DEATH OF DAVID HANNOND .- Death has been once more in our midet, and has removed to another life a most worthy member of society. The great Destroyer is busy doing his work not only on the field of battle, but in the peaceful walks of private life.

The death that we are called upon to chronicle, is that of Mr. David Hammond, of Elkland. He departed this life on the 1st of Sept. in the 81st year of his age, having been born on the 1st of March, 1782. He drew his infant breath in the far famed and beautiful valley of Wyoming to which place his father bad removed from Connecticut. At his birth the country was still engaged in the War of the Revolution; and he died the second year of the great Re. bellion. Thus both his entrance into life and his departure from it was while his country was engaged in a terrible struggle for national existence. The family from which he descended was highly respectable, and noted for patriotism and love of country. His father and several of his brothers were soldiers in the war of the Revolution. At the close of that war owing to troubles in the valley he returned to Connecticut, and there he died when Mr. Hammond was eight years of age. Being left an orphan he came to Southport in the State of New York to live with an uncle, where he spent the days of youth; and there also at the age of twenty-three he was united in marriage to Miss Polly Tubbs. This union proved to be a lasting and happy one. In his company he found a help meet worthy of the name, and to her he was devotedly attached through life. A kind Providence smiled propitiously upon them and blessed the labors of their hands, and crowned their days with peace and pleaty. In 1811 they took up their abode in the valley of the Cowanesque. This valley was then covered almost ontirely with a dense forest, a few clearings only as yet having been made. The early settlers here had to contend with great difficulties. They were far from market, the reads were very bad, and the virgin soil was very heavily timbered, rendering it difficult to clear and bring under cultivation. All these difficulties Mr. Hammond overcome. The great trees fell be. fore the stroke of his sturdy arm. The forest disappeared before him, and he changed it into rich farm. ing land. Through his energy and perseverance, he succeeded in securing for himself a comfortable home, and ample means of support for his numerous household. He had eight children, one son and seven daughters, who now rise up and call him blessed. In all the relations of life, he was eminently exemplary. He was a kind father, an affectionate husband, and a good and useful member of society. He was tempe-that happiness which many seek for elsewhere. In character, he was modest and unassuming. His honesty was powerful. He was benevolent, kind to the poor. From his door the needy were never turned away empty. In addition to this, it may be said that he was a liberal supporter of the institutions of religion; a constant attendant on the means of grace, as long as his health would permit.

A saving change, it is believed took place in his re ligious character about the year 1836. From that time forward, he gave every evidence of being a new man. He also gave good evidence of this in the closing days of his life. He was submissive and resigned to the divine will. He calmly awaited the close of life; and when it came, he quietly sunk into the arms of death, but his immortal spirit, as we behere took its flight to another and brighter world .-He departed in the enjoyment of the respect and esteem of all who knew him; and leaving behind him n pure and spotless character. A beloved wife, and haven. affectionate children mourn his loss.

CLINE—Dots Sir:—Having witnessed the very brackless results from the use of your Vegetable Embrocation by myself and members of my family in case of colds, sore three and hourseness, I chearfully gives the testimony to he worth, and oan confidently recommend it in the above seems from an experimental knowledge of its effect.

Young very truly. Youss very truly. Ution; June 4, 1861.

Good News from Home. All Agree. See What They Say.

We, the undersigned citizens of Utics, having used Cliase Vegetable Embrocation in our families, and finding it an almost salutary remedy, can cheerfully recommend it to the public generally, as being an indispensible article for family use. We do not wish to underrate any other worthy medicine, but can truly say that we never Uefore have found an equal to this Vegetable Embrocation, and would advise every finilly to keep a bottle ready for immediate use.
