Answer, The WIARD PLOW.

Ques. Wherein does it excel all others?
Ans. In case of draft, in being less liable to clog, and in fact it excels in every particular.

Ques. Where is this Plow to be found? Ans. At the KNOXVILLE FOUNDRY, where hey are made, and at various agencies around the country. Ques. Are there any other plows made at that Foundry?

Ans. Yes! Biles makes various kinds of wooden and iron beam Plows, both for flat land and side hill, and he keeps ahead of all other establishments by getting the BEST PATTERNS invented, without regard to the COST.

Ques. Are Plows all that Biles makes? Ans. By no means. He also makes HORSE HOES; a superb article for Corn, Potatoes, &c. ROAD SCRAPERS that beat the world. Cast Cul-

RISS ME, FATHER, ERE I DIE.

An Incident of the Present War. [An only boy, whose mother had died in infancy, was brought home to his father's house to die from the effects of exposure in camp. On his death bed his constant petition was, whenever his father approached him, "Kiss me, father, ere I die"; and down to the very last moment he clung to this request, and finally died in his father's arms, "as a weary child going to sleep.]

Dearest father, I am going To a brighter, better clime; Soon my eyes will close ferever, Shutting out the things of time;

Raise my head upon my pillow, Let me feel that you are nigh; Press me to your aching bose Kiss me, father, ere I die. Father, I have done my duty

In the camp and 'mid the strife, Soon I'll scal my deep devotion To my country with my life;
But it soothes my dying moments
When I know that you are by;
Put your loving arms about me;
Kiss me, father, ere I die.

Kiss me, father, as you used to
In my childhood's happy day,
When I nestled in your bosom,
Ere your locks had turned to gray;
Cast a loving glance upon me,
As within your arms I lie:
I am going—God be with you;
Kiss me, father, ere I die.

Letter from a Richmond Prisoner.

NO. 41

The following letter written by John B. Emery, a resident of this place, who was taken prisoner with a number of Tioga county boys, will be read with interest by our readers:

Annapolis, Md., April 27, 1864. Dear Brother :- I came down here from Baltimore on Monday morning, on the steamer ing pennon above us, like the sound of a gentle Wehonah, and am getting along finely on Uncle Sam's rations. We are in good barracks, with a good stove in each barrack, draw plenty to eat, and I am gaining strength every day; have the rheumatism some in my limbs yet, but think it will wear off shortly.

We left Tazewell, East Tennessee, on the

The next morning (10th) we started on, marched six miles, and arrived at Rogersville, at ten A. M., and were put into the East Tennessee Bank. In the afternoon we drew seven small biscuits Sunday, the 20th, were still in the Bank, and drew nothing to eat. The 21st we drew six biscuits and a little beef. The 22d we drew one pound of bread and half a pound of boiled beef. Left Rogersville at ten A. M. the 23d, with the 38th Tennessee for an escort. There were a little over two hundred prisoners of us; they were captured at different points, but sent on together. We marched twelve miles that day, were put into a large church for the night, and drew one pound of beef and two biscuits, each. Started on again at seven in the morning, and arrived at Kingsport, fifteen miles distant, at three P. M.; were put into a church, and drew one pound of flour and the same of beef. The 25th, we left Kingsport, at eight A. M. marched sixteen miles, quartered for the night in the Jefferson Seminary, at Blountsville, and drew rations of flour and raw meat without salt. The 20th, started at nine in the morning, marched nine miles, and arrived at Bristol. Va... at two P. M., and were marched into camp in a piece of tall woods. It rained nearly all day and all night, and, as the Rebs had stripped us. of course we had to lie and take the rain, as best we could; drew some flour and beef without salt. The 27th it rained all day; drew a pound of flour and meat in the evening.

Monday, 28th, drew three days' rations of hard tack and fresh beef, and at five P. M. got aboard the cars and started for Richmond .-Rode all night and the next day, and at dark changed cars at Lynchburg; changed cars agoin in the morning, and arrived at Richmond

When we got to Richmond, we were put on the lower floor of Scott's tobacco factory. It was already full except the back room where the hydrant was. We had to go in there, and slept with the water running under us all the time. In the center of the main room there was a regular swamp-hole, caused by all the slops, &c., being swept down from the upper floors. The smell was awful, especially where we slept. Thursday, 31st, drew some corn bread and fresh beef at noon, and at night some dodger and bean slop. Jesse Wilcox was sent to the hospital to-day. He was shot thro'

"Did you think of me at home?"-From the 1st to the 4th I did not get out of my bed, only long enough to get my piece of bread and soup or meat, twice a day. It was so cold, a person would freeze to death in a short time. I got into a kind of tent with some of the 57th Pa. and George Mattison, of Co. I, who was taken at Concord Station. For about a week after we got there, we got about an ounce of meat in the forenoon, but after that we got nothing but about a pint of black bean slop with once in a while a bean in it, twice a day, besides the quarter loaf. The piece of bread would never be over two or two and a half inches square. If ever men suffered with hunger, we did there. We would dream about something to eat all night, think of it the first thing in the morning, talk about it all day, and "something to eat" would be in our minds boys. I never was lucky enough to get hold of one, or I should have feasted for once. I have seen dog meat for sale at a dollar a slice, the size of your four fingers—and there was always a plenty of customers. At one time a man threw up his bean soup, and he had no sooner done so, than men went and picked up the beans and ate them.

You think you can imagine something near the suffering our poor fellows endured; but imagination cannot picture their sufferings .-Men would come in there in mid-winter, with no blankets or overcoats, and perhaps their shoes had been taken from them, and their feet were bound up with rags. They would find no tent, as all were full, and would have to run about all night to keep from freezing to death: Numbers of them froze to death, and dozens of them were frozen so bad that they had to be sent to the hospital in Richmond, where several of them died; and others had their toes all taken off, and some their feet. I cannot write the twentieth part of what I have seen and

On the 22d of February I was sent over to the hospital at Richmond, sick with a very bad cold. &c. I could not eat anything for several days before I went. The hospital was in three large tobacco factories, and called respectively 1st, 2d and 3d division hospitals. I was in ward 4, 2d division. The cooking was all done at the 1st division. The 1st division was the headquarters of the whole concern. Soon after I got over there, I was taken with chronic diarrhœa, but got so as to be around about the 20th of March. I then went to doing the writing for the steward and general ward master. I got more to eat after that, and of a better quality. About the first of April I went down to the 1st division hospital, as clerk in the office where all the business was done for the three buildings. There were three of us clerks. We had considerable to do, but got enough to eat; such as it was. I remained there until paroled. The parole sheets were made out ten days before we left. but I did not get my name down until six o'clock the night before we came away. I supposed I could not come on that boat; but I worked the thing around about right, and got off. I am the only one of the 45th that came up. Oscar Henry, Jesse Wilcox, Joseph Jennings, James Tillotson, Washington Munn; Herman Jennings, and all others taken with me, were sent to Georgia the 7th of March, and were all well at that time. "I saw "Cole" the day I left the island, and that is the last I have seen or heard of him. I send you a complete list of the cases of each disease in the three divisions of the hospital, from January 1st to April 1st, and the deaths from each disease. I was in the office and had access to all the books where the admissions, deaths, &c., were entered by name; but did not bring a list of them, because if I and about three ounces of boiled beef, each .- | had been caught at it, I should have been detained and cent to Costle Thunder send you is in so small a compass I could conceal it. By this you will see that in January there were 706 cases, and 311 deaths; in February, 1257 cases, and 525 deaths; in March, 870 cases, and 561 deaths. Of these, you will see that there were 229 cases of chronic diarrhoea in January, and 193 deaths; in February, 337 cases, and 265 deaths; and in March, 283 cases, and 250 deaths; or in the three months, 849 cases of chronic diarrhœs, and 708 deaths ! Rather a narrow escape for me.

Yours, affectionately, JOHN B. EMERY.

Punctuality.

When Hamilton was Washington's Secretary he was ordered to meet the Commander-in-Chief one morning at sunrise.—Washington was first on the spot, and waited five minutes before Hamilton appeared. The Secretary apologized by saying that "something must be the matter with his watch." Another appointment was made for the next morning, which was similarly broken. Hamilton again covered his negligence with a complaint against his watch to which the punctual soldier replied:

or I must get a new Secretary." On one occasion the first Emperor Napoleon invited the staff of the Marshals of France to take dinner with him at two o'clock. The Emperor at the moment the clock struck, sat down to the table alone. He was a quick eater, seldom appearing at the table more than ten minutes. At the end of this time his staff appeared. He arose to meet them and said:

"Then, sir; you must either get a new watch;

"Messeurs, it is now past dinner, and we will immediately proceed to business; whereupon the Marshals were obliged to spend the entire afternoon in planning a new campaign on empty stomachs.

THE GOOD AND HAPPY WIFE. The deep happiness in her heart shines out in her face. She is a ray of sunlight in the house. She gleams all over it. It is airy, and graceful, and warm and welcoming with her presence. She is full of devices, and plots, and sweet surprises for her husband and family. She has never done with the poetry and romance of life. She is herself a lyric poem setting herself to all pure and gracious melodies. Humble household ways and duties have for her a golden significance. The prize makes the calling high, and the end dignifies the means. Her home is a paradise, not sinless, not painless, but still a paradise; for "Love is Heaven and Heaven is love."

A TRUE LADY .- " I cannot forbear pointing out to you my dearest child," said Lord Collingwood to his daughter, the great advantages that will result from a temperate conduct and sweetness of manner on all occasions. Never forget that you are a gentlewoman, and all your words and actions should make you gentle. I never heard your mother-your dear good mother—say a harsh or basty thing to any person in my life. Endeavor ro imitate her. I am quick and hasty in my temper, but, my darling, it is a misfortune, which, not having been sufficiently restrained in my youth, has caused me inexpressible pain. It has given
