LIME FOR CABBAGES.—"Gardener," who lives on "sand prairie" land in Illinois and can get no stable manure, wishes to use lime as a substitute on his cabbage fields.

As many at this season suffer from chapped hands, we publish the following remedy, which is said to be excellent:

Take three drachms gum camphor, three do. white beeswax, three do. spermaceti, and two ounces olive oil. Put them together in a cup on the stove, where they will melt slowly and form a white ointment in a few minutes.

Large grains of wheat, soaked in turpentine, for six hours, given to chickens with the "spice" is said to be a certain cure. The turpentine kills the worms, which are the cause of the gapes, and they are coughed up.
