be taught, if required. The Teacher's and Normal Departments, under the supervision of Profs. Reynolds and Johns, will afford all the facilities of a Normal School. in which students are especially drilled and trained to become practical teachers. The trustees have already taken mensures, which it is expected will be consummated early in December, for offering and having the Semi-nary accepted by the State as a State Normal School. The Department of Penmanship, Bock-Keeping, &c., offer all the advantages of a Commercial College. The Sominary is under contract, to be finished and furnished by the 10th of September next. It will, when finished, be among the best school buildlings in nerthern Penhsylvania, and will afford excel-lent facilities for these regions to obtain a thorough scientific and practical education.

the desert by the Lessen trail, "while the old man silently yoked the cattle and took the other route. Singular as this may seem, it is nevertheless true. It is among the many occurrences of life stranger than fiction, Of course both parties reached Carifornia in safety. We say "of course," for it is scarcely possible that any obstacle, death included, could have seriously interfered with the progress of ! stubbornness so sublime. Arriving at Steramento with her daughter, the old lady readily found employment-for women were less plenty than now-and subsequently opened a boarding house, and in a few years amassed a handsome fortune: Two years) ago she went to San Francisco, and the daughter, whose education had not been neglected, was married to one of the most substantial citizens.

And what has become of the edd man ? The wife had not seen or heard of the since they parted on the Humboldt. They had lived happily together as man and wife for years and she sometimes reproached berself for the wilfulness that separated them after so long a pilgrimage together through this life. But he was not dead. We cannot trace his course in Calfornia, however. Al that we know of him is, that fortune had not smiled upon him, and that for years he had toiled without hope. Finally, feeling scarcely able to longer wield the pick and shovel, he visited San Francisco in the hope of obtaining employment better adapted to his wasted strength.

For three months he remained adle after, ar riving here, and then for want of occupation became the humble retailer of peanuts and oranges, with his entire stock of traffic in a basket upon his arm. This was about six months ago. A few weeks since, in passing the upen door of a cottage in the southern part of the city, he observed a lady in the hall, and stopped to offer his merchandise. As he stepped upon the threshold, the lady approached and the old man raised his, eyes and dropped, the basket, and no wonder either for she was his wife-his "old woman !" She recognized him, and throwing up her eyes in amazament, exclaimed: "Great God ! John is ibat vou? "All that is left of me," replied the old man. With extended arms they approached. Sud denly the old lady's countenance changed, and she stepped back. "John," said she, with a look which might have been construed into earnestness, "how did you find the Carson road" Miserable, Suky-miserable," repfied the old "Miserable, Suky-miserable," repfied the old "max. ~full of sand and alkali ""Then I was and John ?" she continued, indaringly.-if a were, Suky," he replied." "That's "Sugar" shid she; throwing her arms around hand a work "they" neeld man's neck; "that's enough, John;" and the all couple, strangely sundered, were again united. Both are living with their daughter on Second street.
