WH, VAN HORE. The body of this brave oung soldier, who was killed in the terrible buttle of Sharpsburg, was brought home last Wednesday, and Sharpsburg, was brought home last Wednesday, and the next day he was followed to the grave by a very large number of people. The funeral services were held in St. Paul's Church, and the sermon was preceded by Rev. Mr. Marpux. At the request of many friends, Mr. M. has kindly furnished us with the following extract from his sermon on the occasion:

LEODY'S NEW STEEL PLATE COUNTY COLORD MAP OF THE UNITED STAES, CAMADAS, AND NEW BRUNSWICK.

From recent surveys, completed Aug. 10, 1862; cost $20,000 to engrave it and one year's time.

Superior to any $10 map ever made by Colton or Mitchell, and sells at the flow price of fifty cents; 370,000 names are engravel on this map.

It is not only a County Map, but it is also a COUNTY AND RAILBOAD MAP.

To-day we have gathered together for the purpose of committing to the earth, until the morning of the resurrection, the mortal remains of a young friend and soldier, William Van Horn. He died Wednesday, Sept. 17th, while engaged on the side of his country in the battle near Sharpsburg. William had been in the service about a year and a half. He was among the enriest of our recruits who enlisted for three years. The labors of his regiment for some weeks preceding his death were extremely arduous. Landing at Acquia Creek they were marched along the Rappahannock, guarding fords and batteries; and when the order came to fall back they marched toward Washington, and as they marched they fought with a heroiem that entitles them to our gratitude and honor. Never should we forget our valiant youth who aided in preserving our national arms from disgrace in the second contest at Manassas. Arriving at Mashington they rested for a few days, when, though weakened by hunger and exhausted by hard fought battles, they rose up at the word of command and marched bravely out to meet and drive back the enemy of our peace and Government. That enemy was met on the field of Antietam and was compelled to retreat to his own valleys, which had already been mpoverished by war. In the long and terrible fight of the 17th of September William Van Horn acted his part brayely as a soldier, and where the fight was hot, there he laid down his life, a pledge of his per-sonal valor and a sacrifice for the repose of his country. There is not a comrade nor an officer but who bears cheerful testimony to his obedience, kindness of heart, self control, faithfulness and courage. In those weeping April days, when he first went forth, he approached his father and kissed him, a long and sad farewell. With the same tenderness and affec-tion let us henceforth cherish the memory of the warm-hearted ton and the brave young soldier.

I have counted the names of ten young men who two years ago were in our Sunday School—eight of them were in one Bible class—all of whom have since served in the army of their country. Some of them the Lord has called away—Erwin Atherton by sickness, James Cole and William Van Horn through the field of battle. One of them was wounded at Dranesville, another at Manassas. Two of them are now bets, we maked of sics, are nouse on a cape. The rest of the sics of them are now bey look worn and haggard, but they best on with disabled by the labors of the campaign. The remainly fortitude and are only anxious to get, will and to-day full as much as I did when they first went out from us. I bear them in my thoughts and affections, and I heavy there for their enthusingment of the cape there for their enthusingment. and I honor them for their enthusiasm, devotion and Self-sacrifice.

Connected with families of the congregation there are not less than thirty persons who are exposed to the dangers of war. I will add to the honorable roll of the deceased soldiers of the congregation by men-tioning the names of George English and William Megraff—both of whom died in the courageous-discharge of their duty in the presence of the enemy. Funeral services have been held in this church over the bodies of Henry McCarty and Delos Wetherbee.

There are others also whom we all should kenor.
The time is not far distant when the names of those who have fallen in this war to preserve the nation will be cherished with a reverence even greater than the soldiers of the Revolution have been. We ought the soldiers of the Revolution have been. We ought to be grateful to the men who by volunteering have done so much toward upplying the demand made by Marion, Union. North Taylor and Heuston. Assistthe Government upon our village and adjoining townships for troops, and who have illustriously maintained our local honor, by patriotic endurance on the march and by unshrinking valor when under the enemy's fire. Of those formerly living in Wellsborr, Delmar and Charleston there have been slain a defaulting our dispatrices. in defending our Government and homes (in addition to those already mentioned) George Dwight Smith, George Brewster, Henry Fenton, Hiram Wilcox and

I do not forget a young friend, who, at the time of entering the army, hved in a neighboring village. I was acquainted with him for years. He had something more than my respect and regard. He was intelligent, kind, pleasing, upright and brave. And with these words I pay a merited tribute to the memory of Robert S unicek.

These all, as brave men, are entitled to this testimonial, and to a more cuduing one, which doubtless will, at the proper time be erected in their honor. The bodies of many of our dead remain, and will remain, upon the battle fields of the South. Ground that had no sacredness in our eyes has, by the anointing of Northern blood, been made precious. Of how many afflicted ones may it be said, their thoughts will wander there, their attections will abide there, and the strange country will be to them as Canaan was to the Israelites; and where their dear ones are buried, their Israels and their Josephs, in the same country will they take up their home, having been taught by affliction an intenser love of liberty and of God more capable therefore of acting as messengers of mercy to the whole human race.

The following letter, from a companion of the deceased, will be read with interest :

NEAR KEETISVILLE, Washington Co., Md., Y Mrs. T: B. Van Honn-My Dear Sir: It is the most painful duty I have ever performed, and one which was almost the last wish of Billy, viz: that in case he was killed I should write to his father and mother immediately.
