A HEBO. John B. Gough, the celebrated temperance lecturer, who has returned to the United States from a visit to his native England, and who is announced to speak at Cooper Institute on next Monday evening, related in one of his recent speeches, the following anecdote :- John Maynard was well known in the Lake district as a God-fearing, horest intelligent pilot. He was a pilot on a steamer from Detroit to Buffalo one summer afternoon. At that time those steamers seldom carried Loats. Smoke was then ascending from below and the captain called out. "Simpson, go down and see what that smoke is." Simpson came up with a face pale as ashes, and said-" Captain, the ship is on fire !" Then, "Fire! fire! fire on shipboard!" All hands were called up. Buckets of water were dashed upon the fire but in vain. There were large quantities of rosin and tar on board.

and it was useless to attempt to save the ship. The passengers rushed forward and enquired of the pilot, "How far are we from Buffalo?"-"Seven miles." "How long before we reach it?" "Three quarters of an hour, at our present rate of steam." "Is there any danger?"
"Danger here—see the smoke bursting out I go forward, if you would save your lives!" Passengers and crew, men, women, and children, crowded the forward part of the ship. John Maynard stood at the helm. The flames burst forth in a sheet of fire; clowds of smoke arose; the captain oried out through his trumpet-"John Maynard!" "Aye, aye, sir!" |" Are you at the helm ?" | "Aye, aye, sir!" "How does she head?" Southeast-by-east, sir."-"Head her southeast and run her on shore." Nearer, nearer, yes nearer she approached the ahore, Again the captain cried out- John Maynard!" The responses came feebly, "Aye, aye, sir!" "Can you hold on five minutes longer, John?" "By God's help, I will!" The old man's hair was scorched from the scalp;

took its flight to his God. [Sensation.] I He sacrificed his life to save the lives of others. It is a greater effort to save a man from moral ruin-to save a child from drunkenness than from fire.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF THE AGE. A shrewd writer, who tells home truths respecting the popular follies of the day, gives the following account of domestic education, so fatally prevalent at the present time: In the town of Somewhere lives Mr. Many-girls. He is a toilsome merchant, his wife a hard working housekeeper. Once they were poor, now they are ruinously rich. They have seven daughters, whom they train up in utter idleness. They spend much money, but not in works of humanity, not even in elegant accomplishments, in painting, dancing, music, and the like, and in so paying in spiritual beauty what they take in material means. They never read nor sing; they are know-nothings, and live only in vain show, as useless as a ghost, and as ignorant is the blocks on which their bonnets are made. Now, these seven "ladies," as the newspapers call the poor things, so ignorant and helpless, are not only idle, can earn nothing, but consume much. What a load of finery is on their shoulders, and heads, and necks! Mr. Manygirls hires many men and women to wait on his daughters' idleness, and these servants are withdrawn from productive work in nursing these seven grown-up babies. On the other side of the way, the Hon. Mr. Manysons has deven sons, who are the exact match for the merchant's daughters; rich, idle, some of them dissolute; debauchery coming before their beard; all useless, earning nothing, spending much, wasting more. Their only labor is to kill time; and in summer they emi grate from pond to pond, from lake to lake, having a fishing-line with a worm at one end and a fool at the other. There are fast families in Somewhere: Their idleness is counted pleasure. Six of these sons will marry, and five perhaps of Manygirls' daughters, and what families they will have will be found to live on the oil of their grandfather's bones; till a commercial crisis, and the wear and tear of time has dissipated their fortunes, and they are forced reluctan by to toil.

God esteems men's deeds by their minds, and not their minds by their deeds.

Christ is the sun, and all the watches of our lives should be set by the dial of his motion. Sin may rebel, but it shall never reign in any saint.

A young man in conversation one evening chanced to remark-"I am no prophet." "True," replied a lady present, "no profit to yourself or any one else."

"I declare, mother," said a pretty little girl, in a pretty little way, "'tis too bad! You always send me to bed when I ain't sleepy; and you always make me get up when I am sleepy!

ANOTHER TRIUMPH PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29, 1859.

To the President of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society:—The subscribers, your committee to examine the contents of a Saiamander Safe of Byans & Watson, ther being exposed to a strong fire on the Fair Grounds for eight hours, respectfully represent—

That after seven cords of oak wood and three of pine had been consumed around the Safe, it was opened in the presence of the committee, and the contents taken out, a little warmed, but not even scorched. Several Silver Medals heretofore received by the manufacturers, and a large quantity of documents were in the Safe, and came out entirely uninjured. The experiment satisfied as of the capacity of Safes of this kind to protect contents from any fire to which they may be exposed.

The Committee award a Diploma and Silver Medal. Geo. W. WOODWARD, JOHN W. GEART, J. P. RUTHERFORD, ALFRED S. GILLETT.

winkeron, Del., Sept. 17, 1859.—Messrs. Evans and Watson, Philadelphia.

Gentlemen: The Salamander Fire-Proof Safe of your manufacture; purchased by us from your Agent, Ferris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tried by burglars last Saturday night, and although they had a sledge hammer, cold chisels, drill, and gunpowder, they did not succeed in opening the Safe. The lock being one of Hall's Patent Powder-proof," they could not get the powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door, incharge, which was ignited, and although the door, inside and out, showed the explosion not to have been a small one, it was not forced open. We suppose they were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of any service, you are at liberty to use them. Yours, truly, BAYNARD & JONES.

GREAT FIRE!-ANOTHER TRIUMPH. KNOXVILLE, TENESSEE, March 13th, 1859 .- Messis.

Evans & Watson, Philadelphia: Gentlemen: It affords me great pleasure to say t you that the Salamander Safe, which I purchased of you in February, 1858, proved to be what you recommended it-h sure protection from fire. My store house together with several others, was burned to the ground in March last. The Safe fell through into the cellar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the ruins and opened, all its contents were found to be in a perfect state, the books and papers not being injured in the least. I can cheerfully recommend your Safes to the community, believing as L do, that they are as near fire-proof as it is possible for any Safe to be made.
