This Southern climate's quare, Biddy,
A quare and bastely thing,
With whater absent all the year,
And summer in the spring.

Xe mind the hot place down below?

And may ye never fear

I'd dibraw comparisons but then,

If a wful warrum here.

The only moon I see, Biddy,
Is one shmall star, asthbre,
And that's formint the very cloud
It was behind before;
The watch first glame along the fill
That's swelling to the South

It's dead for shlape I am Biddy,
And dramein shwate I'd be,
If them ould Rebels over there
Would only lave me free;
I But whin I lane against a slitump,
And stave to get repose,
Americal stall he's comm's shraight, My CoTo hit my spacious nose.

It's ye I'd like to see, Biddy,

A shparkin' here wid me,

And then, svourneen, hear you say,

"Acushin-Pat-machres!"

"Och Biddy, darlint, then," says I,

Says you, "get out of that;"

Says I, "ine arrum mates your waist,"

Says you, "Be dacont, Pat."

Upon the parlor flure;

I'm sure your airy with the pig,

That's fat as he can be.

And fade him with the best, because

OTTO I'm towld he looks like my. When I come home again. Blady,
A sargent tried and thrue,
Y.I. The jours a dacent house I'd build,

And rint it chape to yar.
We'll have a parlor, bed room, hall, I had deck pond nately done, With kitchen, pig-pen, praty-patch, And govet-all in me.

But murther there's a baste, Biddy,
That's crapin' round a tree;
That's crapin' round a tree;
That well I know the creature's there To have a shot at me.
Now, Mister Rebet, say yer prestes,

I I Andwhewld yer dirty pas.

Here goas, be jebers, Biddy dear.

Anecdote of Napoleon the First. The employment in which Napoleon's con fidential secretaries were engaged was of all kinds of slavery the most irksome. Day and night it was necessary to be on the spot. Sleep, meals, health, fatigue-nothing was regarded a minute's absence would have been an unpardonable offence. Friends, pleasures, public amusements, promenades, rest-all must be given up. The Baron Maineval and the Baron Fain knew this by hard experience, but at the same time they enjoyed his boundless confi-dence. The most implicit reliance was placed on their discretion, and a truly royal liberality. They both merited-the Emperor's confidence

o nunt. He will probably be absent, as usual, about four hours; so Maineval calculated. It was his father's birthday, and he thought be might shrely leave the palace for a short time; therefore he would-venture. He had bought a little villa; and anxiously desired to present the titledeeds to his father on that firstive day. The Baron set out and found on his arrival that the whole family were collected, who all received From Prof. Williams, Principal of the Utica their unexpected visitor with enthusiasm. The prosent was given—the parents heart was full of joy happiness universally prevailed, and the generous son was entreated to tarry, that he might be their guest at dinner, which was announced. The Baron To then announced. The Emperor may return and ask for me."

Que day, at two o'dlock, the Emperor went out

"Oh," wat the exclamation, "you are never away the Emperor will not be angry." The entreaties were redoubled, and the worthy secretary yielded to the general wish .-Time flies swiftly to men surrounded by those whom they revere. whom they revere.

In the meantime the Emperor returns—even

"Tall is lost," said Maineval to himself. He made up his mind, however, and presented himself. His reception was territ e.

Where do you come from ! Go about your business, exclaimed the enraged Emperor. I'do not want men that neglect their duty. WMarneval, in a state of distress and excitement, retired; he could not sleep that night, but pictured to his mind his fearful position ruiged, and all hopes of futue advancement were banished. At length day arrived. He reflected-"the Emperor did not give me h formal dismission." He therefore dressed him-self, and at the usual hour went to the Emperor's cabinet. Some minutes after Napoleon entered, looked at him without speaking, wrete at note, and then walked to and fro in the chamber. Main eval continued the task he had in hand, with out lifting up his eyes. Napoleon, with his hands behind his back, stopped before him, and abruptly said-

INFALLIBLE LINIMENT!

GREAT REMEDY

FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS AND WOUNDS PILES, HEADACHE, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NER-VOUS DISORDERS.

For all of which it is a speedy and certain remedy, and never fails. This Liniment is prepared from the recipe of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the fanous bone setter, and has been used in his practice for more than twenty years with the most astonish ing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN, it is unrivaled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically, Rheumatic Disorders of every kind, and in thousands of cases where it has been used it has never been

FOR NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however distressing.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE in three minutes and is warranted to do it. TOOTHACHE also will it cure instantly.

FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY AND GENE RAR LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy. Acting directly upon the nervous tissues, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores it to blasticity and vigor.

FOR PILES .- As an external remedy, we claim that it is the test known, and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every victim of this dis-tressing complaint should give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in a majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely malignant and dangerous, but a timely application of this Liniment will never fail to

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and enlargement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected The werst case may be conquered by this Liniment

BRUISES, CUTS. WOUNDS, SORES, UL CERS, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of Da. Sweet's INFALLIEUE LINIMENT, when used according to directions. Also, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, and Insect Bites and

To Horse Owners!

Dr. Sweet's Infallible Liniment for Horses Dr. Sweet's Infallible Liniment for Horses is univaled by any, and in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Galls, Scratches, Mange, &c., it will also cure speedily. Spavin and Ringbone may be easily prevented and cured in their incipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a radicul cure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and onable the horses to travel with comparative ease.

determined to spare no reasonable pains to furnish the school with a competent Board of Instruction, Seven foreign languages, including Greek, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian and Hebrew, will be taught, if required.

The Teacher's and Normal Departments, under the supervision of Profs. Reynolds and Johns, will afford all the facilities of a Normal School, in which students are especially drilled and trained to become practical teachers. The trustees have already taken measures, which it is expected will be consummated early in December, for offering and having the Seminary accepted by the State as a State Normal School.

The Department of Penmanship, Book-Keeping, &c., offer all the advantages of a Commercial Cellege. The Seminary is under contract, to be finished and furnished by the 10th of September next. It will, when finished, be among the best school buildings in nerthern Pennsylvania, and will afford excellent facilities for these regions to obtain a thorough scientific and practical education.

Special attention is given to the health and physical education of the students.

Nothing need be said to recommend the Principal to the confidence of the peeple, as his conduct of the Seminary for the past two years, has placed him fully before the public as one of the educators of the country. Profs. Reynolds and Johns—the former, the late Superintendent of common schools of the county—and the latter the present incumbent, are too well and too favorably known to need further notice to H.
