Don't Swlan.

A furbulent Scotchman be arrested the other er day for come misdement or, and escorted by the police to the station house. Though a large powerful man, he could not reasist the force of the law, but his unbridled passions found expression in the most-furious outburst of abugive and profone language; it was fearful to hear the terrible oaths and corres that poured in one continuous stream frem his mouth, as rough boys, who were drawn; the uproar, and can endure almost anything, profanity withshrinking, seemed to stand; opalled, or were forced to retire. He never el pped a moment until long after he had been roperly secured in his place of confinement and then all at once he ceased. The actin, thed by-standers curned to see what could have produced so instantaneous a change. In the door-way stood Sandate fair-heired little pirl of about eight years, holding in her hand the well filled dinper pail which she had beet commissioned to carry to his place of work, and which on hearing what had befallen her fa her she had considerately brought to the station house. Lifting up bez tiny face to higherd features of the prisoner, without a word of wonder or reproach at hoding her parent in so unpleasant a condition, she said in the s leetest accents : Lhave brought you your dinner, father.

Shall I sing while you are esting?"
"No, child, go home, the is no place for you," and the father, in a tone so subdued That one would scarcely be love it proceeded from the same lips out of which but a moment before had poured such heres, bitter impreca-" Go home, Mary, and when I come back you shall sing."

"What made you hold up your swearing so suddenly ?" asked some one litterwards, of the

"I can't swear before that child," was the "She goes to on of them mission schools and learns the hynins and sings 'em at home just like an angel. I might just as well swear before an angel is before her."

Such is the power the real sining power of a mere babe. That child could by her presence, quell the violent passion and unholy language of the wicked, the self wills | man, when nothing else could produce il | slightest effect. At the time of the explosi in on board the "Great Eastern," a curious 11ct was noticed; those who were the most hurt and who first died seemed the least injurer when they first appeared above deck, and a ven were able to walk aft without assistance. On this point a writer in the London Times t ys:

Bodily Weakness, whether in-herent in the system or prodused by Special Causes.

Causes.

Notaine that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S ETOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no flery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracta-of rare baleamic herbs and plants, with the purest and midest of all diffusive stimulants.

It is well to be foreatmed against disease, and, so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maindies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure water, and other external causes, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS may be relied on as a sneguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a preventive, and irresistible as a remedy, and thousands who resert to it under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourge; and thousands who neglect to availt themselves of its productive qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine.

Fever and Ague patients, after being piled with qualine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetitor restored by this agreeable tonic; and hence it works wonders in cases of Drappesta end in less confirmed forms of Lindardina.
