As a general rule all the drafted men would rather be attempted on physical or other causes than pay the required $300% But this like every other rule, has its exceptions. A young man residing in Lancaster county, who was drafted, wee, very fearful that he would not pais an examination, and when before the Board put on a martial mien, expanded his chest to its fullest capacity, kicked his legs about in a vigorous manner, and performed other actics to show that he was what he claimed to he s perfectly sound man. The examining surgeon, much pleased with the manifested anxiety of the young man to be accepted, after a short examination, passed him as one fit to make a good fighting man for Uncle Samuel. Every one expected that the young man would immediately report for duty, bet he had no intention of diing anything of HOOP SKIRTS of prery variety, for both Ladier the kind, and his anxiety to be passed was owing to the following:

The young man had been paying his addresses to a young lady who, in addition to her personal charms, is worth a round som of money. After he was drafted, the young man made a tender of his hand to the lady, but she had heard so much of that fearful complaint " physical disability," so prevalent amongst drafted men, that she gefused to marry him unless he would pass an examination before the Board of Enrollment, and previded further that if he would pass, she would pay the $300 exemption for him, and make him her lawful master. The young man, much to his relief, passed as above stated; the young lady, true to her word, has already paid the $300 for him and in a few weeks the couple will be united in matrimony-especially the money part.-Harrisburg Telegraph.

A HINT TO UNFORTUNATES, -- " What shall I do? I can get no sleep !" exclaimed a gentleman to his friend, one day, not very long ago. "What is the motter ?" asked the sympathetic friend. "The matter! That chicken! that horrid, doleful obioken ! that Shanghae !- Like a harbinger of evil, like a voice from the tomb, like a-" "Oh !" exclaimed the friend, "kill him !" "What, kill my neighbor's "kill him?" "Yes, kill him?" "I can't do that." "Buy and kill him?" "The owner will not sell?" "Oh! then do you give him one." "What1 give him onother chicken!" "Exactly." . "To distract my rest with double force ?" "Oh, no! give him a game chicken." "Ah ! now I understand," said the gentleman, as he smiled till one of his eyes was lost to view. "I understand; I'll be generous." In a day or two he had presented to the churlish proprietor of the Shanghae, a heroic chanticleer, and within on hour thereafter, the doleful Shanghad had ceased to disturb the peace of others, and was taking bit own last rest.

THE GREEK FIRE .- The Greek fire was invented about a thousand years ago in the East, and was employed in the crusades against the Christians, to whom it was a source of the ut-most terror and confusion. It is composed of most terror and confusion. If is composed of thought I to myself; you know who buys at a bar-what is known as "arsenical alcohol," and is gain, and sells so as to give the purchaser a bargain chiefly made of pitch, naptha, and bitumen, and readily burns on and under water. It was DRY GOODS, originally projected on arrows and javelins, around which flax was twisted, saturated with the compound. It emits a most offensive odor in its discharge, and is vely destructive in its effects. The secret of the jomposition of this fire was lost until the collimencement of our civil war, when it was discovered or re-invented-singularly enough by a Virginian-who offered it to our Government, and tried to procore a patent for it. A Parties who were in Washington, a year and at half ago may re-member the efforts of this individual to obtain a hearing from the Government officials.

Two Smarrs .- An old man picked up a half a dollar in the street. "Old man, that's mine," said a keen-looking rascal, "Iso hand it over." "Did thine have a hole in it?" asked the old
