It appears that his first attempt was in the matrimonial line. Last fall be became ensmored of the strong box of one of the wealthiest farmers in the county, who resi les in Concord township, and, as there was a marriageable daughter in the family, he consided that the shortest route to the treasures (f the farmer was by way of the hymenial altar. He, therefore, set bimself to work to ingratiate himself into the affections of the (arents, and succeeded so well that when he proposed an alliance he secured a prompt acue tance from them, and a hearty co-operation o their part in his efforts to obtain the consent of the daughter. She, however, could not "se it in those lamps," as Artemus Ward would: 1y, and had taken a strong dislike to her suitor. This made no difference with him, for he had received the consent of her parents, and was confident that with continued attentions, and, if necessary, with gentle force, the maiden might be brought to a realization of the honor conferred upon her by the offer of his hand. Measures were taken to overcome her obstinacy, and at fast the key was turned upon her and she found herself a prisoner to her room. Fearing that this betokened still forther violence, she determined to escape, and one dark night in September, by the ass, tance of a domestic, she succeeded. The beroic girl. fearing to take the highway lest she should be pursued and overtaken, took to the woods, and, after incredible endurance of tardship, she reached the end of her thirty miles' tramp, and found herself in Dubuque. She applied to Sheriff Mahony for protection and, on her knees, with tears streaming down ber cheeks, begged him to save her from a fare worse than death, protesting all the while that she would sooner take her own life than submit to the persecutions of Houston. Mr. Mahony gave her shelter for three months, and although her father and mother frequently called to induce her to return home, she stoutly refused. In December the girl left Mr. Mahay and went to the sister's where she now ... Houston called to see her shortly after her escape to this city, but she refused to see him, and Mr. Mahony warned him to keep aw y on penalty of being arrested and locked ary During all this time Houston was representing himself variously as runner for a wholesa e merchant in Chicago, a stock-dealer, great steep breeder, farmer, and, in fact, an adept n almost all kinds of business, conveying the impression, of course, that he was very houest and was possessed of unlimited means. His plans appear to have been perfected about the first of the present month. He had rented a farm in Concord township, and put in crops, had obtaiped a large credit at several stores in the city, and his bogus drafts were all ready for presentation for discount at the banks.

On the lat of July he left two drafts, one at the State Bank, and the other of the First National, both amounting to $31, 00, for collection. He met Mr. Andrews and asked to be accommodated with $400 fir two hours, in order that he might perfect so he investment which he was about making, and received the money, but failed to report until four days had passed, when he left a bogus tiraft on New York as security for the amount. He played the confidence game at the l'armers' Home with success to the amount of sixty dollars .-It is reported, and generally be eved to be true, that he was accommodated with a loan of $800 by a prominent dry goods firm of the city, for which he left as security a bogus draft for $1,-800. He brought a fancy wagon, known as an English dog cart, of Mr. Cohnelly, and there remains due for the same some $183. Agricultural implements were putchased, but never paid for, groceries ditto, and so through the long list. When Houston left he reported that he was on his way to Scotland, to farchase ten black rams, of approved breed, we importation to this country.

To recount all his operations would occupy more space than we have to devote to him. It is believed that not one-half of his rascality has yet been brought to light, many of his victims being somewhat tender on the subject of their losses, and concealing the extent of their "taking in." It will probably reach well up among the thousands in the aggregate. On Wednesday morning the officers of the law were busy attaching whatever they could find which had been in his possession, and those who were lucky enough to be in time will undoubtedly reduce their losses by sales of his personal property. Sheriff Mahoney sent a despatch to Chicago, where Houston had operated to an extent as yet unknown, for his arrest, and requested that it night be forwarded to New York if he had already left that city .-On Friday he was known to he in Chicago, but has undoubtedly sloped ere this.

This is one of the coolest and most successful frauds which we have had of casion to record for some time, and those who suffered naturally feel a little tender in consequence of the now apparent rascality of Housian's conduct. It will not be a healthy clirate in Dubuque county for him for some tin , and we would advise him not to cherish the design of raising sheep hereabouts until his operations of the past few days are well but ed in oblivion.—Dubuque Herald, July 13th.

We see by our Republican exchanges in the counties of Bedford, Fulton, York, and Clinton, that the Copperhead leaders are endeavoring to curry favor with the returned soldiers. We have too much confidence in the general intelligence of the soldiers to fear the machinations of the rebel leaders in that direction. We happen to recollect that, about one year ago, the people of this Commonwealth were invited to go to the ballot-box and confer upon the citizen soldier, absent in military service, the privilege of voting in camp. Then, as all Will agree, there was an opportunity presented to these mealy-tongued gentlemen of which they might have availed themselves to show their regard for the brave men who have saved the republic. Did they avail themselves of that opportunity? We can learn the answer to that question from the returns of that election. So, we find Berks, Bedford, Fulton, Greene, Wayne, Pike, Northampton, Monroe, Clearfield, Clarion, and other far-famed Copperhead strongholds, giving majorities against the en- som expire and saw the others swept under by franchisement of our soldiers. That was the the foaming billows and buried from her sight way they liked the soldier then. But on the she remained over two days for the river to other hand the Republican strongholds gave most decided majorities for the enfranchise- Landing almost exhausted with cold and hunment of the citizen soldier. The McClellan ger. men did not cast over one-tenth, of their vote in most of the Republican counties. They cast about 220 votes in this county, 177 of which, we think, were against the soldier.

If our friends in Bedford, and elsewhere. have been as vigilant as they ought to have been, they are able to produce the name of every man who voted against the soldier last August. We presume that the Union League of Bedford County did its duty, and that the lists of those who were for placing free white men on the negro level, in the matter of suffrage, are preserved in its archives. Perhaps a publication of those names might block any little game of deception the Bedford rebels may contempiate.

Add to this the significant fact, that not one McClellan paper in Pennsylvania advocated the soldier-voting amendment to the Constitution : and while many were silent, others viclently denounced it, some discouraged it, and one-the Wayne county Herald-urged its party to go to the polls and vote it down; superadding these particular facts to the general fact, we do not see that our cotemporaries need much to deprecate the efforts of the Copperheads to worm into favor with the returning brave. If they persist in their folly, publish the roll of infamy they scored up last August.

Some of the journals which are published for the purpose of popularizing assassination, are squirming somewhat under the lash of public opinion. They now come the "humanita rian" dodge, and name their villainy "sympathy for the persecuted!" We remember that these fellows always choose as a time to manifest their sympathy, the occasion of the infliction of the penalty of the law upon some wretch whose crimes have put him, or her, beyoud the pity of virtuous human nature.

These sympathizers with the persecuted forget that they are debarred from pleading in court on that score. Here have they sulked in silence for three years, liked muzzled hounds, looking on upon the savagest persecution that the civilized world ever saw—the starvation of helpless prisoners of war in rebel prisons, and by the same hellish spirit that compassed the murder of ABRAHAN LINCOLN; and now they go whining about the world over the "cruel murder of Mrs. Suratt!"

Now nothing can be more sure than this: If Payne was guilty, so was Suratt; If Atzerodt was guilty, so was Suratt: if Harold was a confederate of Booth, so was Suratt.

There can be no stronger circumstantial evidence than that upon which these wretches were convicted and hung; and the only explanation of the sympathy of these traitorous journalists with Mrs. Suratt must lie in the fact that they are made of the stuff out of which murderers are fashioned, and are moved by a fellow feeling. Base men apologize for base actions, and criminals naturally sympa thize with each other. When the rope straitens with the weight of a murderer every marderer regards it as a threat against himself. Perhaps this may account for the sensitiveness of these teachers of treason and assassination.

We would like to suggest to the friends in the several counties composing this Judicial, Senatorial, and Representative District, severally, the propriety of holding the several Conferences as early in September as may be convenient. We suggest Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 1 o'clock, P. M., as the time for the assembling of the Judicial Conference, and Coudersport, being nearly central, as the place. It would ferward the business of the campaign were the Senatorial and Representative Conferences to transact their business on the day following. This arrangement would afford ample time for the Conferees from all parts of the District to travel both ways between Sundays. We submit the suggestions to the friends west and south of Tioga, and ask their attention to the object stated.

We need a good month to make the cam

MRS. SURRATT.—It is much to be desired that they who claim to be the friends of this unfortunate woman would allow her memory to rest in Peace. Assertions of her innocence may be very good and consoling among her family and friends, but little credit is given to such assertions abroad, however true, when ac companied with the asperity and passion of the defeated partizans. It would have been wiser, as we think, if the clergymen who attended her had not been quite so communicative. It would have saved one of them, and Catholics throughout the country, the mortification which ever attends the infliction of just censure by a layman on one of the Priests of his Church. Gen. Hardie yielded unwillingly to a violent provocation, but said nothing more nor less than that which his duty to himself required .-Catholic Telegraph.

DROWNING OF FIVE CHILDREN. - During the recent flood at Ontonagon, Lake Superior, five children were drowned. The Minor says:

The father, Bethuel Draper, lived on the vest side of the Ontonagon, near the crossing of the Wisconsin road, was out on the l'Anse Railroad survey, and his two oldest children were away: the mother, an Indian woman, and her five youngest children being at home, and were asleep when the water came into their shapty.

One of the children, it is said, was drowned before the terrified mother could get them out, but she lashed its body and three of the others on her back and to her sides, and took the fifth in her arms, and struck out for a tree near by, to which she managed to tie the cornse in the vain hope of preserving it for burial, but the tree soon gave way and swept down the resistless torrent, and in her maternal efforts to save the rest by swimming to a second place of safe. ty, the frantic mother felt the child on her boshe remained over two days to the Forest that followed among the possession subside, and on Saturday reached the Forest that followed among the possession day like lady enjoyed the joke amazingly. We have been at some pains to ascertain what instrument of the many now soliciting the public favor combines the greatest amount of real excellence. We have prosecuted this inquiry entirely independently of aid or direction from interested parties. The opinions of some of the best musical critics, composers and performers have been obtained; reports of experiments made in the ordinary use of various instruments in churches, schools, and families. have been compared, all of which, with singular unanimity, concur in assigning the first place to the Cabinet Organ of Mason & Ham. lin-a decision that corresponds with our previously formed convictions received from personal observation.—New York Christian Advo-

A RAILROAD ROMANGE.-A young lieutenan had apparently succeeded in making bimself exceedingly agreeable to a married lady, accompanied by her little daughter. By and by the train approached the tunnel at Muldrough hill. The gay and festive lieutenant leaned over and whispered in the lady's ear. It was noticed that she appeared thunder-struck, and her eves immediately after flamed with indigunperseived by the lieutenant. She made him a reply which rejoiced him apparently very much. For the understanding properly of the reader what was whispered and what was repled. Whispered the lieutenant, "I mean to kiss you when we get into the tunnel!" Replied the lady, "It will be dark-who will see it?" Into earth's bowels-into the tupnel-ran the cars. Lady and colored nurses quietly changed seats. Gay lieutenant threw his arms around the lady sable, pressed her cheek to his and fust and furious rained kisses on her lips. In a few moments the train came into the broad daylight; white lady looked amazed, colored lady bashful, blushing; gay lieutenant befogged. "Jane," said the white lady, "what have you been doing?" Responded colored lady, 'nothing!" "Yes, you have," said the white lady, not in under tone, but in a voice that attracted the attention of all in the car; "see how your collar is rumbled and your bonnet mashed." Jane, poor colored beauty, hung her head a moment, the "observed of all observers," and then turning around to the lieutenant, replied, " this man hugged and kissed me in the tunnel!" Loud and long was the laugh tenant looked like a sheep-stealing dog, left the car, and was seen no more during the trip.

The New York correspondent of the Rochester Democrat is responsible for the following: "Alexander T. Stewart clears one thousand dollars per day, Sabbaths excepted, all the year round. Cornelius Vanderbilt pleads guilty to double the sum, while William B. Astor rates his income at four thousand three hundred and thirty dollars per diem. Sleeping or waking the latter gentleman finds a three dollar bill dropping into his hat every minute of the twenty-four hours. He cannot sit down to talk with his physician without having a little more wealth, if not health; he cannot unburden his mind for ten minutes without feeling the burden increase in his pocket, and he cannot walk Broadway, however the weather may be, without meeting a shower of money. At every turn cash stares him in the face in the most insolent manner. Banks fling their dividends at his bead; ruthless financiers beat him with coupons; unpitying and souless corporations dump their filthy lucre at his door step, and contemptuous bill stickers plaster his house with greenbacks. One might inquire what the fellow has done to merit this treatment, and the only charge that can be brought is that he was a rich man's son, and therefore must suffer."
