Terms of Publication. TIOGA COUNTY AGITATOR is published Wednesday Morning, and mailed to subscriber very reasonable price of

ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM, vably in advance. It is intended to notify every nors in the term for which he has paid shall riber when the term for which he has paid shall expired, by the figures on the printed label on the in of each paper. The paper will then be stonned expired, by the approximate of the stopped of the stopped of each paper. The paper will then be stopped as farther remittance be bridght in debt to the ment no man can be bridght in debt to the AGITATOR is the Official Paper of the County, large and steadily increasing circulation reach postuje to any subscriber within the county but whose most convenient post office may be ining County. adjoining County. ness Cards, not exceeding 5 lines, paper inclu-VOL. VII.

$5 per year. RUSINESS D RECTORY.

SLOWREY & SF. WILSON, TIORNEYS & COUNS IELORS AT LAW, will attend the Court of T is, Pottor and McKean ites. [Wellsboro', Feb.] [853.] ties. [Wellsboro', Feb.]

C. N. DARTT, DENTIST. OFFICE at his residence near the Academy. All work partaining to his line of bus As done promptly and [April 22, 1858.]

DICKINSO SHOUSE

J. C. WHIL AKER, Hydropathic Physician and Surgeon. Hydropathic Physician and Sirrycon. ELKLAND, TIOGA, CO., PENNA. fill visit patients in all price of the County, or re-e them for treatment at historise. [June 14,]

J. EMERY, TTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW Wellsboro, Tioga Ce., Pa. Will devote his prolusively to the praintine of law. Collections a novel, 60 a. novel, 60

PENNSYLVANDA HOUSE.

r of Main Street and the Anenue, Wellsboro, Pa. J. W. BIGONY, PREBLETOR.

this popular Hotel, having the re-fitted and re-nished throughout, is now open to the public as a .class house.

IZAAK WALTON HOUSE. C. VERMILYEA, FROPRIETOR. Gaines, Tioga County, Pa. HIS is a new hotel locatid within easy access of the best fishing and having grounds in Northern No pains will be spare; for the accommodation pleasure seekers and the flaveling public.

il 12, 1860.

G. C. C. CAMPBELL,

BARBER AND HANR-DRESSER. IOP in the rear of the Post Office. Everything in and the will be done as well and promptly as it be done in the city saloons. ⁴ Preparations for re-ring dandraff, and beautifying the bair, for sale Hair and whiskers dyed any color. Call and Wellsboro, Sept. 22, 1839.

THE CORNING JOURNAL.

eorge W. Pratt, Editor and Proprietor. published at Corning, Stauben Co., N. Y., at One puoliar and Fifry Cents per year, in advance. The real is Republican in putities, and has a circula-reaching into every patt of Steuben County.-bse desirous of extending their business into that the adjoining counties will find it an excellent ading medium. Address; is above.

FURS: FURS! FURS!

URS-The subscriber f is just received a large assortment of Furs for 1 dies wear, consisting of ICH CAPES & VICTORINES,

FRENCH SABLE CAPES & VICTORINES; VER MINK CAPES & MUFFS,

HOCK MARTIN CAPES & VICTORINES. These comprise a small quantity of the assortment. sy have been bought at low prices and will be sold extremely low prices for cash at the New Hat Store Cornidg, N. Y. S. P. QUICK.

TO MUSICIANS. CHOICE LOT of the bost imported Italian and Devoted to the Briension of the Area of Freedom and the Spread of Bralthy Reform.

WHILE THERE SHALL BE A WRONG UNBIGHTED, AND UNTIL "MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN" SHALL CEASE, AGITATION MUST CONTINUE.

WELLSBORO, TIOGA COUNTY, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 3, 1861.

gether with his gold watch. No doubt, of course, remained that the deed was perpetrated by a highwayman. But notwithstanding several suspicious persons were arrested, nothing was established against them, and they

At length several weeks had passed away, and although the community were continually on the qui vive for the detection of the villain, the excitement in a great degree had subsided.

turn my thoughts northward ; and in anticipatipn of the homeward journey, I had disposed of my horse. In consequence of this, I was for some time indebted to the courtesy of my friend for the animal which had belonged to the murdered lawyer, still in the keeping of my

One day during the Spring session of the Circuit Court of the county, I happened to visit the town; and stopping opposite the court house, to speak with my attorney, my horse, being well known as having been the property of Hendricks, naturally attracted considerable attention. All at once the horse sprang to one side with such force, as almost to throw me from the saddle and trampled upon the feet of some of his friends, and snorting loudly, seem-

As soon as I could recover my seat, I looked about the crowd for the cause of this extraorpon this man; and no sooner had he caught sight of the horse, than I observed a peculiar expression on his face ; and when the last words

ed suddenly to be filled with terror.

the blood on yer hands !"

The month of March arrived, and I began to were discharged.

friend.

LINES ON A SRELETON.

Exactly forty years ago, the London Morning Chronicle published a poem entitled "Lines on a Skeleton," which ex. Hendricks being widely known, and deservedly agitation. cited much attention. Every effort, even to the offering of a reward of faity guineas was validy table, stell to the outring of a uthor. All that ever transpired was, that the poem in a fair clerky hand, was found near a skeleton of remarkable During the investigation that followed, it beauty of form and color, in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn, London, and that the Curator of the museum sent them to Mr. Perry, editor and pro prietor of the London Morning Chronicle. Behold this min ! 'twas a scull, Once of etherial spirit full, This narrow cell was life's retreat, This space was thought's mysterious seat, What benuteous visions filled this spat, What dreams of pleasure long forgot; Nor Hope, nor Love, nor Joy, nor Fear, Have left one trace of record here.

Beneath the mouldering canopy Once shone the bright and busy eyes If social love that eye employed ; If with no lawless fire it gleamed, But through the dew of kindness beamed, That eye shall be forever bright, When stars and sun are sunk in night.

Within this hollow cavern hung The ready swift and tuneful tongue: If falsehood's honey is disdained, And where it could not praise was chained, If, bold in virtue's cause it speke; Yet gentle concord never broke ! This silent tongue shall plead for thee When time unvails eternity.

Say, did these fingers delve the mine ! Or with its envied rubies shine ! To hew the rock, or wear the gem, Can little now avail to them ? But if the page of truth they sought, Or comfort to the mourner brought, These hands a richer meed shall claim, Than all that wait on health or fame.

Avails it whether bare or shod, These feet the path of auty trod 2 If from the bowers of ease they fied, To seek affliction's humile shed If grandeur's guilty bribe they spurned, And home to virtues cot returned, These feet with angel's wings shall vie, And trend the pulnee of the sky.

THE HORSE DETECTIVE. BY DR. S. C. SMITH.

In the winter of 1836, I was stopping for a dining saloon in the place. Though not a while with a planter friend, whose extensive. man much thought of, he was looked upon as an honest and harmless sort of a fellow. This cotton fields stretched along the west bank of man came up; and as he drew near, the horse the Boque Chitto, where that stream, after traexhibited the utmost alarm; and snorting wildversing Pike county, in the State of Mississippi, crossed the State line into the Parish of 17, sprang, in spite of the rein, through the crowd, and trembling violently, endeavored to Washington, in Louisiana. The plantation escape in an opposite direction. This strange lay wholly in the former State, but its southern behavior of the animal was remarked by all; limit was formed by the highway that led westand several voices exclaimed in the same ward from the Pearl River to the Mississinpi. breath : This road lay directly on the surveyed boun-"It's Bill Nevins! the horse's afraid of Bill Nevins !" dart of the two States, so that two heighbors, meeting in their morning ride, could shake hands from their saddles, and each in his own State-the Mississippian and the Louisiantan standing each on his own soil. One morning business made it necessary for me to ride to Franklinton, the county town of Washington parish, and the weather being unusually fine, my friend proposed to accompany me there.

where uttered-a deadly palor spread over his We had reached the State line road, along

comstance that had not agitated the community | sweet-gum, when he stopped, and pawing the of Boque Chitto for a long time; and Squire ground violently, exhibited signs of excessive popular, it created no small degree of excite-The gentlemen, as well as myself, having all confidence in the remarkable intelligence of the beautiful creature, we busied ourselves in examining the locality, convinced that this was anspired that the lawyer was at the time of the very scene of the killing of his master. his death, in the possession of a sum of money, hich he had collected for a client; and on the And such it proved ; for one of companions soon picked up a large, peculiarly shaped bowie morning of the murder, was taking it to the bank at Franklinton, to deposit, for the benefit knife, which was immediadely recognized by of his employer. This money was missing, toseveral as having been in the possession of Bill

Nevins shortly previous to the murder; whileon the roots of the tree were found 'tangled masses of hair, of a color comparing exactly with that of the deceased. These facts were sufficient, not only to prove the guilt of the prisoner, but also established the venue, thus making all the initiatory proceedings in the case in strict accordance with the forms and requirements of the law.

On the morning of the trial, I visited the prisoner in his cell, and stated the recent facts that had been developed against him, and conjured him, if he was really guilty, to confess the fact at once, and no longer attempt to stand out against the strong array of testimony that would establish his guilt. As I have said before, the man was not a hardened criminal, this, doubtless, being, the first arime he had ever been tempted to commit and with terrible agitation, most fearful to look upon, and which I can never forget, the poor wretch made a clean bosom of it, and confessed to the murder. He had become aware of the fact that Hendricks was in possession of a large sum of money, and also that he intended to deposit it at Franklinton, and secretly leaving Holmesville, he proceeded to the State line road to intercept him. Meeting his victim, to whom he was well known, by the roadside, he formed some pretext by which he induced him to enter the thicket by the sweet-gum, where the bloody dinary conduct. At this moment I perceived a person approaching, evidently to ascertain the deed was consummated; and the robbery accause of the gathering. I had frequently seen complished, he dragged the body to the spot where myself and my friend had found it. this man before, and knew he was the keeper Thus it was, that a noble and affectionate an-pointed out the murderer of his master, but the very spot where the terrible crime had been committed, thus being the instrument, in the hands of Providence, of retributive justice.

SHAKSPEREAN ILLUSTRATIONS.

By gracious !" cried another, "who knows bot Bill, here killed the lawyer? I say, old soul of this man is his clothes; trust him not fellow, go up to the critter, and let him smell in matters of heavy consequence.-All's well that ends well. From his first appearance, I had kept my eye

You are thought here to be the most sense. I don't new thing one desperately. less and fit man for the Constable of the watch; been ogling her ladyship most desperately. With You are thought here to be the most sense-

A FLEET MARBIAGE. BY AN IRISHMAN.

NO. 35.

Lady C. was a beautiful woman, but Lady C. was an extravagant woman. She was sitll single, though rather passed extreme youth .---Like most pretty females, she had looked too high, and estimated her own loveliness too dearly, and now she refused to believe that she was not as charming as ever. So, no wonder she still remained unmarried. - Lady C. had about five thousand pounds in the world. She owed about forty thousand pounds; so with all her wit and beauty, she got into the Fleet, and was likely to romain there. Now in the time I speak of every lady had her head dressed by a barber; and the barber of the Fleet was the handsomest barber of the city of London. Pat Philan was a great admi rer of the fair sex ; and where's the wonder ?-

Sure Pat was an Irishman. It was one very fine morning, when Philan was dressing her captivating head, that her ladyship took it into her mind to talk to him, and Pat was well pleased, for Lady C.'s teeth were the whitest, and her smile the brightest in the world.

"So you are not married, Pat," said she. "Niver an inch! your honor's ludyship," savs he. "And wouldn't you like to be married ?" gain asked she.

"Would a duck swim ?"

"Is there any one you'd prefer ?" "Maybe, madam," said he. "You never heard of Kathleen O'Reily, down beyond Doneraile. Her father's cousin to O'Donaghow; who's own steward to Mr. Murphy, the under agent to my Lord Kingston, and-"Hush !" says she; "sure I don't want to know who she is. But would she have you if you asked her?"

"Ah, thin, I'd only wish I'd be after trying that same."

"And why don't you ?" "Sure I'm too poor." And Philan heaved

a prodigious sigh. "Would you like to be rich ?"

" Does a dog bark ?!"

"If I make you rich will you do as I tell you ?"

"Mille-marthes! your honor, don't be tantilizing a poor boy." "Indeed, I am not!" said Lady C. So lis ten. How would you like to marry me?" "Ah, thin, my lady, I believe the King of Russia himself would be proud to do that same leave alone a poor divil sike Pat Philan." "Well, Philan, if you'll marry me to mor row. I'll give you one thousand pounds"

"O, whilabal o! whilabaloo! sure I'm mad or enchanted by the good people," roared Pat,

"After the first day of our nuptions you must never see me again, nor claim me for your wife." "I don't like that," said Pat, for he had therefore bear you the lagtern; this is your a "But remember Kathleen O'Reiley. With charge; you shall comprehend all vagrom the money I'll give you, you may go and mar-

Rites of Advertising,

Advertisoments will be charged $1 persquaré of 16 Auversisoments will be charged $1 persquare of 12 lines, one or three insertions, and 25 cents for every subsequent insertion. Advertisements of iest than 10 lines considered as a square. The minjoined rates will be charged for Quartoriy, Half Yearly and Yearly 4d vertisements:

S MONTHAL & ROSTRES. 15 MONTHES Square, $2,00 5,00 7,00 8.00 $4,60 8,59 8,50 $1.09 6.99 10,00 12,50 13,50 54,50 49,00 do. do. 8,00 9,60 15,00 50,00 dolumn, do. - 15,90 Column, - - - 25,00 Advertisements not having thenumber of I desired marked upon them, will be published until et-dered'out and charged accordingly. Postere, Handbills, Bill-Heads, Letter-Heads uses kinds of Jobbing done in country establishments, & -ecuted nearly and promptly. Justices, Constalls, s and other BLANKS constanty on hand

this, Paddy Philan was sitting by his little fire and thinking over the wonderful things he had, seen, when as sure as death, the postman bro't him a letter, the first he had ever received. which he took to a friend of his, one Byan, a fruit seller, because, you see, he was no great hand at reading writing, to decipher for him. It ran thus:

"Go to Demerile and marry Kathleen O'Ricy. The instant the knot is fied I fulfil my. promise of making you comfortable for life .-But as you value your life and liberty, never breathe a syllable of what is passed. Remember you are in my power if you tell your story. The money will be paid to you directly, if you inclose me your marriage certificate. I send you fifty pounds for present expenses. C.".

O, happy .Paddy ! Didn't he start next day for Cork, and didn't he marry Kathleen, and touch a thousand nounds ! By the powers be did And what is more, he took a cottage, which porhaps you know, not a hundred miles frum Bruffin, in the county of Limerick ; and, Pfaiz, he forgot his first wife entirely, and never told any one but myself under the promise of secresy, the story of his Fleet Marriage.

BIG MEN AND SMALL MEN-

Men of moderate dimensions, take heart. Don't be cast down in the presence of the bigboned altitudinarians. The longitude and latitude of a nun are, not the measure of his strength. Thit pocket Hercules, Dr. Winship, can lift more than the biggest of us. To be sure, weight goes for something in a bout fisticuffs or a cavalry charge, but even in the prize ring the giants are not unfrequently worsted, and it is by light infantry, not heavy dragoons, that modern battles are won. The wiry French Zounves played the mischief with the burly Germans at Magenta and Solferino, and the spare Italians, under Garibaldi, thrashed their oppressors when the odds were two to one against them.

The truth is, that small men are generally better made than your Golians. They are tougher, more compact, more symmetrical-Nature does not seem to take as much pains in perfecting large animals as in fushionable small ones. Compare the flea with the elephant .----The insect is a microscopic athlete. We allknow at what a rate it can travel on its muscle. If the proportion of strength to size were the same in the enormous beast as in the little domestic acrobat, the former would be able to take the City Hall at a flying leap, with the Common Council and all their sins on its back. With the human animal much depends on training. There must, of course, be a fair amount of muscle and sinew to train. It would have been impossible to make a gymnast of Cavin Edson. But any young man of ordinary natural strength may double or triple it by proper exercise, besides improving his health and increasing his chances of longevity. To attain these ends, however, he must not only take the positive and active measures necessary to their accomplishment, but he must forswear everything likely to retard that object. In a word, he must not dissipate.

imal, with a wonderful intelligence, not only

THUMPSON-Though I am not naturally honest, I am so sometimes by chance.- Winter's Tale. Toucey-

This drives me to entreat you. There can be no kernel in this light nut; the dancing round the rotan.

BUCHANAN-

"But there are conditions," says Lady C.

German	which our route lay for a little way, when, on	plied :	men; you are to bid any man stand, in the	ry her."	What a race of athletes we should have in VIOLIN STRINGS.	approaching a thicket on the northern side of	Who says I killed lawyer Hendrick? It's	Prince's name.	"That's thrue," says he. "But thin, the	this country if these simple, common sense rules ass Viol strings. Guitar ettags, Tuning Forks ndges &c., just received and its sale at ROY 5 DRUG STORE.	the path, our horses suddenly shied to the right	alie!"	2d WatchHow if he will not stand?	' i'll never appear against you," says her la-	of physical education and hygeirs were carried
ROY'S DRUG STORE.	and evidencing great alarm, refused to pass-	walk, with all the apparent nonchalence he	DogbWhy, then, take no note of him, but	dyship. "Only remember you must take an	out. The third generation from the present
WELLSBORG HOTEL,	the spot. Dismounting, and throwing the rein of my	could assume, in the direction of his saloon	let him go Much ado about nothing.	oath never to call me your wife after to-morrow,	would, under such a system, be at least twice bridle over the pummel of my friend's saddle,	As if an electric shock had struck me, the con-	South Carolina-	and never to go telling all the story."	as vigorous as their grandfathers, and hale men
WELLSBOROUGH, PA.	I entered the thicket, to discover the cause of	viction of that man's guilt rushed upon my	And all the devils are here.—Tempest.	"Niver a word I'll iver say."	of three score years and ten, and even four (Formerly of the United States Hotel.)	their unusual excitement.	mind; and forcing the frightened animal across	Gov. Wise-	"Well, then," says she; "there's ten pound.	score years, would not be considered marvels.
Having leased this well knows and popular House.	I perceived in the dust of the road, the ap-	the court-house quare, till I overtook him, I		Go and buy a licence, and leave the rest to me;	The average duration of human life is not up to the true standard in any part of the world, plicits the patronage of the public. With attentive nd ubliging waiters, together with the Proprietor's	pearance of something heavy having been drag-	bent forward in my saddle and shouted in his	well that ends well.	and then she explained to him where he was	(except, perhaps, among the Araucanian Indians nowledge of the business. he bapes to make the stay	ged through it in the direction of the bank of	"Bill Nevins! I BAY you murdered Esquire	He draweth out the thread of his verbesity	to go and when he was to come, and all that.	of Chili,) and in this country it is certainly far
f those who stop with hits both pleasant and	the bayou, and following this track into the	Hendricks !"	finer than the staple of his argumenf Loves	The next day Pat was true to his appoint- ment, and found two gentlemen already with	below it. Low as it is with us, however, it is greahle. Wellsburn, May 31, 1860.	dark shadow of the clump, I was horrified at	Hud a thunder bolt struck the guilty wretch;	Labors Lost.	her ladyship.	high enough to show that the constitutions of the sight that met my eyes.	be could not have fallen more suddenly to the		"H we you got the license ?" says she.	the people are naturally good. Considering the
PICTURE FRAMING. TOILET GLASSES, Portraises Pictures, Certificates-	Before me lay the body of a large, well-dres- sed man, who had been most inhumanly mur-	ground. He was not hardened in crime ; and	I must leave them, and seek more better ser-	"Here its my lady," says ha: and he gave	pains that thousands of Americans take to kill
Engravings, Needlo Wyrk, &c., &c., framed in.	dered, for beside a pistol shot though the bead,	this abrupt accusation of murder overcame	vice : their villainy goes against my stomach,	it to her. She handed it to one of the gentle-	themselves, it is wonderful that they live as to neaest manner, in plain and ornamented Gilt.	the throat was cut from ear to ear, and the em-	him.	and therefore 1 must cast it upKing Henry	men, who viewed it actentively. Then, calling	long as they doN. Y. Ledger.
Rose Wood, Black Walnut, Oal, Mahogany, &c. Per-	broidered vest and fine linen shirt bosom were	A warrant for his arrest was immediately ob- thined ; and he was conveyed to prison to await		in her two servants, she turned to the gentle-	VALUABLE RECEIPTS To destroy rats tert day framed in any style they wish and hung for-	slashed and dabbled with gouts of blood, from	his trial at the next session of the Circuit Court		man who was reading. And sure enough, in ten minutes Pat Philan	Catch them one by 'one and flatten their heads
hem. Specimens at SMITTS BOOK STORE.	wide knife-wounds in the breast and side.	in June; while I was required to remain in		was the husband, the legal husband of the	in a lemon squeezer.
	The man had but just been murdered, for on	the county as a witness in the case.	try'sHenry IV.	lovely Lidy C.	To kill cockroaches-Get a pair of heavy
E. B. BENEDICT, M. D.,	lifting one of the arms in my hasty examina-	It was a matter: of doubt whether the mur-	WIGFALL-	"That will do," says she to her husband, as	hoots, then catch you roashes, put them in a
WOULD inform the public that he is permanently located in Elkland Bigg, Tioga Co. Pa., and	tion, I observed that it was yet purple, and scarcely cold. Beside the body lay a pair of	der was done within the jurisdiction of the	When the butt is out we will drink water :	he gave her a hearty kiss ; " that'll do. Now,	barrel, then get in yourself and dance.
s prepared by thirty years' experience to treat all dis-	leathern saddle-bags, which had been rifled,	courts of Mississippi, or those of the State of	Not a drop before. Give me a cup of sack.	sir, give me my marringe certificate." The old	To kill bedbuge-Chain their hind legs to a
ases of the eyes and their anrendages on scientific	hand a filling asstants more boottored	Louisiann; and the prisoner's counsel, it was	Houme TV	gentleman did so, and bowing respectfully to	tree, then go round in front and make mouths praciples, and that he can sure without fuil, that dreadful disease, called St. Vilus' Dance, (Chorea	about the ground.	binted, would plend this question of venue in favor of their client.	Совв—	the five pound note she gave him, he retired	at them.
Oundi Viti,) and will attend to now other business in	My exclamation of horror at the bloody spec-	The body of the murdered man was found on	He'll be hanged yet ;	with his clerk; for sure enough, I forgot to tell	To catch mice-On going to bed put crumbs
the line of Physic and Surgery, Eikland Boro, August 8, 1860.	tacle had attracted the notice of my friend, and	the vestern side of the road, and some little	Though every drop of water swear against it,	you that he was a parton. "Go and bring me the warden," says my la-	of cheese in your mouth, and lie with it open, hitching the animals, he was soon at my side.	distance from it, and consequently within the	And gap its wid'st to glue him Tempest.	dy to one of her servants.	and when a mouse's whisker's tickle your throat
TIOGA REGULATOR.	He immediately recognized the man as E-quire	territry of the State of Mississippi. This	TOOMBS	"Yes, my laily," says she; and presently the	bite.
GEORGE F. HUMPHREY has opened a new Jewely Store at	Hendricks, a lawyer of standing in one of the	would be testified .to, by both my friend and	A pox o' your throat! you bawling, blas-	warden appeared,	To prevent dogs from going mad-Cut their
Tiona William Minma Compty Pa	neighboring counties of Mississippi.	myself; but, at the same time, it could be pro-	phemous, uncharitable dog !- Tempest.	"Will you be good enough," said Lady C.,	tails off close behind their ears.
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa.	While occupied in the examination of the	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road,	FLOTD-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree,	To keep healthy-Take a brandy smash car-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all Einds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing in a withmanlike Lanner. All	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently heen dragged some	FLOTD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a with manlike Lanner. All work warmanded to give antirectristance too.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand,	wen by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered,	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the conctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri-	. To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast.
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not rectend to do work hetter than any other	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re-	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently heen dragged some	FLOTD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately."	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then est your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi-	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the conctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table.	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Witches Plated.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man.	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the conctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal?	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately."	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then est your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a with manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elgewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tioga, Pa., March 15, 1860.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con-	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mas. ANDERSON-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire ratisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Fiega, Pa., March 15, 1860, Ky.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mas. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smilled at	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F. J. NEW HAT AND CAP STORE.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence.	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law.	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razed Measure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee,	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned;
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire ratisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Fiega, Pa., March 15, 1860, Ky.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi-	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mas. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things.	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash car- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tioga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operfed in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hund a large and general assortment	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- cinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mas. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well.	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- ion immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a wirkmanlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Witches Plated. GEORCS F. HUMPHREY. Tioga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, 19.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operfed in this place a new Hat and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats,	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- mor. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra-	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- cinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAS. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- ion immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you ate single,"	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manlike Lanner. All work warranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Witches Plated. Solar of the satisfaction of the satisfaction Tiega, Pa., March 15, 1860, 197.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operfed in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Pashionable Sitk and Cassimere Hats.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- d for a start is a start and the spot, and head stretched	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mar. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney ooach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?"	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabglo- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secrei. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilke Lanner. All work warnanted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, hut we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare ad keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time prices.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched the utmost ded remains of his master, his	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my dusiness at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevine, I found it necessary	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. Mas. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "Where's your husband?" "There sir !" and she pointed to the aston-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for hobody—no, not he—because nobbdy cared 'for him." And the whole world will serve you so.
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilke Lanner. All work warnanted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, hut we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare ad keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time prices.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched the utmost ded remains of his master, his	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself.	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAS. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hoge very mysteriously; and, after pa-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause.
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilke Lanner. All work warnanted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, hut we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare ad keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time prices.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched the utmost ded remains of his master, his	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com-	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the canctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hoge very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."- "Where's your husband ?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- isbed barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilke Lanner. All work warnanted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, hut we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare ad keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time prices.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched the utmost ded remains of his master, his	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevine, I found it necessary to visit that town myself.	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "There is it?" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared 'for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilke Lanner. All work warnanted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, hut we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare ad keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time prices.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched the utmost ded remains of his master, his	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUS-Just before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his bogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband ?" "There sir !" and she pointed to the aston- isbed barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir,	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not be—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All work waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. Second F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., March 15, 1860, 19.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opened in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphifacture, which will be 'sold' at hard times pices. SIL-K FLATS- made to order on shart notive is The Hats sold at this Store are fitted with a French Conformature, which miket tips no fit and ensy to the head without the wouble of intending your head to break the hat. Store in the Ifaw Block opposite the Dickinson Hange.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched toward the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever hoked upon. For a moment, the faithful creature	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with sereral gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of torsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "There sir !" and she pointed to the aston- isbed barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril."	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared 'for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All word waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of my own maphifacture, which will be 'sold' at hard times pices. SIL-K FL ATS- made to order on shwirt notifies The Hats sold at this Stole are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket them soft and easy to the bread without the trouble of Biokaking your head to break the hat. Store in the Hern Block opposite the Dickinson House. Corning, Aug. 15, 1859.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward-the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their suckets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever looked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel-	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- hood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- perty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. May. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you are single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished harber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and ho won-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tease, and which manifest its passed to the set of the same set of the set of a still to tease, and which manifest its passed to be a set of the set of
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All word waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, fy.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opered in this place a new Hat and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment Fashionable Sijk and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard timet prees. SIL-K FLATS- made to order on shart notive of The Hats sold at the store are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket them soft and easy to the break the hat. Store in the Haw Block opposite the Dickinson House. CEDAR RUN HOTEL.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward-the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their suckets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and subline picture of terror I had ever looked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- cinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- hood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the heautiful bay, which had been the pro- fierty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject.	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."." "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished harber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and no won- der. Poor Philan would have spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secrer. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweat courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose woice is too still to tease, and which manifest is themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer-
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All word waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opered in this place a new Hat and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard timet prices. SIL-K FLATS- nade to order on shart notive The Hats sold at the store are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket the soft and easy to the break without the topuble of lipinsking your head to break the bat. Store in the Haw Block opposite the Dickinson House. CEDAR RUN, LYCOM AG COUNTY, PA.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward the mangled remains of his master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever hoked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubte of the identity, he reached forward to one of the	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of torsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the heautiful bay, which had been the pro- perty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the meighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe," said he; "I could have you in-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and po won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but mei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabglo- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Storne so hap- pily calls "the small sweat courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tense, and which manifest is themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All work warnated to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, Ky.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operfed in this place a new that and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats, al my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time pices. SIL-K FL. ATS- made to order on shart notive if The Hats sold at his Stole are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket them soft and easy to the bead without the wouble of Brishing your head to break the bat. Store in the Hay Block opposite the Dickinson House. Corning, Aug. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN, LYCOM AC COUNTY, PA. This house has been latel, refitted and opened for the source has been latel, refitted and opened for	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their suckets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever hoked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubte of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of torsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the heautiful bay, which had been the pro- perty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder.	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAS. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subjeut. "Now Joe," said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."." "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished harber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and no won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secrer. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweat courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose woice is too still to tease, and which manifest is themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer-
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witkmanlike Lanner. All work waranted to give entire'satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. Sigo, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, HY.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opened in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- ture and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats , of my own maphificture, which will be 'sold' at hard limet prices. SIL-K FL ATS made to order on short notive of The Hats sold at this Store are fitted with a French Conformature, which marks to star and ensy to the bead without the wouble of lipsaking your head to veak the bat. Store in the Haw Block opposite the Dickinson House. CEDAR RUN, CYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. This house has been latel, refitted and opened for the accommodation of to public. 'Located at a curly point; stages laying your all a factor of to public.' Located at a curly point; stages leaving wy alternate day for What heads to react the store of the public.' Located at a curly point; stages leaving wy alternate day for	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward the mangled remains of his master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever howked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection-	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- nany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- ferty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraurdinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAN. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe." said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc-	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you are single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and po won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, a prisoner for debt	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobbdy cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Storne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tense, and which manifest ithemselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sitting, or standing."
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witkmanilke Lanner. All word waranded to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiega, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of my own maphifacture, which will be 'sold' at hard times pices. SIL-K FL ATS- made to order on shart notifie The Hats sold at birs Stote are fitted with a French Conting, Aug. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN, CYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. This house has been latel, refitted and opened for Velta rouge Shore econnecting with cars on Velta rouge Shore econnecting with a region and to order on short notifies and supposite the Dickinson House. Corning, Aug. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN, CYCOM AG COUNTY, PA.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward the mangled remains of his master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their suckets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever hoked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection- ate spaniel, evinced attachment and grief, in a	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed had been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been thoroughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- nany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- hood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- ferty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraurdinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe." said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc- cess of the ticket, and harmony of the party, if	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single," "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aslon- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and no won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, a prisoner for debt to the amount of forty thou and pounds.	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secrei. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tense, and which manifest themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sittling, or standing."
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witkmanilke Lanner. All word waranded to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, F.Y.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operied in this place a new that and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of my own maphifacture, which will be 'sold' at hard times pices. SIL-K FL ATS- made to order on shart notifie The Hats sold at birs Stote are fitted with a French Conting, Aug. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN, CYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. This house has been latel, refitted and opened for Velta rouge Shore ioponecing with cars on Velta rouge Shore ioponecing with a re- solar without the spable of the public. Located at a corning, Aug. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN, CYCOM AG COUNTY, PA.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward the mangled remains of his master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their suckets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had ever hoked upon. For a moment the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection- ate spaniel, evinced attachment and grief, in a	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town uyself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- tood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- ferty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the bloody act had been consummated, the animal legan to exhibit the same symptoms of alarm	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe," said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc- cess of the ticket, and barmony of the party, if you promise you win't steal any more of my	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and no won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, aprisoner for debt to the amount of forty thou-and pounds. Well sir for some time. Pat thought he was	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabgle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tease, and which manifest themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sittling, or standing." INATTENTION to the present business, be it what it will; the doing one thing, and thinking
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All word waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. Second F. HUMPHREY. Tigga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, 19.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just operfed in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Sik and Cassimere Hats, of my own maphifacture, which will be sold at hard times pices. SIL-2K FT. ATS- made to order on shart notife The Hats sold at this Store are fitted with a French Conformature, which minks to just soft and ensy to the bead without the wouble of breaking your head to preak the hat. Store in the Taw Block opposite the S. P. QUICK. CEDAR RUN, LYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. This house has been latel; refitted and opened for the accommodation of the public. Located at a central point; stages leaving way alternate day for Welleboro and Jersey Shore to an the south at Street and Store at as other the south of the scotter of the south affect and the second for of the public. Tocated at a central point; stages leaving way alternate day for the Tops. R. north and St. E. R. no the south This House is situated on the specific and and Store the Tops. Store is the St. R. no the south The Hats south and St. E. R. no the south The Hats south and St. E. R. no the south the south set stated on the specific and for the top at R. north and St. E. R. no the south. The south set stated on the specific and for the top at stated on the specific and for the top at stated on the specific and specific at a the south state of the specific and specific at a the top at state on the specific and specific at a the specific and specific at a specific at	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The horse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and head stretched toward the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and sublime picture of terror I had eyer hoked upon. For a moment, the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, palm up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection- nte spaniel, evinced attachment and grief, in a language stronger than words could ever have	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- pany with several gentlemen of the neighbor- tood, so that we formed quite a company of thorsemen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- ferty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the bloody act had been consummated, the animal be had shown on the former occasion, and at	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; and, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe." said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc- cess of the ticket, and barmony of the party, if you promise you wun't steal any more of my hogs I'll let you off-and what's more. I'll give	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your hadyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me," And she smilled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."" "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and po won- der. Poor Philan would have spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, a prisoner for debt to the amount of forty thou-add pounds. Well, sir, for some time, Pat 'thought he was in a dream and the creditors thought they were	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is 'too still to tease, and which manifest themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sitting, or standing." INATTENTION to the present business, be it what it will; the doing one 'thing, and thinking at the same time of another, or the attenuing
Tioga Village, Tioge County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witkmanlike Lanner. All word waranted to give entire'satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. GEORGE F. HUMPHREY. Tiga, Pa., Maroh 15, 1866, Hy.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opered in this place a new Hat and Cup Store, where he intends to manufac- tare and keep on hand a large and general assortment of my own maphfacture, which will be 'sold' at hard time pices. SIL-K FLATS. ande to order on shart notice of the sold at hard timet pices. The Hats sold at this Store are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket them soft and easy to the break the hat. Store in the Haw Block opposite the Dickinson House. CEDAR RUN, LYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. THIS house has been latel, refitted and opened for the accommodation of to public. Located at a cutal point; stages leaving with cars on the Tioga R. R. north and S. E. R. Ro on the south. This House is situated on the Second for the south. The gas. But a stage is bore greater and opened for the accommodation of to public. Located at a cutal point; stages leaving with cars on the Tioga R. R. north and S. E. R. R. on the south. This House is situated on the Second for the south. This house has been latel, refitted and opened for the accommodation of the public. Located at a cutal point; stages leaving with cars on the Tioga R. R. north and S. E. R. R. on the south. This Honse is situated on the Second for the south. This Honse is situated on the Second for the south. This Honse is situated on the Second for the south. This Honse is situated on the Second for the finding for rafts in the faint season. Good puts (se finding for rafts in the faint season. Good puts (se finding for the laft) for the laft.	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward-the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and subline picture of terror I had ever looked upon. For a moment, the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection- nte spaniel, evinced attachment and grief, in a language stronger than words could ever have done. Of course, this painful discovery put an end	ven by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The vi- dinity had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise local- ity of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In con- sequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness of a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevine, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in com- many with several gentlemen of the neighbor- thood, so that we formed quite a company of thoremen. As usual, of late, I was mounted on the beautiful bay, which had been the pro- ferty of the murdered lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the bloody act had been consummated, the animal degra to exhibit the same symptoms of alarm he had shown on the former occasion, and at the court-house square, notwithstanding the Horses of my companions, evinced no eigns	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the neighborhood. The Colonel thought the mat- ter over, and then went to see Joe upon the subject. "Now Joe." said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for thia; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc- cess of the ticket, and barmony of the party, if you promise you won't steal any more of my hogs I'll let you off-and what's more, I'll give you a thousand pounds of pork a year." Joe	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- gon immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardori me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."- "Where's your husband?" "There sir !" and she pointed to the aston- ished barber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and po won- der. Poor Philan would have spuken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, a prisoner for debt to the amount of forty thou and pounds. Well, sir, for some time, Pat thought he was in a dream, and the creditors thought they were still worse. The following day they had a meeting, and finding how they had been trick-	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tangle- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweet courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is 'too still to tease, and which manifest themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sitting, or standing." INATTENTION to the present business, be it what it will; the doing one thing, and thinking at the same time of another, or the attempting to do two things at once, are the neverfailing
Tioga Village, Tioga County, Pa. Where he is prepared to do all kinds of Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing, in a witk manilike Lanner. All work waranted to give entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to do work better than any other man, but we can do as good work as can be done in the cities or elsewhere. Also Watches Plated. Second F. HUMPHREY. Tiego, Pa., Maroh 15, 1860, HY.) NEW HAT AND CAP STORE. THE Subscriber has just opened in this place a new Hat and Cap Store, where he intends to manufac- ture and keep on hand a large and general assortment of Fashionable Silk and Cassimere Hats , of my own maphificture, which will be 'sold' at hard limet prices. SIL-K FL ATS made to order on short notive The Hats sold at this Store are fitted with a French Conformature, which maket them soft and easy to the bead without the wouble of lipsaking your head to break the bat. Store in the Haw Block opposite the Dickinson House. Corning, Ang. 15, 1859. CEDAR RUN , EYCOM AG COUNTY, PA. This house has been latell refitted and opened for the tages leaving every alternate day for Welleboro and Jersey Shore the Tings R.R. north and S. E. R. on the south. This House is situated on the Schart Run Gang Mill pond-a safe and convenient flanding for rafts in the Thing season. Good puts for obstructions. Har- ng deen practically engaged in the river business for Harton Store in the flanding for rafts in the The thouse is free [join obstructions]. Har- ng deen practically engaged in the river business for Harton and prove and prove the first on the south. This House is situated on the first in the failed harton and prove and prove in the first on barton the left harton barton the beach is free [join obstructions]. Har- Ing been practically engaged in the river business for	While occupied in the examination of the body and the surrounding locality, a violent snorting and tramping was heard close at hand, and my friend, leaving me for an instant, re- turned, leading by the broken bridle a noble and greatly excited animal, which he said was the horse of the murdered man. He was a beautiful thorough-bred bay, known to every one in that portion of the country, and noted for his remarkable intelligence. The borse, on being led to the spot, exhibi- ted the utmost excitement, and trembling in every limb, almost fell to the ground with ter- ror. As he stood thus, with his fore feet bra- ced forward his long neck and hend stretched toward-the mangled remains of his-master, his mane standing almost on end, and his eyes glaring wildly from their sockets, like balls of fire, I thought he presented the most perfect and subline picture of terror I had ever looked upon. For a moment, the faithful creature stood thus gazing upon the fearful sight, and gradually approached the body, and after smel- ling it, as if to remove all lingering doubts of the identity, he reached forward to one of the outstretched hands, as it lay, paim up, on the grassy ground, and licking it like an affection- nte spaniel, evinced attachment and grief, in a language stronger than words could ever have done. Of course, this painful discovery put an end	 wen by the appearance of the dust of the road, that the body had evidently been dragged some distance, to the place where it was discovered, after the deed hid been perpetrated. The videntry had been throughly searched, as was supposed, and no evidence of the precise locality of the death scene had been detected, by which the venue could be established. In consequence of this it was feared that the guilty man would escape the clutches of the law. Since the discovery of the murder, I had not had occasion to pass over the road where it had been perpetrated, having transacted my business at Franklinton, through the kindness, if a friend. But a few days previous to that set for the trial of Nevins, I found it necessary to visit that town myself. I started from my friend's plantation in company with several gentlemen of the neighborhood, so that we formed quite a company of the several lawyer, and it was on this occasion that the extraordinary intelligence of the animal led to the complete elucidation of the mystery of the murder. When we reached the vicinity where the bloody act had been consummated, the animal legan to exhibit the same symptoms of alarm he had shown on the former occasion, and at the court-house square, netwithstanding the horses of my companions, evinced no eigns whatever of fear. We had passed the sput 	FLOYD- Thou concludest like the sanctimonious pi- rate that went to sea with the Ten Command- ments, but scraped one out of the table. 2d Gent-Thou shalt not steal? Lucio-Ay, that he razedMeasure for Mea- sure. MAJ. ANDERSON- I know thou art gallant; and, to the possi- bility of thy soldiership, will subscribe for thee, -FarewellAll's well that ends well. HARMONIOUSJust before the election in the State of Wisconsin, it happened that one Col. Wilson-a good Democrat, a farmer, and a can- didate for the Legislature-had lost a number of his hogs very mysteriously; und, after pa- tiently investigating the matter, he at length discovered that they had been stolen by another Democrat-one Joe Jones, a fellow of some no- toriety and a little political influence in the subject. "Now Joe." said he; "I could have you in- dicted and put in prison for this; but seeing as how you are a good Democrat, and for the suc- cess of the ticket, and barmony of the party, if you promise you won't steal any more of my hogs I'll let you off-and what's more, I'll give you a thousand pounds of pork a year." Joe scratched his head reflectively for a moment, and then said: "To tell the truth Colonel I	in a voice that would call a bird off a tree, "will-you be good enough to send and fetch me a hackney coach? I wish to leave this pri- son immediately." "Your ladyship forgets." replied he, "that you must pay forty thousand pounds before I can let you go." "I am a married woman. You can detain my husband, but not me." And she smiled at Philan, who began rather to dislike the appear- ance of things. "Pardon me, my lady, it is well known you ate single." "I tell you I am married."." "Where's your husband?" "There sir!" and she pointed to the aston- ished harber, "there he stands. Here is my marriage certificate, which you can peruse at your leisure. My servants yonder were wit- nesses of the ceremony. Now detain me sir, at your peril." The warden was dumb-founded, and no won- der. Poor Philan would bave spoken, but nei- ther party would let him. The lawyer below was consulted. The result was evident. In half an hour Lady C. was free, and Pat Phi- lan, her legitimate husband, a prisoner for debt to the amount of forty thou-and pounds. Well, sir, for some time, Pat thought he was in a dream, and the creditors thought they were still worse. The following day they had a meeting, and finding how they had been trick- d strart they'd detain poon. Pat forever But	To keep healthy—Take a brandy smash ear- ly in the morning, throw it out of the window and then eat your breakfast. To kill your enemies—Treat them to tabglo- leg whiskey. SECRET OF BEING LOVED.—William Wirt's letter to his daughter on the "small sweet cour- tesies of life," contains a passage from which a deal of happiness might be learned: "I want to tell you a secret. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to show that you care for them. The whole world is like the miller of Mansfield, "who cared for nobody—no, not he—because nobody cared for him." And the whole world will serve you so, if you give them the same cause. Let every one, therefore, see that you do care for them, by showing them what Sterne so hap- pily calls "the small sweat courtesies" in which there is no parade; whose voice is too still to tense, and which manifest themselves by tender and affectionate looks, and little kind acts of attention, giving others the prefer- ence in every little enjoyment, at the table, in the field, walking, sitting, or standing." INATTENTION to the present business, be it what it will; the doing one thing, and thinking at the same time of another, or the attempting to do two things at once, are the never-failing signs of a little, frivolous mind.

dered man, and leading the excited horse, we where the body of Hendricks had been discov- don't like to make that agreement, no how; but as they well knew that he had nothing, and wants and requirements of this trade, and will endony-Teturned The table, but chambers and stables of to please. The table, but chambers and stables fill always be attentively we gived and well supplied. Call and see as, and we will str with you sure to see you again. D. A. FISH, Proprietor. A cold-blooded murder like this Cedar Run. Feb. 16, 1860. The table, bay chambers and stables returned to my friend's plantation -- calling on dred, when the horse, in spite of my guidance, seeing we are both good Democrats and for the wouldn't feel much shame in going through the are used over or under the nose. the way, upon the neighbors and imparting the dashed into the tangled thickets with me, and sake of the success of the ticket, and harmony Insulvent Court, they made the best of a bad

in the start

"furcing his way through the grape vines and in the party, I'll do it ; but darn me if I won't bargain, and let him go. A cold-blooded murder like this, was a cir. dverhanging limbs, reached the roots of a large lose bog meat by the operation." and and a

Well, you must know, about a week after | first learn to be He,

It makes a great difference whether glasses.

H.

In r ler to deserve a true friend, you must :..':