In the late battles on the C ckahominy, whenever a battalion was wanter to meet the enemy in his advance and hold sim in check while a line was formed to cover the dangerous retreat of a division, to support a keaking line or to form a rallying point for a signered brigade, the Bucktails took the post if singer as a matter of right; and always held it util ordered

Messers. Wilmot and Cowan.

Among all the members of the large Convention of Republicans, which me in this city on Monday, there was not one man who had a word to say in defence, or exembration, or in extenuation of the course of Ebgas A. Cowan, in the Senate of the United States There was who had so basely deceived his julical friends who had elevated him to a seat to ruch beyond his capacity or his deserts.

Western Pennsylvania is rechlingly Antislavery. It is strongly, sterr ly Republican. When a Senator was, in the git of the Republicans of this section, they win justy looked around for a man to represent their who should principles. Mr. Cowan's Republican friends stepped forward and presented him. He was measurably unknown to the peoply except as a clever country lawyer, who had made a few political speeches at Republican Conventions. Some doubts were expressed as to his reliability, but they were pooh-poobed down by his friends, who vouched for him that he was a Republican of the true Anti-slavery type, and withal a man of marked abilities.

In an evil hour his election was conceded, without much opposition, but with very little August 9th, be fixed upon by general consent warmth. A fear prevaded many minds that a mistake had been made, but resone dreamed that it was of so fatal a charact. He knew, when he was elected, the views his political friends who raised him to his gh seat, and what was expected of him, at his an honest man he orgate to have undeceing them. If he had been an honest man, he sold have done so; but he kept silent until je goal was reached, when he displayed is principles in their true colors. His politica friends, of the Republican party, have been intely betrayed, and they scorn the traitor, at 1 pepudiate his acts. Semi-secession Democr ic papers and conventions are now his defen in and friends, while republicans despise the nun who could stoop so low for office. Let C win go.

In Hon. David Wilmor with he a Senator to be proud of. He has been tried in the furnace, and not found wanting. He convictions have been the growth of years of experience in public life, and amidst opr silion and obli- deficiency of volunteers in that State will also quy has he maintained his in eggity. He has be made up by a special draft from the militia. graven his name on the the hit ory of his country, and stands forth to-day at the honest and honored son of Pennsylvania, whose integrity has never been successfully as as at a d, whose patriotism is unquestioned, where ability is undoubted, and who possesses the respect and admiration of the people of all the loyal States. The Republicant of this city indicounty see in him their true representative in the Senate, and nothing will give them greater at asure than to see him re-elected by the next Legislature, to a place he so ably fills, and somuch adorns.-Pittsburgh Gazette.

LIBERALITY OF PHYSICIANS has always been said that physicians would lisparage any remedy however valuable, witing they did not originate themselves. This his yen disproved by their liberal course towards Dr. J. C. Aver's preparations. They have adopted them into general use in their practice, which shows a willingness to countenance inteles that have intrinsic merits which deserve Seir attention. This does the learned profession great credit, and effectually contradicts the Prevalent erroneons notion that their opposit in to proprietary remedies is based in their storest to discard them. We have always had confidence in the honorable motives of our medical men, and are glad to find it sustained by the liberal welcome they accord to such remedies as Ayer & Co.'s inimitable remedies, ever though they are not ordered in the books hat are made known to the people through the newspapers. -New Orleans Delta.

People's State Hominations.

. FOR AUDITOR GENERAL, THOMAS E. COCHRAN, OF YORK COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL. WILLIAM S. ROSS, OF LUZERNE COUNTY.

We are requested to give notice that a War Mass Meeting will be held at Lawrenceville on Saturday next, at which Hon. A. S. tail Rifles of Pennsylvania throughout the Diven and Capt. E. F. Crane of Elmira, Gen. campaign and especially in the late pattles be- R. R. VanValkenburgh of Bath, W. K. Logie of Corning, John W. Ryon, H. Sherwood, H. W. Williams and T. E. Gridley are expectclass of men to bear the same name and wear ed to Speak. Arrangements are also being made to hold a War Mass Meeting in Wellsbothat that name and that badge, bich have roon the same day. Hon. W. H. Armstrong, become a terror to the enemy, as an in- Waldo Willard, Esq., of Williamsport, and sev-Waldo Willard, Esq., of Williamsport, and several other eminent speakers will be present. Let there be a regular old fashioned turn out.

The New Order.

An order has been issued from the War Department, that after the tenth of this month. no more volunteers will be accepted for nine months or a year. All companies, therefore, which are now forming under the call of the Governor for this limited period, must report themselves at once at Harrisburg. Of course, if the quota be not made up very soon by the enlistment of men for three years, or durings the war, the Tioga County has already contributed over One Thousand Men to: the troops of the Old Commonwealth, besides as many as four hundred men who have enlisted in companies in other States. Tioga boys have shared the hardships dangers, and the glory of every battle for the unity of the Republic, both in the East to recruit, or information as to enlightnent, subsistance or transportation, can apply in person or by letter, to the undersigned of the Headquarters in Harrisburg. ROLESTONE; render them unfit for any further service, many are by the fortunes of war confined in Southern prisons, and many, alas, too many-sleep the sleep of death in a land of strangers, all victims of this hell-born rebellion, but noble and glorious sacrifices for the cause of Freedom and good government. To make good the loss of these brave men to the army, we are asked for three hundred more. Our County with a magnanimity unequaled by any other County in the State, has given Fifteen Thousand Dollars to be divided among the three hundred thus called for, in sums of $50 to each. Each volunteer will thus have one month's pay, a universal feeling of execution of the ingrate ($13.) and $27 bounty from the Government,

Will these three hundred be raised before next Monday? We believe they will. Every indication points to this result. Men are canvassing the County in every direction for recruits, and we hear of volunteers enlisting and Lieutenants; there must be privates. Let each man who has been instrumental in enlisting others, and who has spent his time and money to do so, bring his men to Wellshorough, Elkland, or Tioga, and let them there be consolidated. As soon as the skeletons of the three companies are formed, the work of filling up will not be great, but there must be a nucleus around which to gather. Let Saturday, for the muster of all companies, and then we will be better informed of the actual facts.

Citizens of Tioga County, time is precious. There must be no delay. The Government needs nen.

-Since the above was put in type we have received the following call for 300,000 more troops, which explains itself:

WAR DEPARTMENT, Aug. 4, 1862. Ordered, first: That a draft of 300,000 militia be immediately called into the service of the United States, to serve for nine months, unless sooner discharged. The Secretary of War will assign the quotas to the States and establish regulations for the draft. Second: That if any State shall not by the 15th of August furnish its quota of the additional 300,000 volunteers authorized by law, the The Secretary of War will establish regulations for this purpose. Third: Regulations will be prepared by the War Department and presented to the President, with the object of securing the promotion of officers of the army and volunteers for meritorious and distinguished services, and of preventing the nomination and appointment in the military service of incompetent or unworthy officers. The regulations will also provide for ridding the service of such incompetent persons as now hold commissions.

By order of the President. . EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War. From Niles' Company.

No music was allowed to play in above all things else be true and fai Afal to their every day. Of course, all cannot be Captains any of the regiments; but axes, picks, shovels, and spades, were used from morning until late at night. Frequently were we called out under arms, (the number of times, I will not try to tell,) but on the morning of the 25th of June, we received orders to be ready to go on picket at 3 o'clock next morning. Accordingly on the morning of the 26th, we left our tents and arrived at our lines about daybreak. We remained at our posts, looking at secesh drill, and viewing their pickets, until about one or two o'clock p. m., when our scouts came in with the news that the enemy were advancing in superior force up the Rail Road running from Fredericksburg to Richmond. Soon our cavalry were engaged, and about 3 or 4 o'clock p. m., news came that Jackson was within three miles of us with an overwhelming force. The call was given for the companies to rally near Mechanicsville, where the 5th regiment was stationed. Here a few rounds were exchanged, and then the regiments fell back into their rifle

I will try and give you a description of the ground occupied by the 1st Rifle Regt., (Bucktails.) and 5th Rifle Regt., Pa. R. C. Vol.

The road running from White House to Rich mond, ran on the left of our regiment, and on the right of the 5th. Our rifle pit was dug infront of our camp; and running not more than five feet from my tent, and the Fifths was dug on their side of the road, a little below ours, so that if the enemy advanced down the road, they would be under a "cross fire" that would tell on their ranks in round numbers.

The Buck-tails and Fifth, had not long been in their pits, when the enemy appeared in full force in our front. Soon the ball opened in earnest. The shouts of the combattants mingled with the roaring of artillery, and the clashing of small arms, as the troops became generally engaged. The balls from the rebels' guns in front of our pit, passed harmlessly over our heads, or struck against the bank in front. Here we held 10,000 at bay from half past 3 o'clock p. m., till about half past seven. We lay in the pits all night. The groans and cries of the wounded and dying rebels, were enough to curdle the blood in the stoutest heart. All night long did these miserable wretches cry in the most agonizing terms for help, but no earthly help could come to their relief; their cries were only hushed by the "pale messenger," who would, in mercy, come to their relief, and bear them to their last long home.

On the morning of the second day, the enemy tried to march onto us by coming down the road mentioned above, but here they were met by our cross-fire, which litterly piled them in heaps; such a havoc as was made in their ranks was awful to behold, and never shall I forget the spectacle. Some were lying on the ground with their legs broken, some were headless, while others who had received a mortal wound, but still had a little life left, were trying to crawl to a place of safety. But I will not dwell on such a scene. Suffice it to say that no words of mine are adequate to describe the sight that then and there met my gaze.
