SUNSHINE.

If there's a pleasant little nook
Where all is green and fair,
Thou mayest be very sure indeed
The sunshine has been there.

If there's a tree that's laden with
Ripe fruit—fine, rich and rare—
You never need to doubt the fact
That sunshine has been there.

If there's a field of golden grain
That is not scarce nor spare,
Look up to God with thankful hearts,
For sending sunshine there.

If there's a face that's glad with smiles,
The heart may know it's care,
But broadly shining over all
You may see sunshine there.

If there's a joyous, happy band,
Whose hearts are full of mirth
Dark clouds dare throw no shadows there
Where sunshine's round the hearth.

God bless the sunshine on the hill,
The sunshine in the heart,
It warmly through our heart doth thrill,
And dulls the sharpest dart.

The Last Words of a Dying Hero.

The following touching letter was written by Colonel Broadhead of the Michigan Cavalry Regiment, who was killed in one of the battles at which General Pope commanded. Its touching pathos and high-toned patriotism will awaken fresh regrets for the death of a brave soldier:

MY DEAREST WIFE:—I write to you, mortally wounded, from the battle-field. We are again defeated, and ere this reaches you, your children will be fatherless.

Before I die, let me implore that, in some way, it my be stated that General —— has been outwitted, and that —— is a traitor.—Had they done their duty as I did mine, and had led as I did, the dear old flag had waved in triumph.

I wrote to you yesterday morning. To-day is Sunday, and to-day I sink to the green couch of our final rest.

I have fought well, my darling, and I was shot in the attempt to rally our broken battalions. I could have escaped, but would not until all hope was gone, and was shot—about the only one of our forces left on the field. Our cause is just, and our generals, not the enemy's have defeated us. In God's good time He will give us victory.

And now, good-bye, wife and children.—Bring them up, I know you will, in the fear of God and love for the Saviour. But for you and the dear ones depending I should die happy. I know the blow will fall with crushing weight on you. Trust in Him who gave manna in the wilderness.

Dr. Nash is with me. 'Tis now after midnight, and I have spent most of the night in sending messages to you.

Two bullets have gone through my chest, and directly through the lungs. I suffer but little now, but at first the pain was acute. I have won the soldier's name and am ready to meet now, as I must, the soldier's fate. I hope that from Heaven I may see the glorious old flag wave again over the undivided Union I have loved so well.

Farewell, wife and babes and friends. We shall meet again. Your loving

THORNTON.

"I have a Sunday-school of bright interesting children in New York, and, to encourage them, had recourse to a concert and exhibition, to which the parents were invited and the public generally. During the exercise I asked the children who could tell me anything about Peter. No one answered. I repeated it, and finally a little girl of four years held up her hands and said, 'I can.'

"Well, my little girl, that's right. I am glad to see there is one little girl here who will put these larger boys and girls to shame.

"The little girl was handed to the platform, and I told her to tell me what she knew about Peter. She put her finger to her mouth, and looking very smiling, said:

"'Peter, Peter, Pumpkin eater,
Had a wife and couldn't keep her,
Put her in a pumpkin shell,
And then he kept her very well.'

"That sufficed the audience who began to cough in their handkerchiefs, and she was allowed to find her seat."

George F. Train is responsible for the following: "What a howl would have passed through England had the Northern army been guilty of the most brutal atrocities perpetrated by the Rebels at Manassas and elsewhere! Using the skulls of our brave officers for spittoons; boiling of their flesh to get their ribs for castinets, and sending tokens made from the bones of our brave men to the fiend in shape of women, who seem to have acted like so many tigresses during this terrible civil war.—May God have mercy on their souls—if they have any.

Some contemporary, who seems to know all about the competent parts of an editor, says he must possess the constitution of a horse, obstinacy of a mule, independence of a woodsawyer, pertinacity of a dun, endurance of a beggar, entire resignation to the most confounded of all earthly treadmills, and another adds he must be a moving target for everybody to shoot at and not grumble if he gets cowhided.

"Well, that's always the way with telegraph folks!" exclaimed Mrs. Mellow, "the good news they send us one day is pretty sure to be contradicted the next. Why there's our neighbor, Sally Shute who got a story as how her husband had been killed in one of the battles, and the day after it was all upset, for it proved to be another man; Gin me the old mail stage after all," continued Mrs. Mellow; "if 'twas slow, 'twas sartain."

The Spaniards do not pay hyperbolical compliments; but one of their admired writers, speaking of a lady's black eyes, says "they were in mourning for the many murders they had committed."

A bad wife is a shackle on her husband's feet, a burden on his shoulder, a palsy to his hands, smoke to his eyes, vinegar to his teeth, a thorn to his side, a dagger to his heart.

It is to be feared that many a woman tears her hair ostentatiously at her husbands death, after having torn his mane worse in his lifetime.

A Welsh editor says: "If we have offended any man in the short but brilliant course of our career, let him send us a new hat and say nothing about it."

It is said of children who are born with silver spoons in their mouths, that when they ☞ Clergymen's children, half price for tuition.

It will be seen by the above announcement of a Faculty for the coming year, that the Trustees are determined to spare no reasonable pains to furnish the school with a competent Board of Instruction. Seven foreign languages, including Greek, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian and Hebrew, will be taught, if required.

The Teacher's and Normal Departments, under the supervision of Profs. Reynolds and Johns, will afford all the facilities of a Normal School, in which students are especially drilled and trained to become practical teachers. The trustees have already taken measures, which it is expected will be consummated early in December, for offering and having the Seminary accepted by the State as a State Normal School.

The Department of Penmanship, Book-Keeping, &c., offer all the advantages of a Commercial College. The Seminary is under contract, to be finished and furnished by the 10th of September next. It will, when finished, be among the best school buildings in northern Pennsylvania, and will afford excellent facilities for these regions to obtain a thorough scientific and practical education.

Special attention is given to the health and physical education of the students.

Nothing need be said to recommend the Principal to the confidence of the people, as his conduct of the Seminary for the past two years, has placed him fully before the public as one of the educators of the country. Profs. Reynolds and Johns—the former, the late Superintendent of common schools of the county—and the latter the present incumbent, are too well and too favorably known to need further notice to recommend them to the public. Students coming from a distance will have their rooms furnished—those from within a few miles will bring their own furnishing, except bedstead, table, chairs, wash-stand and stove.

All students furnish their own towels, wash-bowls, pitchers, pails, mirrors, &c. Rooms for self-boarding can be had in the village at reasonable rates. If accommodations enough for self-boarding cannot be had in the village, rooms for that purpose, under certain restrictions will be furnished in the Seminary by students furnishing their own cook-stove.

Students pay from the time they enter to the close of the term, without any deductions, except in cases of protracted illness.

All kinds of produce taken in payment. Terms of payment, one half in advance; the remainder during the term. W. COCHRAN, President.

WM. C. RIPLEY, Secretary.
