

THE AGITATOR.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Wellsville, Wednesday, April 23, 1863.

Business and other communications intended for this paper, should be addressed to the Editor of the Agitator, that they may receive prompt attention.

County Standing Committee. Tax County Standing Committee as constituted by the Republican-nominating Convention at its last session, is as follows:

Joel Parkhurst, Chairman. Wm. Adams, Mansfield; Elias Johnson, Delmar; J. B. Rexford, Clymer; J. R. Bowen, Wellsville; R. K. Strudger, Mainburg.

New Advertisements. Boarding and Day School. Mrs. M. C. Stryker. Disolution. D. W. Lowell.

Seeds, White Wash Lime, &c.—Dr. Roy. That's Nothing New. W. T. Mathers.

New Arrival at the Book Store. J. F. Robinson.

Watch Repairing. A. Foley.

The 45th P. V. is now at Camp Dick Robinson. Fayette county, Kentucky, having moved from Paris.

We have just printed, in good paper, a quantity of Notes, in the most style, both with and without power of attorney. We can furnish them for $1 per hundred, and at the same rate for 25.

Correspondents. We please be patient if their articles should be temporarily delayed. A crowd of matter that will not keep, constitutes us to beg the indulgence of our friends for a brief period.

It appears that our new carriage occasionally fails to serve his customer with the paper. All this will be rectified in due time. Meantime, subscribers will oblige us by not giving us of any neglect of the kind in future, and that it all be repaired.

The Commercial College will be conducted by the Principal, D. W. Lowell, who takes this opportunity of returning his hearty thanks to the public for their liberal patronage heretofore bestowed on the institution, and invites their attention to the improvements soon to be introduced into the several departments.

D. W. LOWELL.

Droping into Young & Williams's Foundry and Machine Shop the other day, we were forcibly reminded that this is an age of improvement. Everything there is in apple-pie order, and the Flow Department shows that kind of a thing which warns of the coming of Spring. It is gratifying to have such enterprising neighbors. Success to them.

PERSONAL.—Sergeant Wilson arrived in town on Saturday, looking well and hearty. His services at Harrisburg have been valuable, and reflect great credit upon the district. His course has been such as to give him a first-class reputation and an influential position among his fellow-soldiers. We are glad to welcome him back among us once more.

Capt. Bryden also returned on Saturday. He has been granted a discharge on account of physical disability, and returns to his place as a citizen.

Subscribers. We please bear in mind this fact:—Our mail box is a transcript of the mail box of the late Proprietor, and it is our only guide in notifying them of the expiration of their subscriptions. Therefore, if they be any mistakes in credits before we took possession, we can only know it from the subscribers themselves. All men are fallible, and the late proprietor, likewise, cannot claim exemption from the common lot. But we intended to say this: Mr. Young's receipts for papers received on subscription prior to January 1st, 1863, are perfectly good, and will be allowed wherever he failed to enter a corresponding credit on the books. We are obliged to make this explanation, because, to write every complainant personally would be to perform a task additional to duties which cannot be put off. Suffice it to say, that no man will be expected to pay twice for the same copy of the paper.

Obituary. We are this week called upon to chronicle the decease of one of our oldest and most prominent pioneer citizens, —DAVID KELSEY, Esq., of Delmar.

Mr. Kelsey was a native of New Hampshire, and emigrated to this county in 1807. He was at that period thirty years of age, in the prime and vigor of the young manhood. Then, Wellsville was not, and the young manhood, in the swampy timber tract. He placed it reclaimed from the savagery of nature, and grew to be the spot of one of the loveliest and most thriving villages in Northern Pennsylvania. Being fully identified with its beginning and progress, his form, life and spirit even in the bonds of age, will be missed by old and young.

In many respects he was a remarkable, and in all respects a peculiar man. Physically, he was one of those wiry, nervy organizations, which seem likely to succumb at a very period of life, yet prove capable of the greatest assurance of endurance. Mentally, he was strong and original. Gifted with a most retentive memory and an insatiable thirst for knowledge, it is probable that no man in all this region was his equal in general intelligence, and capability to converse understandingly upon almost all sciences and themes. Pre-eminently a thinker, he accepted conclusions only as they came through legitimate deduction and inference. He looked aloof from popular organizations, loving entire independence, and because his beliefs were the fruitage of conviction rather than of faith, or coincidence.

His conception of justice was stern and inflexible. He hated wrong and meanness of every sort, and his apologies for such actions were very few. It is safe to say that he never designedly wronged any man, and never required of any man more than he was free to grant, either in social or business relations. His unbending adherence to opinion, and to his stern rules of right, gained him a reputation for stubbornness which was not altogether merited. He was not thoroughly comprehended.

He was original even in his eccentricities. In the beginning he adopted a scale of prices for produce to which he adhered to the end. The fluctuations of the market never affected him. Hay, for instance, he held at $10 per ton, and though it was selling for $20 all around him, he would never receive more than his fixed price, and would sell his ton to any one individual, as usual. This is a type of a class of eccentricities, growing out of a rigid adherence to his rule: "Cost is the limit of value." Another eccentricity deserves mention in this connection: After the passage of the law prohibiting the circulation of small notes, he was often known to violate its provisions. In this respect he had no rivals.

His whole heart was in his work. When the county last year called for a man to pay bounty to volunteers, this old fellow, eighty-five years old, walked to Mansfield, three miles, to procure funds to aid in the work. Getting loaded on his return, he camped out in the woods and slept all morning. There may be younger men who will blush when they read this record.

We make his extended notice not as a vain compliment, but as a deserved tribute to excellence, to a pioneer—one of those sturdy men who lay the foundations of Commonwealths in the heart of untamed nature—to a friend, who, in our former residence here, would have come forward, had we permitted him, and lifted great burdens from our shoulders. We speak as one who knew him intimately and well, notwithstanding the brevity of his acquaintance, and the comparatively brief period of his residence.

TEA IN TIOGA.—A gentleman from this county informs the editor of the Elmira Press, that the citizens of Rutland are considerably excited over the discovery of a plant which grows in that vicinity, which they claim to be an excellent substitute for the Chinese Tea. They call it the Mountain Tea. It grows on the high lands, and attains a height of 18 inches. The Rutland folks are said to have gathered quantities of this plant and disposed of it to grocers, who are mixing it with imported teas, to which it bears a great resemblance. We give the story as we find it.

To THE PATRIOTIC.—Young man, if you have an odd $50 or $100, surplus funds, we can advise you to invest it in the Fire-Twenty Government bonds. It is the plain duty of every man to step forward to the aid of the Government according as he may be able. The investment is as good as gold, the interest being paid semi-annually in gold, rate, six per cent. A. S. TURNER, Esq., Cashier of the Tioga Bank, informs us, that the Bank will take orders for these bonds and furnish them to applicants. The semi-annual interest is payable on the 1st of May, proximo, and that will be a good time to commence. Orders should be sent in immediately.

Tax delay of Spring is causing considerable suffering among stock in all parts of the county. Fodder is very high, and hard to be procured at that. We learn that cattle are dying from this cause in some sections.

It occurs to us that, this a fitting time to urge upon farmers and stock-growers the policy of no longer placing their entire dependence upon the hay-crop for fodder. An acre of carrots, planted in prepared ground, will, ordinarily, pretty much winter twenty cows with a very little hay for ruminating purposes. It is rather more trouble to raise an acre of carrots than an acre of grass; but to raise as much nutriment in hay, per acre, would require much more labor and care than the crop of carrots. Probably some farmers do, at present, piece out their hay with roots of various kinds: and the stock of such, if any, will present a marked and favorable contrast compared with those fed on hay only.

DIED. Near Lawrenceville, April 3, HENRY INSCHO, of cancer fever, aged 23 years.

He was a member of the 107th N. Y. V. and filled the position of Commissary Sergeant. He was a young man of exalted piety and beloved by all who knew him. Cox.

Those Suffering from Chronic Disease, of any description may be assured that their cases will be treated fairly and candidly, and they will not be encouraged to take any medicine without a corresponding prospect of benefit.

Dr. Jackson can be consulted at his Rooms, in regard to all diseases, which he treats with unprecedented success, on a new system. He cures Chronic cases of disease, which have been pronounced incurable by the Medical Faculty generally, such as Nervous and Neurotic Affections, Diseases of Women, Rheumatism, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head and Intermittent Fevers, the diseases of Children, etc. All cases of Seminal Emissions which is carrying thousands to the grave annually.

Remember the Doctor does not promise to cure all stages of disease. While all diseases are cured, it takes in season, all stages are not. Your case may be curable this week, not next—today, not to-morrow; hence the danger of delay.

Consultations Free. Distant Invalids.—Patients unable to visit Dr. J. by appointment, can communicate their symptoms by letter, and have proper medicines sent to any part of the world by express, with certainty and dispatch. All letters of inquiry must contain one stamp to prepay reply. Address Dr. A. C. Jackson, Erie, Penna., Box 30. April 1, 1863.
