Desulto 2. AMERICAN STEEL

We have frequently urged upon our metallurgists and iron manufacturers the importance of engaging in the production of steel to supply all our wants in the arts. Success has attended the efforts of several parties who have engaged in the manufacture of steel west of the Alleghanies, and we see no reason to doubt that similar success would attend like efforts in other parts of the country. In Pittsburg there are governd establishments in which steel is made, and it has taken the place of coarse English and German steel which had been used in the fabrication of the cleaper sorts of implements and tools. The Pittsburgh steel is equal in quality to the same foreign grades, while its cost is less, hence its use is becoming very general in the West. All the finer sorts of steel, however, are as il imported in great quantities from Englan!; also much of the more common qualities for the Eastern sections of our country. Now, at pears to us that all the steel we require coul at d should be manufactured on this side of the Atlantic. We have all the necessary natural elements for producing every quality of it. The best English steel is not made from native from but from imported Swedish and Russian prands, Long experience and acquired skill with cheap fuel are the advantages which have made England the steel manufactury of the world. In several sections of the United States there are unlimited supplies of the same ores as those of Sweden, and fuel is more abundant than in Great Britain. The very best qualities of steel can be made here from native ores, and it only wants enterprise, capital and skill to establish and conduct the manufacture of fine American steel with success. There are many inducements for entering upon this business at present. The tariff is a premium to capital and industry, and the steel trade is not like an ephemesal business that changes with the fashions; it is as fixed as the very hills.

This has been called "the age of iron," and the next will be "the age of steel," because steel is yet destined, from its very nature, to supercede iron in a thousand various applications. It is much stronger than iron, and for several purposes it is far more durable. Its greater cost has been one c' the main reasons for its more limited applica long, but improvements in its manufacture will yet be made so that it will be produced at cheaper rates, and then it will be more generally used. Already eteel axles and tires for lobomotives have superseded, in a measure, those fermerly made of wrought iron; and when steel can be made and forged in large masses at wifl be employed for all the large shafts and working parts of marine and other engines. If steel could be produced at $100 per tun, capable of bearing a strain of forty tuns on the inch, bridges double the span of those made of iron would be erected.

For all machines and structures where weld ing is not required, steel is far superior to wrought iron. We import all the steel for manufacturing our wire, saws, axes and fine tools of every description. There are permanent applications of this metal for which it will always be used; but, beside these, new applications of steel are being made constantly. Thus several tracks of steel rails have been laid in England, and these have now been tested for about four wears with the gratifying result that they are about as good to-day as when laid down, and they last as long as three sets of iron rails. It is probable that all the railway lines in the world will yet be laid with steel rails. Just think of fifty thousand miles of railway in America yet to be furnished with steel rails. Their first cost is greater but they are the cheapest rails in "the long run," Eaglish and French civil engineers are now advocating their use, and their general application cannot be long delayed. A very flattering prospect, we think, is presented to those who early engage in the manufacture of American steel.—

A HEROINE. - A correspondent of the Altona Register, writing from Broadtop City, Huntingdon county, save "we had the pleasure of meet ing, at a place called Dudley, a woman, named Mary Owens, who had just returned from the Mary Owens, who had just returned from the army, in full uniform. This remarks ble woman accompanied her husband to the army, and proved February 25, 1862.

The COUPON BONDS are issued in sums of $50, accompanied her husband to the army, and lought by his side until he fell. She was in the arrice eighteen months, and took part in three battles, and was wounded twice: first in the face above the right eye, and then in her the face above the right eye, and then to the hosthe face above the right eye, and then in her arm, which required her to be taken to the hospital, where she confessed the deception. She had enlisted in Danville, Montour county, Pa., under the name of John Evans, and gives as her reason for this mantic undertaking, the fact that her father we's uncompromising in his hostility to her marriage with Mr. Owens, threatening violence in case she diobeyed his commande; wheredoon after being secretly married, she doffed the United States uniform, enlisted in the same company with her husband, endured all the hardships of the camp, the dangers of the batte-field saw her husband fall dead by her side and is now wounded and a widow. Mrs: Owens looks young, is rather pretty, and is the he pine of the neighborhood. She is Welsh pas ntage,"

"Common or us All."—
A few since help chimney weeper making his rounds in the country, called at a farm house near Shippensburg, but it not being contenient to employ him till the following morning, the farmer informed him he might, if he thought proper, sleep in his barn, which he readily agreed to. He accordingly made him-self a comfortable bed among the straw, and consigned himself to the arms of Morpheus. Some time in the night he was awakened by two men entering the barn with a lantern and candle, and each of them had a sack. He immediately supposing they were not about their lawful business, lay still to watch their motions, when they began to consult how they might place the light, till they had filled their eacks from the corn crib. Seeing that they were at a loss how to proceed, the chimney aweeper crept softly from his couch, and with an audible voice, said, "Gentlemen, Pli hold the candle." Turning suddenly, they beheld the knight of the brash, in his sable robes, and supposing bim to be a messenger from the infernal regions, thre'w down their sacks and lanterns and immed stely skedaddled.

Manniages in Fi Dal Tives .- The law of England was not ex only similar to this, althou sumciently barbarous to deserve the execution of all who respect the privileges of woman. It was a locative mode of extertion, even down to so far as the days of Charles of the Company 232 Walnut Street. to so far as the days of Charles I, both with the orown and the if ferior nobility, to sell their words in marri ge. This most barbarmus custom gave to the lord of the mador the right of tendering a husband to his female wards, while under age, whom they assist not reject without forfeiting the value of the marriage; that is, without forfeiting the value of the marriage; that is, without forfeiting the must as any one chose to offerthe growth which an alliance. And the larger the property of the ward, the larger the value of the marriage.

Thus, our fair readers will personne that in those days of chivary and honor, of knightly feeling, and romantic generosity, where lances were set in the rest to spheld the beauty of an explorage or maintain the perfection of an angle:

THE NON-EXEMPTION OF MINISTERS FROM THE DRAFT .- The Episcopal Recorder, in an article referring to the refusal of Congress to exempt ministers of the Gospel from liability to draft,

"Nor will there be any serious consequences from the refusal to grant this exemption. Wherever a minister of the Gospel is useful to his people, and preaches faithfully to them of Christ, they will gladly contribute for his relief the three hundred dollars the law prescribes for commutation. Should they not be ready to do this, or should the drafted unnister he with-out a church connection which will pay this amount for his discharge, we cannot see that he has any public claim to be excused from the performance of that service, which, distasteful as it may be, every loyal citizen is now called upon to render.

They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went of to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dend) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of blody dysentery. One of our reighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two does of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured ontirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cires of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory ever the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insiduous enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatility of lung disord-is, and as they know too the vitnes of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the bestit can be. ## CONSUMPTION,

CONSUMPTION.

AD Diseases of the THROAT and LUNGS, can be cursed. Not however by any medicine taken into the stomach, as has been fully shown recordly in a series of essays by Dr. Robert Hunten of New York City, published in the Daily Tribune; but by inhaling the suitable medicine combined with oxygen, into the Lungs. The subscriber is so fully satisfied of this that he has entered into an arrangement with Dr. Hunter, by which any person suffering from diseased throat or lungs, on giving him a full statement of their symptoms, and paying the regular fee, which is very reasonable, can have their case sent to the Doctor and the medicine and inhaling instrument furnished to them.

Persons able to come to him are desired to do so, and will generally find him at his Furniture and Carpet Rooms in Lawrenceville. Those who are unable to come he will yell an half account the do so.

to come, he will visit on being requested to do so.

He has unde this arrangement and gives this notice that no one in this county may die of these diseases without the trial of this last and most successful triumph of medical science.
