A Card from F. Smith.
Editor of Activon-I ar Sir: Will you permit me through your daner to address a few of my political friends? I recently so-Helted a numination for Concress from the Republican party of this County, and fulled. I publican party of this County, and failed. I was subsequently nominate for District Attorney by the Union party, attout solicitation and segment my own wish. Since that time many Republicans, severa of whom opposed the nomination. I asked fi have come to me with long faces and said law come to me with long faces and said law afraid you are those every yourself and that will injure you. To high not to abandon the party," &c., &c.

Now, Se, to a portion of pose men I have nothing to say. To my real friends—and I have many warm ones—I confess myself amennated, then law sorry for it. To them I say, I did not seek or solicit the formation; I did not know that I was the off until a few moments before the noming fon was made, and I distinctly said to all who pprouched me that "I preferred that they would not nominate me. Yet the nomination was given me spontaneously against my own desit expressed in private, and publisly in the Convention. And thus the matter stands. Fire it necessary to vindicate myself I can it is say, however differently I may have acted that I have always considered that a correct of litical axiom, "that an office should neither bes fught nor declined." Indeed, in these times, when all are so eager for position, the unsought tender of a nomination for any respectable of ice by any respectable party is a complinist. Gen. Taylor, when asked if he would recent a nomination from a certain party, replied, "Yes, from the whole people," and he was rise. As to lowering myself, "I can't see it," even if I had sought the office. Any office that is necessary is honorable, if honorably alled. A good and true man will confer hone upon the position he holds rather than seek annor from it. The Congration which noming of me knew me and knew my political antec lents. They knew that for years I had bee an inwearied, outspoken and unflinching speudlican. They knew that I had spent as gach time, labor and money for the success of Republican principles as any man in the clearly, and yet they indered me, which the Result in a party declined to do, preferring the who, to say the least, had not been ansaly they realized. least, had not been openly her zealous for Republicanism. The Republican County Committee—one of whom is not the candidate of the Republican party for District Attorney, and another for the State Legislature—without authority and against the virtues of many Republicans, made a general exitation to all parties to act with them in perfiting delegates in many districts, and even set Democrats as delegates to the Convention | Now, I cannot clearly comprehend the great difference between the Democratic Republican Convention which met at Tiogs and the Republican Democratic Convention which that at Wellsboro. Each was composed of Den ocrats and Republicans, and each, I presum appointed men to suit them. The last was for penough, however, to adopt a name which int lated its elements A nomination will not necessarily change principles. It certainly will not change mine The Convention did not ask are to change them. It only asked me to devot imy best energies, according to my best jin ment, to save our country, now stringgling in floundering in the malst of a most unholy be fillion. To such a request I ought not to ma many denial. But suppose, as is charged, il it the Union Convention was a Democratic Convention, is it a curse to be well thought of and sustained by Democratar If so, God he p some of the nominces of the Republicen pa y. I think no one will really insist that I to feating to the Republican party for anything it has ever done for me. Yet many are wengerfully fearful that I will hurt the party. No 3 they have a ticket nominated by a combination of Republicans, Democrats and Abolitionisty. Every one must be whipped in and party-libes must be drawn, however loosely they were geld before the nomination. But no one must lear that I will hurr Republican principles. But is it not fair to judge a party by its platform? And what objection can the most ultra liberblican make to the platform of the Unider Convention?

am open to conviction. Now, in closing this som what lengthy note, permit me to say that, as in nomination was unsolicited and unexpected. If do not accept it, and as it was presented to me without condition or trainmel; I shall not decline it. I simply wish the people of do just as they please about it. If Demistrats vote for me I shall not be offended; if sepublicans vote for me it is all right; and if bein men wish to do so I am willing they et all. My political principles are well known . There is no doubt or hesitation about that If I am elected, which I expect is quite dustitul, I shall serve in the office, if permitted, but as a Democrat or Republican, but simply and the District Attorney of Tioga County. Yours truly, F. E. Shith.

Se 14, 26, 1862. Hogh Young-Sir: The Bucktails have been in another fight, and will tell you who of Co. A are wounded. At at Baker, wounded in the arm; James Balan wounded in the shoulder; E. Morehouse, winded in both legs by a ball; E. McFall, won ided in the back by a shell. There may be mere wounded, but if there were I have been un ble to find it out.

The fight took place about thalf way between this place and Boonsboro, day before yesterday, (Sunday). I have both unable to learn who of Co. E were wounted. The boys are doing well, and the citize agof this place are doing all in their power to sender us comfortable. You will please requee this, as my wound bothers me so I cast ut half write, CATCHING THE IDEA -A pinister repeating the first line or so in the I ble, the clerk, by some mistake of other, rend lenter him. The clergy man rend it as follows: "Moses was an austere man, and made aton ment for the sins of the people." The clerk, who could not exactly catch the sentence repeated thus:-Moses was an oysterman, and made ointment for the shine of the people.

Words should be seconded by action; it isn't enough for a housewife to say to a stocking with a hole in it. 'Sweet de darned."

Special attention is given to the health and physical education of the students.

Nothing need be said to recommend the Principal to the confidence of the peeple, as his conduct of the Seminary for the past two years, has placed him fully before the public as one of the educators of the country. Profs. Reynolds and Johns—the former, the late Superintendent of common schools of the county and the latter the present incumbent, are too well and too favorably known to need further notice to recommend them to the public. Students coming from a distance will have their rooms furnished those from within a few miles will bring their own furnishing, except bedstead, table, chairs, wash-stand and students furnish their own towels, wash-bowls.

All students jurish their own towers, wash-bownis, pitchers, pails, mirrors, &c. Rooms for self-boarding can be had in the village at reasonable rates. If accommodations enough for self-boarding cannot be had in the village, cooms for that purpose, under certain restrictions will be furnished in the Seminary by students furnishing their own cook-store,
