SPLIT,

The historic discussion of the doctrine of State Rights has no distinguishing features not common to the discussion of the same subject in the journals of the day. The aim of State Rights advocates, in all periods of the life of the republic, appears to us to have been, and to be, a labored effort to prove the folly of two universal laws, namely : Unity in Diversity; and this other one-The Powers and Function of a Part, can never be Equal to the Powers and Function of the Whole. This statement of the case as it presents itself to us, will farnish an indication of whatever argument may be herewith presented.

The individual is an epitome of society. Hehas certain rights, some general, others particular. 4. The former pertain to his relations as a member of organized society; the latter are limited to the ordering of those minor affairs with which written laws have nothing directly to do. But no individual can be said to have any rights the exercise of which may not be restrained, or prohibited altogether, when the well-being of society requires such restraint or probibition.

In other words, the individual has the right to life; but he may forfeit his life, and the right ceases.

And whenever individual rights temporarily conflict with the common rights of the masses, the rights of the community become paramount and those of the individual must be suspended for the time being.

So. no man's rights can ever become paramount. The attempt to make them so results in murder, arson, forgery, theft, embezzlement, breach of trust, and so on, down the catalogue of crime.

So with States : They have rights in common, and rights to be exercised and enjoyed within their respective limits only. The first pertain to them as constituents of the Union ; the latter are defined by State laws, and exclusively for State purposes. But no State can have rights, the exercise of which endangers or impairs the common rights of all under the the battle-field. At will require a great deal of Union.

Therefore, the rights of a State can never become paramount. The attempt to make them so has resulted, and must over result, in treason, rebellion, and anarchy.

A man has an undoubted right to property negro suffrage. He has not publicly declared in land. One may not open a road across his his views thereupon; but mark-when he does neighber's farm simply for his own conven- declare himself, the hopes of Copperhead pol-the occasion for patting the President on the back in the way of fulsome eulogy.

The people ought to feel obliged to these ed itor for this gratuitous exhibit of their-true characters. A fool tells them that the Presi-WEDNESDAY, : : : : : JUNE -28, 1865- + dent has done a most illiberal, if not malicious deed; and they strnitway shout "Live, the a delirium of joy. Why is it? Do brave men bully the weak? . Is it not the cowardly lubschool? Is it not the sneak who kicks a bro ken man a little further down the hill? It is precisely this class of actions that the copperhead editors laud to the skies. True nobility of character is unknown to their range of thought. Do they fear the negro as a competitor in the race for name, fame, and position ? We say to them that they have reason to fear him as a competitor in those respects Thousands of them have long since overtaken and passed these debased slaves of unreason. But President Johnson did unt refuse the colored people permission to celebrate the 4th of July in the grounds adjoining the White House. He granted the request of the deputation; and now let us hear from you on that. aspect of the case. Let us see the "animals lunch" off their own words.

Probably most of our readers have witness ed the process of making soap. The preparations of the Opposition for reorganization, now being made in high quarters, is very like soap making. The grease and water being ready, the quest is now for the friendly alkali which shall blend the repelling elements in one harmonious mass. The New York World, that Columbus of Artful Dodgers, has hit upon a plan of operation, which points to a larcany of Union thunder. ' It proposes that the several organizations composing the Opposition to the late and present Administrations, to wit-the American, Knights, the Knights of the Golden Circle, Sons of Liberty, Illini, Butternuts. and Southern rebels,-shall accept "the situation" by giving in to the abolition of slavery under the Constitutional Amendment outlawing the institution forever, and taking issue with the advocates of universal suffrage upon that point alone. This is the substance of the proposition.

Will these men ever get wisdom by experience, or have they slept during these four years of war? If there is one unmistakable indication of current events, it is that when order shall be firmly established in the republic, the right of voting will be conferred upon men with regard to their fitness to excreise it, their proved fidelity to the nation in its extremity, and without reference to color, nationality, or other accident. We should like to see a party, composed of men who have aided and abetted the rebole for four years making the attempt to deny the ballot to any man whose devotion to the country has been proved upon cheek ; for public sentiment has already decided that a loyal black man is fitter to vote than a white sympathizer with rebellion. These semi-rebel politicians build upon sand when they count upon Andrew Johnson's hostility to

END OF THE BLOCKADE.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMÉRICA.

Whereas, by the Proclamations of the Presiuent of the 15th and 27th of April, 1861, a blockade of certain ports of the United States the Emancipation Proclamation, advocating was set on foot, but whereas the reason for that measure have ceased to exist, now, therefore. be it known that I. Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby declare and proclaim the blockade aforesaid to be rescinded as to all the ports aforesaid, including that of Galveston and other ports west of the Mississippi River, which ports will be open to foreign commerce on the first of July next on the terms and conditions set forth in my proclamation of the 22d of May last. It is to be understood however, that the blookade thus rescinded was an international measure for the purpose of protecting the sovereign rights of the United States. The greater or less subversion of the civil authority in the region to which it applied, and the impracticability of at once restoring that in due efficiency, may for a season make it advisable to employ the army and navy of the United States toward carrying the laws into effect wherever such employment may be necessary. In testimony whereof I have bereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 23d day of June, in the year of our Lord 1865, and of the independence of the United States of America the eighty-ninth. ANDREW JOHNSON.

I glory in saying that the, people of Pensylvania have been among the foremost in the career of honor. Their hearts have been in the contest; their means, and their blood have been poured out like water to maintain it.

The remnants of the hereic bands that left her soil to rescue their of upiry, are now returning, having honorably filfilled their ser vice. They have left tens of thousands of their brothers on many a bloody field, Their memories will be preserved on out rolls of honor -For their widows and families a grateful country will suitably provide:

. Let the survivors who are now returning to us have such welcome as befits a brave and patriotic people to give to the gallant men who have saved the country and sided new lustre on Pennsylvania.

I recommend that in every part of the State, on the approaching anniversity of Independ-ence, special observances be had of welcome to our returned defenders, and of commemoration of the heroid deeds of themselves and their comrades who have fallen. ANDREW G. CURTIN.

· · · · THE NECRO .--- The question of the position of the negro in the lately insurgent States, is a Gordian knot, which possibly will have to be severed by the sword. One thing is evident. By his fidelity, his devotion. Ind . his courage, the black has earned a right to protection from the Federal Government. That Government has pronounced him free. I must now secure him in enjoyment of all that prerogatives belonging to his new condition. If the whites of the South, stimulated by prejudices of color and the traditions of the past, combine to defraud him of those immutilies, deny him the privilege of elevating his condition, and degrade him to a level of the parish in India, then the Federal power must and will: be exercised in his behalf. . This is one of 'he obligations growing out of the war which wacannot avoid ; nor 1 is there, among loyal men, say disposition to do so. > The doctrine of paramount State Rights was begotten in the slime of demagogism. If it be true, then the Union is a cheat, and the men who framed it lent themselves to a stupendous fraud upon the American people. We do not believe they were cheats. We know that the father of paramount State Rights was a political gymnast. Paramount State Rights and a stable Union can no more subsist in this country than light and darkness can dwell together. The danger in a republic lies in a weakening of the cement of society by diffusion. We need consolidation. State lines ought not tobound patriotism. The constituent can never override the sovereignty of the Whole. And the man who prates about "following the for- we lose our guess. tunes of my State," talks the sheerest babytalk conceivable. It is not the mark of a candid, right-minded man to snap at every report and rumor to the discredit of opponents; and we can but caution rebel sympathizing editors of the danger they dare when they copy the Washington correspondence of such journals as the News and Day Book, of New York, and the Age, of Philsible ? adelphia. The men who furnish those papers with Washington news are unrecognized among newspaper men; being of the substratum of the class known as "Bohemians." It is one man's business to chase up and strangle the outrageous lies concocted by these literary sautians. A few days ago, one of these scavengers sent out a story, to the effect that a deputation from the colored citizens of Washington waited on President Johnson, and asked the privilege of celebrating the 4th of July on the grounds adjoining the White House; and that the President promptly refused them their request.
