

THE AGITATOR.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Wellsboro, Wednesday, Jan. 14, 1883.

BUSINESS and other communications intended for this paper, should be addressed "To the Editor of the Agitator," that they may receive prompt attention.

Special Notice.—During the absence of the Proprietor, the business of the office will be transacted by Mr. L. Bache, who, unless it be specially ordered otherwise, is authorized to collect and receive for moneys due, or paid, and to order material. His acts are hereby acknowledged to be valid and sufficient.

This, of course is not intended to hinder the receipt of moneys by authorized agents in different sections of the county. They will report to Mr. Bache until further notice.

New Advertisements. Administrator's Notice.—S. S. Shove, Adm'r. Notice to Bridge Builders.—Commissioners. Consumption.—E. D. Wall. Jamestown.—Guernsey J. Road.

The Taxpayers of Delmar township are requested to meet at the house of B. B. Holliday, in Wellsboro, on Wednesday, the 21st inst., at 2 o'clock P. M., to select suitable persons for township officers for the coming year.

OTYHER SATON.—"Old Kirk" having bought out the saloon recently owned by David Roberts, is prepared to wait on all customers who may give him a call. We'll put him up against the world in getting up a "stew."

The Postmaster General intends to procure the abolition of the present newspaper postage system and to devise some way by which the Department will be relieved from collecting any postage at all on newspapers.

Donation Visit.—The friends of Rev. J. D. Bell, of the M. E. Church, will make him a Donation Visit, at the parsonage, on Wednesday and Thursday, afternoon and evening, February 21st and 22d, 1883. A general invitation is extended to all in the community who are disposed to come. The children's party on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Weekly Tribune.—Persons desirous of subscribing to the Weekly Tribune are informed that Mr. Yot is getting up a new club. The Post Office, besides being right in publishing the Weekly Tribune, is considered the best and cheapest newspaper in the world. Hand in your money before the 26th of the month.

Our "devil" refers to his most sincere thanks to his village patrons who he liberally remembered him on New Year's Day. He says he did not know there had so many shipwrecks been issued. He hopes to see all his customers here again when the "specie" gets back into circulation.

FIRMEN'S FRATERNITY.—As it is customary for the Firmen to have a "dinner one" year, the "Wellsboro Engine Company, No. 1," have concluded to have their Third Annual Festival at the Court House, next Friday evening. We understand there is to be a dance. Wetmore and Taylor's Bands will furnish music for the occasion. We hope this year their notice will bring out a "dozens" of dancing.

BOOCY OCT.—We learn that Geo. Sears has bought out Joseph Ribbitt's interest in the boot and shoe business together with his stock on Main Street, where you will find "Charlie" on hand at all hours ready to "take your measure," and give you a "good fit" every time. He keeps the best of workmen that can be found in this part of the country. If you don't believe, try a pair of boots that the "Doctor" or "Bill" had a hand in pegging together.

DETECTION OF A. M. ROBERTS AT ROCHESTER.—In consequence of repeated losses of letters in the Rochester Post Office, Dr. Humphrey, special agent, was directed to make thorough examination into the causes of the disappearance of valuable packages that office. Seeing himself in the building on Sunday evening last, he caught in the act of opening letters a clerk upon whom suspicion had previously fallen, named Andrew McDermott. Upon the prisoner were found several letters which he had opened and read. He was committed for examination.

WELLSBORO HOTEL.—This Hotel kept for the last three years by Mr. Farr, changed hands last Monday. Mr. Farr has great wishes for his future success, and the community will regret to hear of his retirement from a position which he has so long and ably filled.

B. B. Holliday is his successor. Those who stopped with Mr. Holliday can be kept this hotel a few years ago know of his ability to "keep a hotel" better than we can tell of it. Always obliging to his guests, he will spare no pains to make them comfortable, and if they stop with him once they will be sure to do it again.

DISTRICT INSTITUTE.—Our State Legislature made a wise hit last winter compelling teachers to attend District Institutes one day in each month. Knoxville and Deerfield favored and the Institute is held at the Knoxville School House the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. The teachers of Brookfield, Chatham, and other towns, who can more conveniently get to this academy other institute are going by consent of their directors. The sessions commence at 10 o'clock A. M., and 1 o'clock P. M., and bid fair to do more in elevating the standard of teachers in this county than anything that has been done for years. It is to be hoped that directors throughout the county will engage heartily in this work.

LOYD BAKER.—Last past 2 o'clock, on the 1st of Oct. 1882, Lloyd Baker, son of the Rev. Charles Brock, formerly of Wellsboro, was drowned at sea, when four miles from the point of Georgetown, Prince Edward Island, from which he had sailed, one hour before—homebound by him. After spending three months on a fishing vessel, and when sailing over a smooth sea, Lloyd suddenly fell overboard, and before boats could come to his assistance, he found a grave in the unrolled ocean. The cause of his falling cannot be determined, but it is thought was no lurching of the vessel, and as he utters a cry, it is quite probable that the maldy of his return upon him, and that, by reason of a concussion, he, though an expert swimmer, sank in the mighty waters.

To many of the readers of this paper, Lloyd was known as a child. It may interest them to hear something of his opening childhood. Though various means were adopted to foster his delicate physical organization, his body never attained that hardness which is the accompaniment of health. The same qualities of mind and heart—quickness, candor, integrity, affection, which marked his youth, adorned his manhood—and crowded in by were, by sincere devotion to his Redeemer, won for himself the tender regards of all who knew him; and he gained for the master whom he served, a wider tribute of praise and homage. Ours had the opportunity of knowing, thus written. He had endeavored himself to all on board; not a sailor, but a student; not one on the vessel, but a scholar; he would have made any sacrifice to save him. This is the testimony of a sailor: "He loved his religion. I never saw another like him; so good and so happy." Himself a sailor, for the time being, he gained, by his readiness and faithfulness, the love of all with whom he was associated. The training of a Christian home, qualified him for all positions and made him a desirable companion to the sailor of a fishing vessel—an invalid.

ble co-worker in his Father's Parish, and a most agreeable visitor and friend in the refined social circle.

The affliction that would be crushing, without such tender memories, becomes with them, a gracious presence or influence, testifying of a Divine Father's love, and calling up in the heart that "sublime home sickness," the cure for which will be found in the Dear Master's call, "Come ye blessed children of my Father."

And so "may all our sons be as plants grown up in their youth, and may all our daughters be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace." Com.

(Advertisement.) NEW RAILROAD.

EDITOR AGITATOR.—During the present session of the Pennsylvania Legislature the effort to procure a new railroad from Blossburg to the State line, is to be renewed. With what success depends mainly upon the people of this county. Petitions asking the Legislature to grant such charter and remonstrances against it, are being circulated. It may be that the simple and direct one may lead to a petition, and many have no doubt more will sign a petition in favor of the new railroad, without reflecting upon the justice or propriety of what they are thus made to ask—or the consequences that must follow if the Legislature should, in compliance with any objection, charter the new road. Let us look at a few facts and see if there are not good and solid reasons why no such charter should be granted.

The line of railroad from Blossburg to Corning is owned by two companies. One, the Tioga railroad company, incorporated by the Pennsylvania Legislature, owns the road from Blossburg to the State line near Lawrenceville; the other, the Blossburg and Corning railroad company, incorporated by the Legislature of New York, owns the road from the State line to Corning. These two companies were organized and incorporated because the State would authorize the building of a road beyond its own lines. The road was designed to be for every practical purpose—one and not two—and both companies looked forward to consolidation. Things were in this situation when the effort to relay the track with T rail was begun. About that time Mr. Magee purchased the New York end of the road, at a judicial sale, and has since continued in the ownership of it. He procured the passage of a law very soon after (or if he did not procure its passage it was passed after he became the owner of the road) prohibiting the erection of any other railroad than the one owned by the Tioga railroad company, in New York, thus securing himself against competition in his own State. With this statute standing in full force in New York, he came, a few years since, to the Pennsylvania Legislature to procure a charter for incorporation for his mining property in Ward township. He obtained it, and with it the privilege of building a railroad from his mines to connect with either the Williamsport and Elmira railroad or the Tioga railroad, not exceeding fifteen miles in length.

Under the provisions of this liberal act of assembly he built his road from Fall Brook to Blossburg. What he now asks is to be permitted to build a road from Blossburg to Corning, which would connect with his road from Fall Brook to Blossburg, thus giving him a connected line of road from Fall Brook to Corning. If he could succeed in this, he would break the absolute control of the road from the State line down, and a law which prohibits the Tioga railroad company, or any other company, from erecting any other road over that end of the route to compete with him, he would have the most perfect and thoroughly protected monopoly that could be had. He could drive every passenger and every pound of freight over his new road, by simply refusing, as he does, the use of his road to the Tioga company below the State line, and thus render the Tioga road useless and worthless. If the Tioga company were to object to this, they would be told that they might see to put them upon even ground with Mr. Magee; at least it would enable them to use their own road for transporting their own coal. Then we should have the spectacle of two independent lines of road from Corning to Blossburg, one with its signature in the pocket of Mr. Magee, and the other with its business might easily be done upon one. But even this poor chance for life is denied the Tioga company by the New York Legislature. They cannot be permitted to build a road in New York, but Mr. Magee asks to be permitted to build a road in New York, and to be permitted to protect himself from competition by the Tioga company in New York, he comes into Pennsylvania and demands of our Legislature what? To do by him in Pennsylvania as he does by the Tioga company in New York? No. To hold the same protecting hand over the citizens of Pennsylvania that New York extends over her citizens? No. But he does, in effect, ask this—"Gentlemen, I want you to do by me, a citizen of New York, just what you do by me, a citizen of Pennsylvania. I want you to discriminate in favor of her citizens, I want you to discriminate against yours."

"Ought the people of Tioga county to assist in such an effort? But we have given only one out of the many reasons why no citizen of this county should lend his signature to the project of Mr. Magee. Some other time we may offer others for the consideration of every PENNSYLVANIAN.

MARRIED.

In Charleston, on the 30th ult., at the house of Mr. A. Lake, by the Rev. J. D. Bell, Mr. RICHARD ROBINSON of Covington, to Mrs. ANNA LAKE of Middlefield, N. Y.

DIED.

In Farmington, on the 12th ult., JOSEPHINE, only daughter of Wm. and Emma Yudson, aged 9 years.

In Camp, near Bell Plains, Va., on the 18th ult., from wounds received at Fredericksburg, WILLIAM GILLEY.

In Sycamore, DeKalb county, Ill., on the 5th day of August last, AMASA THOMPSON, aged 85 years.

Mr. Thompson had taken an active part in behalf of his country, prior to emigrating to this country—having served in the war of 1812 as Captain, doing himself much honor. In 1816 he emigrated to Tioga county from Schoharie, N. Y., and settled in the town of Middlebury, where he remained until 1843, when he removed to Sycamore, Ill., where he resided until his death.

In Delmar, on the 31st ultimo, JAY W., youngest child of G. W. Eastman, aged about 5 years.

This bright-eyed, fair-haired boy was one of the numerous victims of that disease, so terrible to children, the epidemic sore throat. When his mother asked him if he thought he was going to die, he answered that he guessed not very soon. But the poor little fellow knew not the power of the disease that had laid hold of him. His father was away from home during his sickness and his dying struggle. He came back, after an absence of a week, to find his little boy a corpse, waiting for burial. Sister Estman, speaking to Jay of his father, asked him what he should tell his father if he died before his return. "Tell him," said he, "that I have gone to Heaven." He wished that his books should be distributed among his little schoolmates, if he should die. His Christmas present—a book which his mother had bought him—he wished to be given to his fellow-pupil, Ezra Horton. So he departed; and now he is at rest and secure evermore from pain and trouble in that Heaven which his pious parents had taught him to think of. The writer preached his funeral sermon on New Year's day, choosing for his text the words: "It is better to go to the house of mourning, than to the house of feasting."—Ecol' VII, 2.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Croup, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the constant symptoms of a Cold, is your Cherry Pectoral. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints.

EDEY KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Troy, N. Y., writes: "I have used your Pectoral myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. Feby. 7, 1886. BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your Pectoral is the best remedy I possess for the cure of whooping cough, croup, and the chest disease of children. I would not hesitate to testify in the South against your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.

IRHAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., Monterey, Ia., writes, 2d Jan. 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines, without relief; finally tried your Cherry Pectoral, and in five days was cured. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one-half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the best I ever used, as well as the best we can buy, and esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic and Bronchitis.

West Mansfield, Pa., Feb. 4, 1866. Sir: Your Cherry Pectoral, as performing remarkable cures in the chest. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and I am curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. I have used your Cherry Pectoral for many years, and commend a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindnes for doing so for us. He has recovered from that disease, and is now well, and is able to do his usual work from his cough, and calls himself well.
