> A letter gives the following details of the assassinnation of Lopez, who betrayed Maximilian; I arrived here to day and learned the startling news of the assassina-tion of the traitor, Lopez. The particulars of the assassination are as follows :--Lopez was staying at a hotel in Puebla, where his wife-spuraed him from her presence. Early one morning a Mexican artler in a livery stable adjoining the botel, General Mignel Lopez was inquired for, ger called for and drank a glass of wine, der for debts. The facts of the case are simply and briefly these: A man held a ground rent mortgage, given in 1732, in which it was stipulated that the annual rent should be aid in Spanish milled dollars by weight. After the passage of the law making green-backs a legal tender for debt, the holder of the ground-rent mortgage agreed to exthe "malignant opposition" you have an- tinguish the mortgage for a consideration, and the purchaser, (the owner of the ground) tendered both the principal and interest in greenbacks. The holder agreed to accept greenbacks for the principal, but insisted that the contract demanded the Forkst payment of Spanish milled dollars for the interest. The other party maintained that the greenback law made greenbacks a legal tender for all debts, whether con-The case was taken into court and Judge The case was taken into court and Judge W. H. of the contract. With their usual unfairness, the Radical urnals decline to publish this opinion in full, but confine their attacks to inuendoes. If they did publish it, we venture the opinion that the soundness of that decision would be endorsed by every intelligent man of their party. In fact promi nent Repblicans declare that that decision would be the very best electioneering document the friends of Judge Sharswood could use. It is not true that opinion pretended to vitiate greenbacks as a legal tender for debts contracted since the enactment of the national currency law, nor ip any case of indebtedness contracted prior to the passage of that law, except in cases where a special contract stipulated that payment should be made in a certain rescribed manner, If the Radicals of Pennsylvania desire o make this an issue in the coming judiial contest in this State, the friends of Judge Sharswood will have no objection. Let us see how it will work. The United States Government has agreed to pay certain of its bonds in coin. Judge Shars wood says it must abide by its obligations

This is the essence of the contract, and it must be performed to the letter. The Radicals say the doctrine is treasonable They assert that an individual can discharge his indebtedness by offering to pay in currency, when he has promised to pay in coin : and why cannot the Governm do this as well as an individual. They tried this game, two years ago, in regard to the State debt. The faith of our State stood solemnly pledged that the interest on certain bonds should be paid in coin. The pledge was deliberately violated and the interest paid in paper money. So may the pledge of the national Govern-ment be violated, if the Radicals find it convenient to do so; and under Radical law the boudholder will have no redress rived, and familiarized himself with an os- in the courts.
