CLOTHES DRYER:

EQUALLED BY MANE - EXCELLED NEVER.

DEAD the following enumeration of advantages of the truthfulness of the same of the same advantages can be attested by hundred with have used them:

Int. The facility for threading at any point of elevation most convenient of hanging on the clothes, and hen saising by a stable, yet powerful hoisting jark, well up and cut of the say. All will readily see the great importance of the arrangement. Many stationary machines are fitted by with a rack and pinion, or other expensive and simple use of the frames, costing from 10 to $20. But here we get this very desirable facility in a manner more effective and simple than ever be brightered, and that in connection with the Portalist Dryer, and all at an expense but nominal. Dryers without this, necessarily bring the clothes so low as the be in the way of everything passing beneath, and we so high as to make the hanging on and taking of the clothes, a work of labor and innonvenience. For instance, to take off frozen clothes in winter, from a cocket, it is tedious in the extreme. The Challenge Drye in the lowered as easily as it can be raised, by the same fack, so as to come within the easy reach of a child. The operation of hoisting and lowering is as simply that of working a pump handle.

2d. The lower only in the center shaft or post, has fitted to it a taper if the intention in solid as iron can make and which is only impoved by wear. The socket is so made as to act as the property of preserve the post, and a solid as iron can make and which is only impoved by wear. The hubs are iron-no splitting—no shrinking by the weather—so as to bind on to the post. The fran work is covered with a heavy coat of varnish, there work is covered with a heavy coat of varnish, the roughly baked on. The arms and braces are joined to the hubs in a manner defring comparison, for simplicity, strength and durability.—The cord and timber are of the best quality, and put fogether in the most pubstantial manner.

4th. In revolving through the first of the clothes are constantly being presented to the wind and sun, and the process of drying gives on very rapidly, and clothes will dry one-third quicker than on the streight line.

5th. In case of this tened rains, or in cold weather. the Dryer can be folded up with the clothes on, and taken into the house. If desired, it can be set up in the house in rainy or hachenet weather. It requires shoveling of paths, or mading in snow or wet glass, as the operator dan putithe clothes without moving from the ordinary natter stoop, as the case may be, as being portable, it is a best up where a stationary Dryer would be in the way. Thousands have lost health and life, by a paths or wet grass, which this Dryer renders unnecessary.

This is no humber that a substantial, staple machine, filling one at the most palpable and every day wants of every family it city and country. Nothing can exceed the favor with which they are received, and we refer to this laidtheir rapidly increasing sales, and to the testimonate of the supergrity, is found in the fact that numbers of persons the had bought other Dryers, have thrown them setts and are using the Challenge Dryer. In every parity of economy, convenience and durability, it challenges the world.

Ferris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tried by burglars last Saturday night, and although they had a sledge hummer, cold chisels, drill, and gunpowder, they did not succeed in opening the Safe. The lock being one of Hall's Patent Powder-proof," they could not get the powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door, inside and out, showed the explosion not to have been a small one; it was not forced open. We suppose they were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of eny service, you are

Evans & Watson, Philadelphia: Gentlemen: It affords me great pleasure to say to you that the Salamander Safe, which I purchased of you in February, 1858, proved to be what you recom-mended it—a sure protection from fire. My store-house together with esveral others, was burned to the ground in March last. The Safe fell through into the cellar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the rains and opened, all its contents were found to be in a perfect state, the books and papers not being injured in the least. I can cheerfully recommend your Safes to the community, believing as I do, that they are as near
