, until the Great Spirit became angry, and bade them cease their quarrel and closed their very mouths. And to punish them for their felly and theirs in laying waste their fair_domains, he covered them with an eternal mantle of snow. From that time peace has reigned among them, although occasionally they have muttered and given signs of rebelthey have muttered and given signs of rebellion; but the Great Spirit points, with a significant smile to their snowy fetters, and their burning spirits sink deep within their bosoms.

Cassius M. Clay won another victory for free speech and struck a good blow in behalf of Republicanism in Richmond, Ky., on the 4th inst. Mr. C. had announced that he would speak at the Court House. At 1 o'clock P. M., the large Court House was packed to its utmost capacity. Mr. Clay took up the Republican platform and read it, making no allusion to the mob, but going on to vindicate the princi-ples laid down in that platform. Finding him prudent enough to avoid any mention of the mob, one of the most violent of them declared that Mr. Clay should be "shot through the head." Mr. Clay said he claimed the same rights as were allowed other parties, and that he would "stand or fail there!"

The clamor against him continued, but the great mass cried, "Go on!" Mr. Clay then Silk Hats rom

"Gentlemen, I see what you are after. If nothing but a fight will do you, we are ready for you. Now try it, shall I speak, citizens, or mot?

"Yes, yes; go on!" was the response from the great majority of the crowd. A dozen voices cried out, "No1 no!" To which Mr. C. replied: "Then go out! (great applause) if you don't want to hear!" And they went out, completely foiled in their feeble attempt at assassination. Mr. Clay made a strong speech, which told with great effect upon his large nu-

ANOTHER TRIUMPH!

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29, 1859.

To the President of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society:—The subscribers, your committee to examine the contents of a Saiamandar Safe of Evans & Watson, after being exposed to a strong fire on the Fair Grounds for eight hours, respectfully represent—

That after seven cords of oak wood and three of pine had been consumed around the Safe, it was opened in the presence of the committee, and the contents taken out, a little warmed, but not even scorched.

Several Silver Medals betetofore received by the manufacturers, and a large quantity of documents manufacturers, and a large quantity of documents were in the Safe, and came out encirely uninjured.

The experiment satisfied us of the capacity of Safes of this kind to protect contents from any fire to which h ey may be exposed.

The Committee award a Diploma and Silver Medal.

STILL ANOTHER.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept, 17, 1859.—Messrs. Evans and Watson, Philadelphin.

Gendemen: The Salamander Fire-Proof Safe of your manufacture, purchased by us from your Agent, Ferris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tried by burglars last Saturday night, and although they had a sledge hammer, cold chisels, drill, and gunpowder, they did not succeed in opening the Safe. The lock being one of Hall's Patent Powder-proof," they could not get the powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door, inside and out, showed the explosion not to have been a small one, it was not forced open. We suppose they were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of any service, you are at liberty to use them.

Yours, truly,
BAYNARD & JONES.

GREAT FIRE!—ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

KNONVILLE, TENNESE. March 13th, 1959.—Messre.

Evans & Watson. Philadelphia:

Gentlemen: It affords me great pleasure to say to you that the Salamander Safe, which I purchased of you in February 1858, proved to be what you recommended it—a sure protection from fire. My storehouse together with several others, was burned to the ground in March last. The Safe fell through into the cellar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the ruins and opened, all its contents were found to be in a perfect state, the books and papers not being injured in the least. I can cheerfully recommend your Safes to the community, believing as I do, that they are as near fire-proof as it is possible for any Safe to be made.
